Correspondence Introduced to Show Hyde Was Aided in Face of Protests.

LAND CLERK BRIBETAKER

(Continued From First Page.) fraudulent operations of Hyde and Ben-These letters from Zabriskie to Hermann were written in April, May, June and July, 1902. We will also show by this correspondence that Hermann purposely deferred acquainting Secretary Hitchcock of the frauds being committed by Hyde and Benson and others, of which he had knowledge, through the exchange of school lands within reserves for more valuable lands outside. It will also be apparent that the reason he did not convey this information to the Secretary of the Interior was because he feared that if he did, it might interfere with the creation of the Blue Mountain Forest Reserve, which he would recommend in the interest of his Letters Are Stepping-Stone.

'From the beginning of this trial," said Judge Wolverton, in overruling the ob-jection of the defense, "the court has exercised the discretion of allowing the prosecution to put in such evidence as was deemed best and valuable for the Government. For that reason the prosecution has not been required to establish the alleged conspiracy at the outset of the trial. These letters appear to be only another step in connection with the Zabriskie letters which were offered for the purpose of showing that many frauds were heing committed and that reserves were being promoted by many people for the purpose of acquiring school lands fraudulently within the reserves and exercising the right of obtaining lieu lands on that basis. The letters show that Hermann had before him applications for such selections and was acting upon them. There is no attempt on the part of the Government to retry the Hyde and Benson case. The letters will be admitted for the purpose intended and the defense will be allowed an excep-

The first letter from Mitchell to Hermann was dated October 9, 1901, and Included applications, principally from Hyde, for the selection of lieu lands outside of reserves in exchange for several thousand acres of school lands he had acquired within the reserves. In his letter Mitchell advised Hermann that the applications were those of Mitchell's "friends." He expressed the wish that Hermann would give the applications his personal attention and have them marked "special" so as to insure their immediate consideration. Two other letters from Mitchell to Hermann, dated January 25 and June 3, 1902, both including additional applications for lieu land selections, were also read.

Hermann Promises Ald.

The replies of Hermann to Mitchell's sioner assured the Senator that the applications had been received and in every instance the status of each seection designated in the original application furnished by Hyde was fur-nished. On one or two occasions, her-mann supplemented his formal reply with a personal note to Mitcheil. Ap-pended to one of Hermann's answers was the notation, in his own handwrit-"Applications have received my personal attention and will go forward at once to completion." In another letter, Hermann notified Mitchell that the applications would receive imme-diate consideration and probably would diate consideration and probably would be advanced to patent "very soon." The dates of Hermann's letters, replying to Mitchell. were: Dctober 10, 1991: January 30 and June 3, 1902. William E. Vaik, the Government clerk who was in the employ of John A. Benson, silent partner of F. A. Hyde in the firm of Hyde & Co., was the orly witness of importance called by the Government in the afternoon. Valk, on cross-examination by Attoron cross-examination by Attor ney Worthington, said he had received $2000 from Benson in payment for his service in expediting to patent the applications of Benson for lieu land selections in exchange for his school-selections in exchange for his school-land purchases.

Valk was called by the prosecution to identify a letter dated January 25, 1900, and filed in the General Land Office six days later, which was signed "American Citizen." It con-sisted of an exhaustive expose of the crooked operations of Hyde and Ben-son by which they were defrauding the Government out of thousands of acres of valuable lands through the acquisition of worthless school lands acquisition of worthless school lands ere used as a basis for ex Valk testified that while Her mann was Commissioner of the Gen-eral Land Office, he (Valk) was in charge of Division P, which had to do with all lieu land selections. Other than to identify the anonymous letter referred to, Valk testified to nothing importance, although he was manifestly an unwilling witness whose don't recall" replies were of no consequence to either the Government or Fraud Connection Admitted.

It was while being cross-examined however, that Valk admitted serving as an employe of Benson. In answer to questions from Attorney Worthington, Valk admitted that he and Harlan, chief clerk in the same division of the land office, were for several years in the paid employe of Benson. At first the clerks had a joint arrangemen with Benson by which they were to receive a con. sideration for every sere they hastened to patent. This partnership was subse-quently dissolved, explained the witness, for the reason that Harlan appropriated all of the graft money and refused to divide. Thereafter, the witness said, he made another "arrangement" with Be son by which he received 5 cents an acre, or $32 a section, for every application filed by Benson the witness handled. Before Attorney Worthington had fin-ished his examination of the confessed bribe-taker, the credibility of the witness was badly shaattered. Valk insisted, how-ever, that he was falthful to Benson and at no time, while receiving money from Benson, served in the same capacity for any other land-grabber. The witness de-clared that at no time had he held any nversation or conducted any corres-ndence with anybody concerning the Blue Mountain Forest Reserve. Although Valk in 1903 informed the Government investigators of his dupilcity while employe n the Land Office, he was not discharged from that employment until 1907. On re-direct examination, however, Attorney Trunk Co.

summarily from the Government service at the time of his confession was be-cause he was wanted by the prosecution as a witness in some of the cases in which his testimony influenced the returning indictments. When these cases had been disposed of, Valk admitted that he was dischargied from the office, which had paid him a salary of $3000 a year.

"What caused you to experience a change of mind and make your confession to the Government officials." inquired Juror Metcalf of the witness, at the conclusion of his examination by Attorney Heney.

"To tell the truth," admitted Valk, "it was my wife and mother who induced me to tell what I kney."

Hernfann's Course Condemned.

Attorney Heney continued direct examination of M. J. McVean yesterday morning, instead of turning the witness over to the defense as he announced was his intention, McVean, as clerk in the office of Hermann, had charge of much of the work of the General Land Office relating to the withdrawal of Office relating to the withdrawal of lands for forest reserve purposes. Throughout the morning Attorney Heney centered his fire against the action of Hermann for departing from his policy of opposing more forest reserves by recommending withdrawal of the Blue Mountain reserve in July, 1902. Reading from annual reports submitted by the Commissioner in 1900, 1901 and at the Commissioner in 1900, 1901 and at the end of March, 1902, the prosecution showed that Hermann had refused to make withdrawals of public domain for forest reserve purposes; except in iso-lated cases, where it became necessary to protect watersheds upon which city water supplies were dependent.

To show the attitude of Hermann concerning forest reserves other than the Blue Mountain reserve, Attorney Heney read a letter Hermann sent to the Secretary of the Interior January 11, 1902, concerning the proposed Rogue River reserve. He also quoted a letter from Attorney J. J. Huntley, of Curry County, protesting against the inclusion of half that county within its boundaries. Hermann wrote of the method whereby holders of worthless lands in reserves were profiting by their exchange for valuable timber under the lieu land act. He called attention to an editorial in The Oregonian of July 21, 1901, wherein mention was made of the large acreage of Oregon lands then contained by reserves, and protesting against further withdrawals. To show the attitude of Hermann withdrawals.

System Termed Lax.

Again taking up reports of Hermann preceding the creation of the Blue Mountain reserve. Attorney Heney read arguments which Hermann advanced for Hermann suggested that the system of creating forest reserves was lax, but that they were necessary, because much of the timber of the West was then in the hands of large companies and speculators. It was incumbent on the Government, he said, to withdraw and protect the remaining timber for future use by the people. In placing those lands in reserves, Hermann wanted the lieu land law changed so that specula-tors might not take advantage of it. He suggested that exchanges of lands should be made upon a basis of even McVean identified a letter from the acting chief of the Geological Survey recommending the creation of four reserves, including the Wallowa and Blue Mountain reserves. He testified that Herman favored the Blue Mountain reserve, but opposed other withdrawals, and July 25, the day following the receipt of Mays' last letter to Hermann, the Commissioner ordered the with-

Hency then again referred to the tele gram of July 25, 1902, to intimate that evidently there were points which only Mays and Hermann understood in con-Mays and Hermann understood in con-nection with the formation of the Blue The message formed Mays that the Secretary had ap-proved the "original Strawberry and proved the "original Strawberry Blue Mountains withdrawals, with later additions." McVean stated that at that time there were no additions to the reserve contemplated, and that the area was considered upon by the Forestry Department of the General Land Office.

Hermann Acquaintance Shown.

Late in the afternoon Attorney Hency recalled E. P. McCornack, the last witness of the day, Mr. McCormack testified that he was clerk of the State Land Board from 1878 to 1887 and bad known Hermann for 30 years. He said he had always openly opposed Hermann in political conventions when Hermann was a candidate for Congress but always had a speaking and "handshaking" acquaint-ance with the defendant. Attorney Hency explained that the purpose of McCornack's testimony was to show that Her mack's testimony was to show that Her-mann knew McCornack, who was men-tioned in the letter signed "American Citizen" addressed to Hermann in 1900, exposing the illegal operations of Hyde and Benson.

Just before court adjourned Attorney

Hency submitted in evidence extracts from the House and Senate Journals of the 1901 legislative session, showing that Franklin Pierce Mays and H. A. Smith. both of this county and co-defendants in the alleged Blue Mountain conspiracy, were members of the Senate and House, were members of the Senate and Rodes, respectively, in that year; that on a number of ballots for United States Senator to succeed George W. McBride, Hermann received several votes, at one time 12, and that on the lest night of the session Mays and Smhi, and other members who had voted for Hermann went over to Mitchell who was elected. The ournals of the two houses for the 1903 session were also offered to show that at the legislative session that year Mays was a hold-over Senator from this county, while Willard N. Jones, another of the convicted defendants in the Blue Mountain reserve conspiracy, was a member of the House from this county.

The registers of the Imperial Hotel for September and December, 1901, were introduced to show that A. G. King, ex-County Clerk of Malheur County, was in Portland and registered at that hostelry in those months. This evidence was cor-roborative of the testimony of King for the Government. King had testified that was in those months that he came to Portland and conferred with Mays as to the preliminary details of proceeding to secure the creation of the Blue Mountain reserve. The register for September, 1901, also showed that Binger Hermann was registered at the Imperial on Sep-

LUMBERMENS BANK BUILDING, CORNER FIFTH AND STARK STREETS PORTLAND, OREGON

WHOLESALE REAL ESTATE LARGEST FIRM ON PACIFIC COAST

January 25, 1910.

TO AMBITIOUS MEN AND WOMEN EVERYWHERE:

I have been given full power and authority to sell under any fair and honest plan which I propose the three Southern Pacific townsites of Mt. Hebron, California, Dorris, California, and Worden, Oregon, and to begin the bale not later than February 1st.

I have decided upon a plan of sale that will permit the poorest and most humble citizen, who aspires to own a home, to own a lot in each of these three towns and pay for all three of them under one contract at the rate of ONE DOLLAR PER WEEK.

These three towns are the official Southern Pacific townsites .-- any of the road's officials will testify to that fact. They are twenty miles apart and no other towns of any consequence will ever compete with them. THEY ARE LOCATED ON THE NEW MAIN LINE WHICH IS TO CONNECT SAN FRANCISCO AND PORTLAND, the two greatest cities on the Pacific Coast and are surrounded by the most prolific agricultural country that ever lay out of doors.

Watch for my full-page advertisement in this paper on TUESDAY. FEBRUARY 1st and then act quickly, because if you don't you will certainly lose out. I predict . that my offer will be considered the most extraordinary. the fairest offer ever made in the history of Pacific Coast real estate .-- one that can never be duplicated.

Very truly yours,

P. C. LAVEY.

DIVIDENDS ON COMMON SHARES REVERT TO 4 PER CENT.

Division of Opinion Reported Among Directors Over "Extra Dividend."

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 .- In accordance with popular expectation, directors of the United States Steel Corporation an-nounced today, after the close of the stock market, that dividends on com-mon shares of the corporation had re-verted to the original rate of 4 per cent annually. Directors declared a "regular" divi-dend of 1 per cent and an extra div-idend of % of 1 per cent. Dividends for the previous quarters have been: For the first quarter, is of I per cent; for the second quarter, is of I per cent; for the third, I per cent, and today's 1% per cent.

Although an extra dividend had long been rumored in the market, the behavior of the common shares today, and more particularly toward the close, in no way bore out the facts. According to the best information ob tainable there was a division of opin-ion among the directors, and the out-come probably was in doubt up to the time of the meeting.

Rumor wredits the Morgan faction in the board with having favored an extra dividend, but Chairman Gary said ac tion had been unanimous. The reg-ular quarterly dividend of 1% per cent was declared on the preferred shares.
