

WOMAN PROPOSES, THEN SHOOTS MAN

Thrice Refused, Mrs. E. L.
Myer, of El Paso, Tries to Kill Teamster.

HAYNIE, FOREST GROVE MAN

Developments of Willow Creek Shooting Show Victim Had Been Sued for Breach of Promise by Woman Who Is Now Dead.

MADRAS, Ore., Feb. 6.—(Special)—After asking me three times within 20 minutes to marry her and after refusing her each time, the woman shot me," declares J. B. Haynie, the Porter Bros. teamster, shot last night at Camp No. 1, in Willow Creek, by a "well-dressed, unknown woman," whom it developed today is Mrs. Eleodra L. Myer, of El Paso, Tex., 40 years old.

The body of Mrs. Myer, who committed suicide by poisoning while being brought home in a wagon, is in charge of the coroner, who will hold an inquest early this morning.

Owing to the serious condition of Haynie the attending physician refused to allow him to explain his act further, though it is understood that Mrs. Myer, who is the divorced wife of Jake Myer, of Parras, Mexico, a traveling man, has been following Haynie about the country ever since she was separated from her husband.

The dead woman, it is believed here, was an affinity of Haynie, when he resided in Texas, where he was railroad section foreman, and where he met Mrs. Myer.

Haynie has been in this section of the country for about a month, and it is understood that he has relatives in Forest Grove, near where he was born and where he was separated from his husband.

It was six months ago that Mrs. Myer came to this section of Oregon from Texas, accompanied by Jake Myer. It is said that Mrs. Myer had considerable trouble in Texas and was the participant in several escapades there.

FISH RULE IS DISLIKED
British Columbia Salmon Trappers
Fear Joint Treaty Will Fail.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 6.—(Special)—The waters view with consternation the debate in the House of Commons in Ottawa on the recommendation of Dr. David Starr Jordan and Professor Prince, the imperial commissioners for regulation of salmon fishing in waters on both sides of the boundary.

The Fraser river men say that the Puget Sound trappers maintain that they will not be bound by any treaty of the two countries, and that the U. S. government, but that the State of Washington has sole jurisdiction over them. The Canadian salmon canners profess to fear that a joint treaty would be ignored south of the Canadian line.

CANADA TO SHOW APPLES

First Organization to Be Formed in British Columbia Province.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 6.—(Special)—Within the next few days prominent business men connected with the fruit industry in this province will gather to form a board of control to control for the purpose of holding in Vancouver this year the first Canadian apple show.

According to present indications next season's apple crop will be unusually good, and it is planned to hold the apple show here the first week in November so that exhibitors will have an opportunity of competing also in the American National apple show to be held in Spokane later in November.

BODY IS FOUND ON BEACH

Three Washed Ashore Recently Are Thought to Be From Czarina.

GARDINER, Or., Feb. 6.—(Special)—The driver of the stage between here and Florence yesterday came upon the dead body of a man who had been washed ashore near the mouth of the Umpqua River. The body was wholly naked, except for a pair of shoes, and was so beaten by the waves as to be unrecognizable.

This is the third body found north of the Umpqua River within a week. All are believed to be those of seamen from the Czarina, which was wrecked off Coos Bay on January 12.

POLICE SEEK ACCOMPLICES

(Continued From First Page)

men Gohl would have no dealings, as he was possessed of a mania for unionism. The union sailors coming to Aberdeen from the coast ports had nothing to do with it.

As far from that there is practically no place to dispose of smuggled goods here and no good way of shipping them to other cities.

Gohl's accounts as agent of the Saltors of British Columbia have been reviewed by officers of the local union and found to be correct. Members of the union declare that their organization knew nothing of Gohl's private life, and while they are loth to believe him a well-educated man, they are painted, they say that if he is proved guilty in a fair trial they will make no effort to save him from the gallows.

The apparent magnitude of Gohl's operation in making the captures for the local authorities to handle. At first it was believed that Gohl had not committed more than three murders in the most, and the sensational reports that were brought to the police and county officers were discredited, and thought to be only phases of the popular hysteria that followed Gohl's arrest. Investigation of many of these stories has led the authorities to change their minds, and now they believe Gohl has murdered many.

Boasts Hard to Prove.

It is to get first-hand evidence upon this point that the two men supposed to have been members of Gohl's gang of informants are being interviewed.

With the air filled with conflicting stories and reports, however, and with most of these reports dated back two or three years and being based entirely upon the official record, it is difficult for the officers to get at the tangible facts. Chief Dean was coaxed out yesterday from half past 5 to half past 9 in the evening, endeavoring to gain some positive information about the reported killing by Gohl of four men on a sandbar in the bay.

In spite of the four hours the Chief devoted to this inquiry, he cannot yet say positively whether this occurred or not. He is inclined to believe the story, however.

Aaside from information of value, everybody working on the case is getting a vast amount of information that is purely fanciful. Reports that Mrs. Gohl is a cousin of John James, the bandit; that men have been using boats to go up front warning all sailors not to talk about Gohl and many other wild rumors have kept the police and others on the jump, and made the real work more difficult.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against

the police.

Gohl's record has been traced back to his native home in Germany. When serving in the army there, he killed a fellow-soldier and escaped punishment only by flight to Australia. There he also got into difficulties and left. He was mixed in criminal troubles at least one shoreman's strike at Eureka, Cal., before coming here. At this point he obtained information regarding men now prominent in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which he declares he will use against