The receipts for the last two years were $122,836, and with the balance on hand January 1, 1908, made a total of $130,571. The report showed that $58,713 had been sent to the general conference, $131 for work among negroes and $122 for the aid of Religious Liberty Association. Secretary Lashier emphasized that the 10-cents-a-week plan from every member had yielded a large sum from the 5763 members, the amount being $31,906, or $1936 more than the former two years. The disbursements for 1908-1909 were $16,051, and there was a balance of $4495 on hand January 1, 1910. It was shown that the trust fund had grown from $2,745 in 1907 to $26,921 in 1909.

Conference Is Congratulated.

Elder I. H. Evans, who is on his way to the Orient, delivered an address on the importance of the general conference, explaining the methods and answering questions. Among other things Elder Evans said: "Our financial plans cover the whole of the mission field. I want to emphasize the importance of delivering all money intended for the mission field through the regular official channels. Money sent direct to an individual worker in the mission field is not reported, nor do we know how it is used. We made up the budget of expenses for each missionary and make appropriations to cover his expenses, in-

Dead Man's Brother Sought.

The National Hospital Association, with offices at 329 Mohawk building, is making efforts to locate the brother of Neils Lillydale, who died at the Good Samaritan Hospital last Monday. Lillydale was a logger, and succumbed to blood-poisoning following injuries that he received in a lumbering camp. Before his death he said he had a brother living either in Portland or in one of the towns on the Lower Columbia, whom he wanted notified. The body is being held, pending communication with the family of the deceased. Lillydale's brother is said to be either a real estate man or a lumber or fish dealer.

CRITICISM IS FELT

Dr. Young Discusses ex-Vice-President's Visit to Rome.

FAIRBANKS' ACT APPROVED

Methodists Feel Statement of Archbishop Ireland, Although They Do Not Care What Bishops of Rome May Say.

Rev. Benjamin Young took occasion in his sermon at the Taylor-Street Methodist Church yesterday morning to criticize freely Archbishop Ireland's statement regarding the incident in Rome involving ex-Vice-President Fairbanks and the Pope.

Dr. Young said that Methodists feel keenly the statement of Archbishop Ireland, although they do not care so much about what the Catholic bishops in Rome may say. "That is their affair," said Dr. Young. "But, irrespective of what they may think or say, we are expending $90,000 this year in the extension of Methodist Church work in Rome and Italy."

Recognition Not Asked.

"The Catholics complain that the Methodists are proselyting among their members in Rome, and that Catholic authorities cannot in any way give recognition to Methodism. We don't ask for any recognition of any kind, for we are not in Rome for recognition from the Catholics. We are there to appeal to thinking men. We ask only that candid men give consideration to such matters as we may present to them. I think Vice-President Fairbanks was true to the position taken by his church and in harmony with the position taken by thoughtful American citizens. He recognized the rights of Catholics in Rome to do as they felt best with respect to him, and we recognize the right of Catholics, or of any one else, to think as they please. We are not proselyting in Rome any more than we are in Portland. We ask only the liberty in Rome, or in any other place, to present what we think is the truth, and it is for men themselves to decide whether or not we have presented correct views. We recognize the rights of the individual, and believe no authority should stand between a man and his God.

"Bishop Hartzell made a statement in the press the other day which I heartily indorse. I think it was very frank and clear."

Dr. Young criticized the Catholic Church for "not allowing to each man the privilege of using his own judgment in spiritual matters."

The Formosan Railway has completed the first year of its operation, and the government is gratified with the results.

DR. YOUNG DISCUSSES EX-VICE-PRESIDENT'S VISIT TO ROME.

FAIRBANKS' ACT APPROVED

Methodists Feel Statement of Archbishop Ireland, Although They Do Not Care What Bishops of Rome May Say.

Rev. Benjamin Young took occasion in his sermon at the Taylor-Street Methodist Church yesterday morning to criticize freely Archbishop Ireland's statement regarding the incident in Rome involving ex-Vice-President Fairbanks and the Pope.

Dr. Young said that Methodists feel keenly the statement of Archbishop Ireland, although they do not care so much about what the Catholic bishops in Rome may say.

"That is their affair," said Dr. Young. "But, irrespective of what they may think or say, we are expending $90,000 this year in the extension of Methodist Church work in Rome and Italy."

Dr. Young said that Methodists are not proselyting among members of the Catholic Church in Rome any more than it is in Portland.

The speaker's text was the story of the miracle performed by Christ in healing the man with the withered hand. "The Value of a Man" was the subject.

Vice-President Is Methodist.

"On his trip around the world recently ex-Vice-President Fairbanks, who is a member of the Meridian-street Methodist Church, of Indianapolis, was interviewed by a representative of the Pope, who asked Mr. Fairbanks' consent to an audience with his holiness. This invitation was accepted," said the speaker.

"It was not then known by the papal see, evidently, that Mr. Fairbanks had consented to address a mass meeting in Rome of the 800 Methodists there, but when this was learned later, it resulted in a second interview between Mr. Fairbanks and the papal representative, in which the ex-Vice-President was asked to break his engagement with the Methodists, as the audience with the Pope otherwise could not take place, this being considered a recognition of the Methodist Church. The visit to the Pope did not take place.

"The Methodists have a college for women in Rome, known as Crandon Hall, besides a deaconess' home," said Rev. Dr. Young. "In the school we have between 400 and 500 pupils. Bishop William Burt, an able administrator, is in charge, although his headquarters are at Zurich, Switzerland.

Recognition Not Asked.

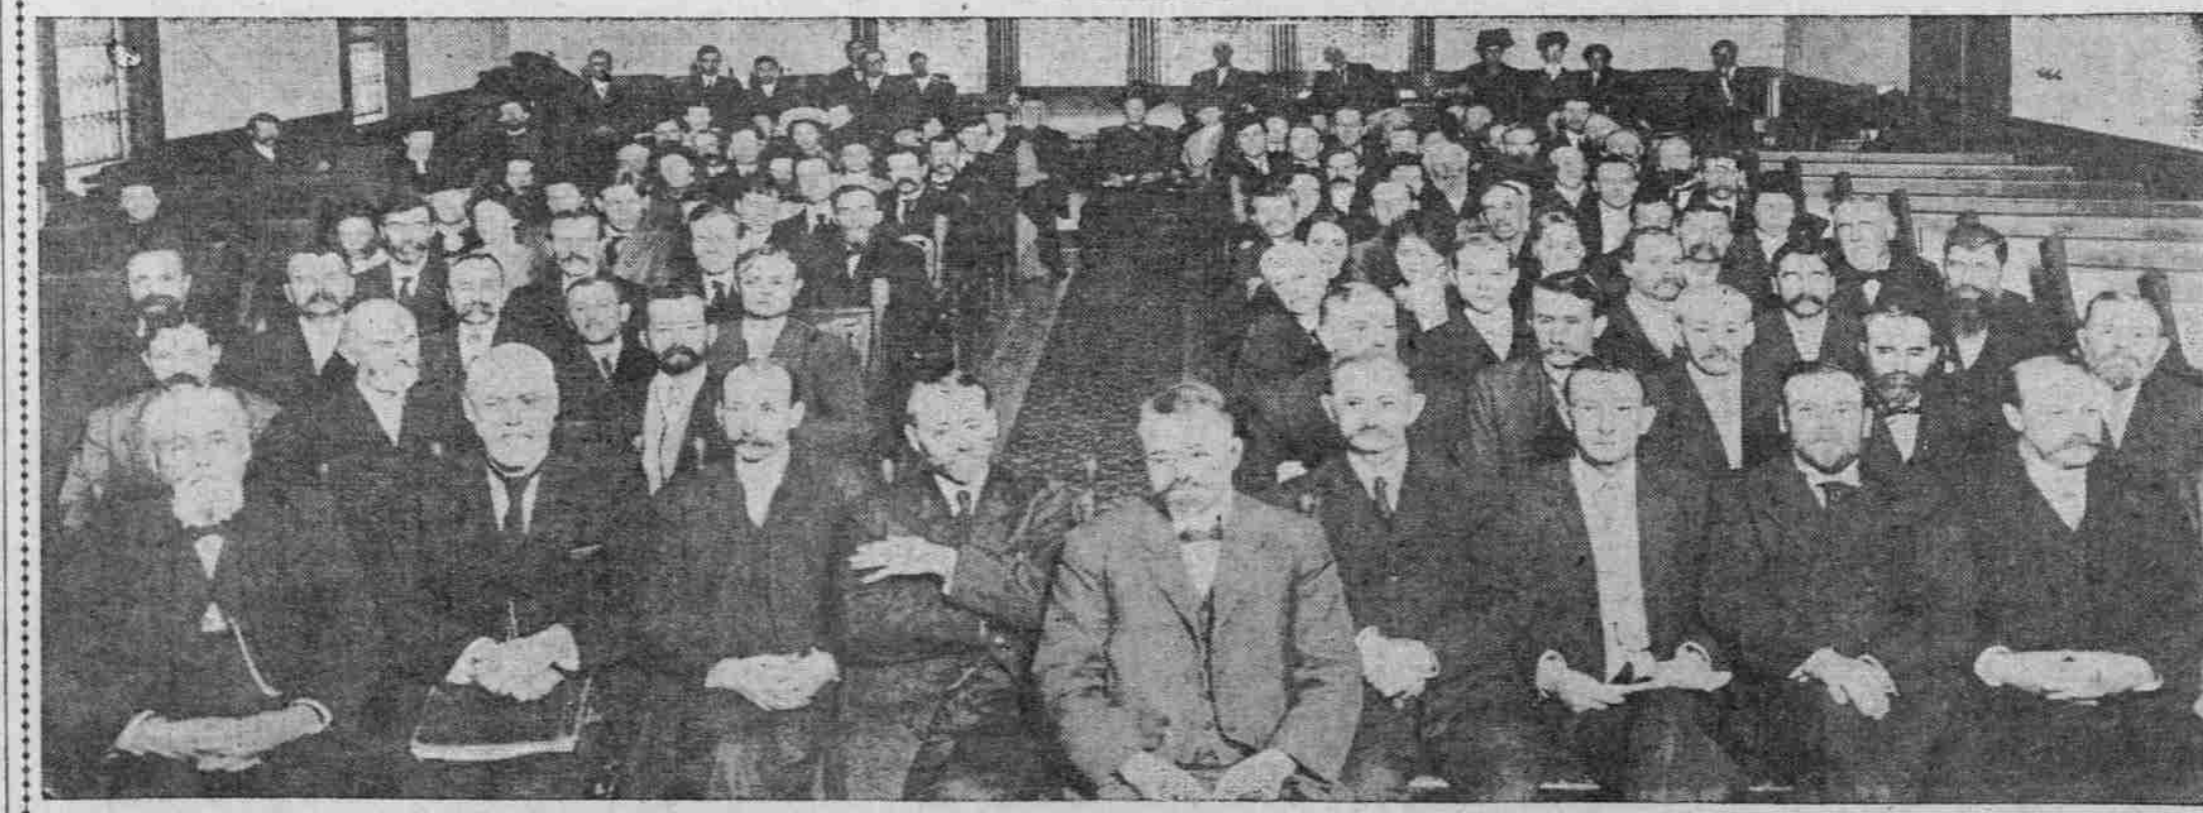

"The Catholics complain that the Methodists are proselyting among their members in Rome, and that Catholic authorities cannot in any way give recognition to Methodism.
