COUNTY TALK DROPS

Annexation to Multnomah Is Only Issue.

ESTACADA ALSO WILLING

Argument Is Advanced That Territory Affected Rightfully Belongs to Portland Because Property Owners Trade in City.

That the proposition of forming a new county out of the northern portion of Clackamas will hardly be heard of again, but that the people of that district will concentrate their efforts for annexation to Multnomah County, is the prediction of H. Lee Paget, president of the newly-organized Multnomah-Clackamas Annexation Association.

"Of the 19 delegates from the Clackamas County district affected, that met in Portland last night, only one expressed himself strongly in favor of the organization of a new county," said Mr. Paget yesterday. "This was one of the two delegates from Estacada. Delegates from other points near there were strongly opposed to such course."

"The persons interested in the movement have not expected the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company to do anything but oppose it. Annexation, in time, will mean the extension of Portland's city limits in that direction and the embracing of more of the company's electric lines, which will thus be brought under the five-cent fare requirement."

Golf Players Are Opposed. "But I notice that in the interview with Mr. Josselyn, The Oregonian, he opposes annexation in behalf of the Golf Club. Annexation is likely to be followed, he believes, by the combination of the city and county governments, and he thinks that city taxes imposed on the golf links would make them a too expensive playground."

"Now, as a matter of fact, the total tax levy in Portland is 18 mills. This includes everything—city, county school and port of Portland taxes. In Clackamas County the golf links are now assessed at a rate of 1 1/2 mills. "It looks as if Mr. Josselyn seized the first argument he happened to think of in opposition to annexation without posting himself on the subject."

WILL GARBAGE GO?

Crematory Matter Up to Councilmen Today.

MAYOR EXPRESSES HOPE

Modern Burner, to Cost Approximately $120,000, Sadly Needed That Epidemic May Be Averted—Inspects Old Plant.

"I hope," said Mayor Simon upon closing his office in the City Hall last night, "that the Council tomorrow morning will pass an ordinance appropriating funds for the construction of a garbage crematory."

It is now up to the City Council to say whether the city shall have a modern burner that will avert an epidemic of disease and enable the health authorities to act quickly in cleaning up the refuse near the present plant on Guild's Lake. Mayor Simon, City Health Officer Wheeler and members of the Council paid a brief visit to the old, worn-out plant yesterday and viewed the situation, which is positively dangerous. Even now, with cool weather, the stench is so strong that the Mayor refused to accept an invitation of Superintendent Napier to inspect the dump, where lies piled hundreds of tons of putrid refuse, gathered from all parts of the city.

The small burner now in operation, although worked day and night, consumes but about 40 tons daily—less than one-third the amount required to keep abreast of the scavengers who haul to the establishment.

"I would like to show you gentlemen the dump," said Superintendent Napier, after the Mayor and members of the Council inspected the furnaces of the old plant.

"I do not care to inspect it," said Mayor Simon significantly, as he cast his eyes toward the great waste of ground covered many feet deep with garbage that was lying there for years, growing larger with each succeeding month, until it threatens a disease epidemic. Councilman Cellars was the only member of the Council who had the nerve to venture out a portion of the way, but

BOARD ASKS BIDS

Water Commission Seeks Mains' Installation.

RESULTS OF CALL FOR ESTIMATES ON PROPOSED WORK WILL BE WATCHED WITH INTEREST, OWING TO PREJUDICEMENT OF THE CITY.

A desperate effort is to be made by the Water Board to secure bids for the installation of some mains in the near future, in order to keep ahead of proposed hard-surface pavements.

Yesterday afternoon the board ordered several streets advertised in the official paper, and sent to the City Council a large batch of resolutions, calling for mains in others. The results will be watched with deep interest throughout the city, owing to the acute situation prevailing.

As the present law requires payment for mains under 10 inches to be made by the "benefited property," contractors are afraid to bid. They declare they may lose their money, should any property-owner refuse to pay, as the law has never been tested and its leasurability is very much in doubt. Whenever bids have been received they have been about 10 per cent higher than the engineer's estimate, the 10 per cent being added for safeguarding the contractor's interest in case of litigation.

Mayor Simon recently proposed to submit an amendment, making payment for all mains from water funds, but he recalled it because of opposition. This leaves the situation as it was, and there is a grave question as to whether contractors will bid in an acceptable manner. The bids soon to be received will make this clear.

The board also declined to grant an extension of 30 days' time to the Barber Asphalt Paving Company for a water main on Ninth street, but granted one of the same length on Gilean street to the same company.

"I suggest that we do not grant the extension of time on Ninth street," said Mayor Simon, who was presiding, "let

PORTLAND CASE TOLD WIFE

Bigamist Husband Advised San Francisco Spouse to Come Here.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. Ethel Ross, living at 170 Dore street, received information from Portland this morning, telling of the arrest of her husband, John Ross, an electrician on a charge of bigamy. The dispatch says Ross was married in the Northern city on December 23 to Helen Jenkins, who traveled from San Francisco with him. Ross left his wife and 2-year-old baby December 20, saying he was going to Portland to get employment and that he would need for her immediately.

Mrs. Ross has received many letters from her husband, the last telling her to come to Portland February 15. She was completing her arrangements for the trip when she received the notice of her husband's arrest.

Mrs. Ross is a pretty woman, 22 years old, and was married to Ross in June, 1907. She says she never heard of Helen Jenkins and can give no reason for her husband's action. Ross is only 22 years old.

12TH BODY IS WASHED UP

Another Supposed Czarina Victim's Remains Found at Umpqua Bar.

GARDINER, Or., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—A body, supposed to be that of a seaman or officer of the wrecked Czarina, was found today by members of the Umpqua Lifesaving Service, a short distance north of the Umpqua bar. It was brought to Gardiner for burial.

The clothing on the body consisted of an undershirt, an overhairs and vest, all of good material. Nothing was found, however, by which the remains could be identified. Four bodies are now buried here and eight at Coos Bay, making 12, or half the number lost in the Czarina wreck, January 12.

GASOLINE CAR WANTED

Springfield Asks Better Service to Coburg and Eugene.

SPRINGFIELD, Or., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—Tired of promises of future streetcar service and seeing a chance for immediate relief, two petitions are being circulated to the Southern Pacific Company, asking that a gasoline car, similar to those in use between Portland and Silverton, be placed on hourly service between Coburg, Springfield and Eugene.

The plan is said to be satisfactory to some 15,000 people along the route. At present it costs 40 cents to ride to Eugene and back, a distance of three miles, or else one can walk three-quarters of a mile to the end of the streetcar line. The service is hourly.

VOTE FOR FAIR IS TIE

Future Meeting Will Decide Between Roseburg and Eugene.

ROSEBURG, Or., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—The Second Southern Oregon District Agricultural Society has elected officers as follows: C. W. Parrott, president; Amos Wilkins, vice-president; F. G. McClell, secretary.

The location for the next district fair was voted on, resulting in a tie between Roseburg and Eugene. Another meeting will be called February 11.

Singapore Orders Cases. RAYMOND, Wash., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—The Raymond Box Company, which has been supplying the Asiatic Petroleum Company with oil cases, has just received an order for 2,000,000 cases to be shipped during the next eight months. They are to be made of hemlock, thus creating a demand for this lumber. They will be shipped from Tacoma direct to Singapore.

Clouds Herald Chinook. DAYTON, Wash., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—Black clouds in the west—heralds of the chinook—are piling up in the horizon and the temperature has risen perceptibly. Old settlers predict that the back of the cold spell is broken and that warm weather will be recorded from now on. A five-inch fall of snow is melting fast.

Room Thief Is Caught. CHEHALIS, Wash., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—Tom Glass is under arrest here for stealing from the clothing of lodgers at the Yakima. The proprietor caught Hays in the act of lifting $10 from one of the roomers, and Hays gently handed the money back. His arrest is believed to clear up the mystery of numerous thefts that have recently occurred here in other hotels and cheap lodging-houses of the city.

Spokane Wants National Park. SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 8.—A movement is being started here to establish a National and Interstate park in the beautiful Priest River Forest Reserve in Northern Idaho, taking in a part of Priest Lake, which may be the source of Spokane's city water supply in a few years. The reserve contains some of the finest timber in the United States.

Police Chief Is Rewarded. VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—The City Council last night raised the salary of John Sechrist, Chief of Police, from $80 to $100 a month, as a token of its approval of his energetic work.

All Rose City Park cars run through Laurelhurst. Take car at Third and Yamhill sts. Salesmen on the ground. Office, 522 Corbett Building.
