RABBI WISE TALKS

Washington High School Graduates Told of "Citizenship."

CLASS HAS 42 MEMBERS

Programme Given Under Direction of Mrs. Rose Coursen Reed and Diplomas Presented by I. N. Fleischner, Director.

Graduating exercises of the Washington High School were held last night in the assembly hall in the presence of a large audience. The class numbered 42. H. H. Herdman, principal, was in charge, and made the introductory remarks. The programme was as follows:

March, "Our High School" (Meisner), Mrs. Rose Coursen Reed, director. (a) "Come Unto Me" (Mendelssohn), (b) "Serenade to Janina" (Loubert), girls' chorus, Miss Lorna Ganung at the piano; contralto solo, "Slave Song" (Hilleg), Miss Clara Howell; "Carmen" (Wilson), girls' chorus.

"Citizenship" was the subject of the address by Rabbi Jona B. Wise to the class. Dr. Wise's address commanded close attention. He said, in part:

Education makes for two great ends—quality and equality. Every man and woman is a seeker after his or her own salvation. Some find it in this world, some look forward to its realization in a world to come; others are best served in the service of their fellowmen. States are founded on the supposition that people are free, that they seem, while republics place their chief reliance upon the portion of mankind that seeks salvation in the advancement of the race. A Christiana leaving his homely peace and defending his country against invasion, a Washington devoting his high talents and attainments to the cause of a struggling state, a Lincoln leading without a murmur the burden of a distracted commonwealth, are types of service that this country must in times of stress rely upon for aid. Education, properly directed, offers the best means for securing the happiness and prosperity of the citizen of this great republic. The young men and women who go out from our higher schools into the world should be equipped with the power that makes for civic righteousness. Quality is attained when men and women learn the cardinal lesson of thinking for themselves, of looking far enough into the future and into the affairs of the world to whom they live that they may form judgments which will influence their actions despite the claims of political alliance, often based on trifling prejudice, and the more pressing instances of the serving of a present pleasure or profit. The learning that equips with power without awakening in the mind the power to choose through thought the as useless to the common happiness as the densest ignorance. Education such as this school affords and

ST. DAVID'S GIRLS BUSY

Entertaining Programme Planned for Tomorrow Night.

Much interest is being manifested in the entertainment to be given tomorrow night by the girl members of St. David's Church. The entertainment will consist of a play and a monologue, with several musical numbers and readings, and will be held at the parish-house at St. David's, on East Morrison and East Twelfth streets, the programme beginning at 8:15.

The play to be given is "The Burglar," by Margaret Cameron, in which six girls will participate. The monologue, "His Old Sweathouse," is an attractive picture in costume in a series of living pictures. Mrs. M. E. McFarland is in charge. Candy tables will be in evidence, and a luncheon consisting of coffee and sandwiches will be served. The girls in the play are Misses Kathleen Booth, Minna Backus, Constance Muir, Elvada Burness and Helen McFarland. The proceeds of the entertainment are to go to missionary work in the Hawaiian Islands.

If you are suffering from biliousness, constipation, indigestion, chronic headache, invest one cent in a postal card, send to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, with your name and address plainly on the back, and they will forward you a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Sold by all druggists.

CREED GAINS JUDGE

William McDonald Converted in Scanning Telegraphone.

"TONGUES OF FIRE" JOINED

Former Superior Judge of Whitman County, Washington, Now Traveling Apostolic Faith Evangelist. Woman Cripple is Cured.

William McDonald, formerly Superior Judge of Whitman County, Washington, and now traveling evangelist for the Apostolic Faith, known also as the "Tongues of Fire," arrived in Portland yesterday. In an interview he explains how he had given up a promising political career for the religious creed that has obtained a surprisingly large following during the three years of its existence.

The members of the Apostolic Faith have generally been looked upon as fanatical, owing to their habit of ending long hours of fervent religious demonstrations by falling into trances. But Mr. McDonald explains this condition as being the union of the soul with God, and only those who have been accepted by God can enter the trance, he says, as it is seen in the meetings of the members of the Apostolic Faith.

Judge McDonald explained yesterday that his parents had brought him up as a member of the Christian Church, and that previous to his conversion to the Apostolic Faith he believed in healing the sick by faith was impossible by God.

Machine Wrought Change. It was while he was practicing law in Spokane, Judge McDonald said, he was induced to accompany other lawyers to inspect a telegraphone. While it was being explained to him that the wires on which soundings are recorded could take the testimony and speeches of a lawsuit automatically, a voice, he said, informed him that like the workings of the machine before him, all the thoughts and acts of each human being from the cradle to the grave were recorded with God.

The man describing the machine then showed that by pressing a button the wire could be demagnetized and the record eliminated in an instant. Then, said Judge McDonald, the divine voice again told him that in the same manner, by proper acts, the past of any person could be obliterated, and as long as the individual, thus renewed, conducted himself properly he would be favored by God. To become a member of the Apostolic Faith, Judge McDonald explained, one

LOCAL AVIATOR TO TRY

GROUND GIVEN BY FAIR ASSOCIATION FOR PRACTICE.

E. Henry Wemme's Biplane, Manned by Covey, and Burkhardt's Machine to Rise Soon.

Within a fortnight aeroplanes will have their first trial in Portland. Yesterday the Portland Fair and Livestock Exposition Company tendered the fair grounds and racecourse to local prospective aviators for practice flights.

The first of the air craft to be tried will be the Curtiss biplane recently purchased by E. Henry Wemme and displayed at the automobile show and later at the Motor & Frank Company pure-foot show. Howard Covey, a well-known automobile dealer, will man the Wemme machine as soon as the weather is sufficiently fair to insure a favorable ascent. John C. Burkhardt, a Portland mechanic who is building a machine of his own, will also give a trial flight.

Both these machines, with others, will be featured in this year's fair and livestock exposition.

CAKES HOME FROM TOUR

"Tipping" Overdone and British Nobility's End in Sight. After a four months' tour of Europe, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cake have returned to their home in this city, glad again to be in the state of their adoption. They spent most of the winter in Italy, but also visited France, Germany and England. In England, Mr. Cake said the average Englishman is beginning to realize the injustice resulting to the people at large from the present system of tenure of titles by which the oldest son succeeds to the estates of his father. This growing sentiment, thought Mr. Cake, would result in the elimination of the nobility in that country. The reform, he predicted, would be accomplished slowly, but he was convinced that the time would come when the nobility, and the common people would be placed more nearly on an equal footing.

Mr. Cake unsparingly denounced the tipping evil, which he declared, was the bane of the American traveler abroad. It was positively essential to respectful service and considerate treatment. Compliance with the inconstant demands of hotel attaches and other servants for tips, Mr. Cake averred, easily amounted to 25 per cent of the total cost of making a tour of Europe.

After reaching New York on the return trip, Mr. and Mrs. Cake returned to Portland by the Southern route. Mr. Cake reported having observed signs of substantial prosperity in all of the sections visited, but he said that at no place did he find conditions more prosperous than they are in the Pacific Northwest. SEASIDE SATURDAY. Special Train. Every Saturday, A. & C. R. train leaving Portland at 6:30 p. m. runs through to Seaside, stopping at all Clatsop Beach points. GROVE. Used World-over to cure a cold in One Day, 25c. Do it now. That is, buy a 10-cent cut of Piper Heidsieck tobacco and you will never chew any other. Champagne flavor.

At a meeting of the executive board of the Fair Association yesterday the question of the amalgamation of the Mechanics' Fair of the Portland Manufacturers' Association with the fair and livestock exposition was discussed. It was decided to do everything within the power of the association to make arrangements pleasant and agreeable for the mechanical display. The same question is now being considered by the Manufacturers' Association, but it is not thought probable any definite action will be taken by that organization. Many individual manufacturers, however, have signified their intention of exhibiting at the fair. Submarine fog signals can be heard 15 miles.
