THE MORNING OREGONIAN, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1910. Eugens Commercial Club are working to make the occasion notable. The faculty of the University of Oregon last year observed the semi-centennial of the admission of Oregon into the Union by a "Commonwealth Conference" for the discussion of subjects affecting the weifare of the people of the state at large. The institution of an annual con-ference was recognized as a means for the university to render distinct univer-sity service to the people of the state. The success of the first conference and the interest the many men of public standing showed in the conference itself was thought to justify the arrangements for the second conference to be held here February 11 and 12. CONFEREES AGREE mercial Club are working to OPHITE CLUB WINS ST. NATIONAL BANKS REPORT GAIN OF $1,000.000 IN 3 MONTHS.

Mr. Humphrey said that ample con-sideration had been given to the bill, and that, if it were delayed longer, a measure to take its place would be reported in the Senate. In reply to this, Democrats said that the bill had re-ceived no consideration by anybody, and that it had not even been read over in committee.

Today's hearing was the first given and the opposition pointed out that those heard today were in favor of ship subsidy, but were opposed to parts of the Humphrey bill. The Democrats desired to offer sev-

He told the commissioners that he preferred to have his own friends about im, inasmuch as he was to be held responsible for the administration. They heard him out and then told him they would give the matter consideration.

That was altogether too slow for Mc Carthy. He wanted action, and directed his attention first of all to the police commission. Harry Flannery, a saloonman, had already been appointed to fill the place of an outgoing missioner, but McCarthy wanted complete power. Accordingly, without further warning, he wrote out the resignations of the two men he wanted to dismiss and named his own friends
