MEMBERS AFTER GLAVIS

Kinkaid and McLachlan Will Seek to Set Themselves Right When Examination Is Resumed. No Programme Outlined.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—When the examination of L. R. Glavis is renewed before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee it is expected that some new striking features will be brought out regarding charges against officials of the Interior Department. It is expected that Representative McLachlan, of California, and Representative Kinkaid, of Nebraska, either directly or through friends of the investigating committee, will put Mr. Glavis through a grilling examination in an effort to free themselves of certain suspicions.

Nelson at Helm.

There was no meeting of the committee today, and so far as future proceedings are concerned, they will be directed entirely by Senator Nelson, chairman of the proceedings and has followed the evidence with the greatest care. It is believed that Democratic members of the committee will not be called to the stand as much political capital out of his testimony as they can.

Democrats May Call Pinchot.

There is much speculation whether Gifford Pinchot will be called to the stand. He has been an interested attendant at the proceedings and has followed the evidence with the greatest care. It is believed that Democratic members of the committee will not be called to the stand as much political capital out of his testimony as they can.

Brownsville is asking for additional train service between this city and the main line at Albany.

Although weather conditions have improved throughout Italy, reports are still being received of the flooding of much territory. CONGRESS LIKELY TO CLOSE EARLY Opposition to Taft Policies May Cause New Arrangement.

PARTY LEADERS UP IN ARMS

House and Senate Divided, Members Pushing Various Legislative Measures With No Sign of Harmony or Unanimity.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Little headway has been made in the two months that Congress has been in session toward the enactment of important legislation demanded by President Taft, yet on every side are predictions of an early adjournment.

Thoughtful members are asking each other what kind of a reception they will get if they go to the White House on April 15 or May 1 with plans to quit work for the summer. If the administration programme is unfulfilled, the question is one that Congressional leaders admit is giving them deep concern. The absence of unanimity of thought on almost every one of the President's measures is such as to make exceedingly difficult the work mapped out for those who have the bills in charge.

Opposition Seen to Many Bills.

Bills to create a court of commerce and amend the railroad rate laws to establish post office savings banks, to vary withdrawals of public lands wanted for conservation purposes and to legalize National charters for corporations doing interstate business have met with determined opposition.

From a political point of view, Republican waters seemingly are becoming muddied by the several investigations in progress and the minority members appear not unwilling to let this procedure continue indefinitely. Inquiries such as that being made into the affairs of the Interior Department and the Forest Service naturally is having some effect upon plans to amend laws and enact legislation for Alaska and even to some extent on the Arizona and New Mexico statehood bill.

Other investigations, such as those relating to second-class mail matter and the Postoffice deficit, and causes of increased cost of living, tend to minimize the complete redemption of Republican campaign pledges. A conference of Republican leaders is being considered, and probably will be held soon after Senator Aldrich returns from Florida, which is expected to do this week. Vigorous means will be advocated to restore some semblance of order to the chaotic conditions.

Taft Policies May Be Changed.

The plan most in favor with such Republican leaders as are now in Washington is for a rearrangement of the Taft policies, placing them in order of executive preference or in such sequence as it is thought would most benefit a majority of the party. It has been declared that no progress will be made so long as some leaders are pushing interstate commerce legislation, others conservation policies and others postal savings banks or Federal incorporation laws.

At present the House is occupied with appropriation bills; in the Senate two Administration measures—the postal savings bill and the Federal incorporation bill—have been placed against each other. Opposition has developed against both, and Republican leaders say for the moment they are in a deadlock. The statehood bill is ready for consideration by the Senate and the Army appropriation bill will be reported tomorrow.

The several propositions before the House for the elimination of Speaker Cannon from the committee on rules and for the cancellation of the House reform a basis of informal discussion. No one is willing to predict when questions for the conference will be taken up, or a "show-down." There are various ways in which the matter could be brought up on the floor, and it may be precipitated suddenly or deferred for weeks.

Many members of the House are absent on account of approaching primaries in their districts.

Naval Committee Divided.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—There is some dissension among members of the House naval committee as to the Navy reorganization plan submitted by Secretary Meyer. Members are divided on the question and some will probably seek to make changes in the plan.

BANKERS OF COUNTY UNITE

Chehalis Entertains Financiers From Rest of County.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Jan. 30.—(Special.)—Lewie County bankers are the guests of last night of the Chehalis bankers at a banquet at the Hotel St. Helena in this city. About 25 attended, including stockholders and directors. Centralia, Winlock and Pe Ell were all represented. Charles S. Gilchrist, of the United States National City bank, and J. E. Lease, of N. B. Coffman, of the banking firm of Coffman, Dobson & Co., of Chehalis, the pioneer banker of Southwest Washington, gave some interesting reminiscences. W. S. Short, of the Security State Bank, Chehalis, spoke on "Banking Hours." Sidney Anderson, of the Security State Bank, Chehalis, spoke on "The Lady Customer." A. S. Cory, of the Chehalis National Bank, spoke on "Exchange and Collections." There followed a discussion of the subject of city and county warrants.

A preliminary organization of the bankers was formed with N. B. Coffman, of Chehalis, president, and J. E. Lease, of Centralia, secretary. An executive committee of one from each of the banks in the county was named to prepare a "platform" to be submitted to the county organization. Resolutions opposing the postal savings bank plan were passed and it was decided that they be sent to the state delegation in Congress.

DANIEL SCHULTZ IS DEAD

Well-Known O. R. & N. Conductor Passes Away at Spokane.

Daniel Schultz, for nearly 20 years, one of the best-known passenger conductors on the Washington division of the O. R. & N., died at his home in Spokane Thursday night. His remains were brought to this city for cremation Saturday.

Through his long service with the O. R. & N., Mr. Schultz was known by hundreds of Portlanders, and every man who ever knew him was his friend. He was born in New York 51 years ago, and began railroading as a boy. Nearly all of his service with the O. R. & N. was on the run between Pendleton and Spokane, and there are few people who have lived long on that route, Portland not recall some kindly favor extended by "Dan" Schultz. About five years ago Mr. Schultz became interested in some coal mines in British Columbia and from his investment grew the International Coal & Coke Company of Coleman, B. C., an enterprise which made Mr. Schultz a very wealthy man. His health began failing about three years ago, but it was only within the last month that the change came rapidly.

Mr. Schultz leaves a widow and one daughter, five brothers and two sisters. Of the brothers, William C. Schultz, for many years in the O. R. & N. service, and at present division superintendent on the Western Pacific, is the best known in Portland. Another brother, S. T. Schultz, is superintendent of the C. B. & Q. Railroad, with headquarters in Chicago.

The funeral, which was held at the crematorium Saturday afternoon, was private. Mrs. Schultz returned to Spokane yesterday, and W. C. Schultz, who accompanied the remains to Portland, returned to his home in Portola, Cal., last evening.

MERRILL FOLLOWS GLEIM

ROADHOUSE HOLD-UP MEN MAY BE CAUGHT.

Victim Thompson Will Live, Though He Suffers Bullet-Holes in Lung and Cheek.

Manley Thompson, the victim of the two holdup men who robbed the Twelve-Mile House and shot Thompson at the Seven-Mile House Friday night, may recover, according to Dr. E. H. Anthony, who has been attending him.

Thompson was in good condition last night, considering his severe injuries, and no traces of blood poisoning have been seen. Thompson has a bullet hole through his left lung and another through his cheek.

No trace has been found of the two men who performed the double crime last Friday night. Fred T. Merrill, proprietor of the Twelve-Mile House, says he has a good idea of the men, but he is now working. He now believes the larger of the two men knew him but did not know Merrill or at least did not know her very well.

"Those men knew my every action on the day of the holdup," said Mr. Merrill, last evening. "They knew I had a gun, or they never would have attempted to hold up the place. I have learned now that someone called up my home and asked whether or not I would be at the Twelve-Mile House at night. They were told that I would not be, as I was going to the Jeffries' exhibition. Then at 11:30 someone called again at my home and asked if I were to be at the place. Again the same answer was given and they further said I would be there at 11:30.

"Now those men knew I wouldn't be there that night and that I wasn't prepared for them. They wouldn't dare come when I was there, and you can say for me I will give them as much as they got if they try the same job when I am on the house. I am prepared for them all the time and I know it was someone who knew this who did the work."

Thompson was taken to the hospital and the larger man on the way to the place. "Mrs. Merrill won't recognize my voice, but Merrill would. I had the chauffeur, told me this and that is on what I base my theory. Now I am after them and I believe we will get them. If we do we will be able to prove it."

"I'm sorry that the name of Pink Domino has been dragged into this. He is a laborer now working in a blacksmith shop and is a reformed boy. He has been as straight as a string and I know he was there on Friday night. Merrill says that he saw these men either looked or acted like Pink Domino. He is all right and I am glad I saved him."

Thompson was arrested by Sheriff Stevens yesterday on suspicion, but these were released when Chauffeur Haddley did not identify them.

ARRESTS TO BE DECIDED

(Said last night most persons.)

The livers and the stomachs of Young Swope and his father, Thomas Swope, have been examined thoroughly, but the test is going further than that. There are many organs in the body of the body which could absorb and hold poison, and it is my opinion that several of these have been examined in addition to the stomach and the liver.

"However, the indications are that the scientists believe they will have everything ready for the men from Kansas City or they would not have sent a telegram demanding their presence in Chicago Monday morning. I believe that report will be given Monday."

John G. Paxton and John H. Atwood again refused to discuss the case. Virgil Child, prosecuting attorney, said: "As to an arrest in this case, I cannot say that there will not be any before the inquest is held, and I cannot say that there will be one. Everything depends upon the conference in Chicago. At that conference conditions may arise that will necessitate the need for arrest at once. The salaries of these offices are small, so small as to make the postmaster not attractive to busy men, and the
