MAYUR UNABLE TO CLOSE DANGEHALL

License Committee Declines to Revoke Permit of Maple Waltz Pavilion.

POLICE CONDEMN PLACE

Three-Steps on Nightly Programme Termed Shocking - Owner of Establishment Weeps at Inquiry - Ordinance Asked.

Mayor Simon's efforts to close the Maple Dancing Pavilion on Washington street, near Seventeenth street, did not swall with the license committee of the City Council. Yesterday afternoon the committee heard the manager's side of the case and declined to revoke his li-

Maple Hall is declared by Chief of Police Cox, Captain Bailey and others to be an immoral place. Immediately after the committee's action was an-nounced, Councilman Wallace requested Deputy City Attorney Grant to prepare an ordinance, the terms of which will eliminate "fancy" dances stepped in the Maple and other places. William Lilly, proprietor of the establishment, appeared before Council-tablishment, appeared before Councilmen Driscoll. Dunning and Concannon, members of the license committee; wept mrofusely; said he had been badly used by the police and others, and felt that he was not to blame for any of the trouble that has befallen him.

Mayor Simon has declared he will close the dance-hall, if possible, but as long as the Council grants Lilly a license to operate, it is difficult for the executive branch of the city government to interfere. There will undoubtedly be strong opposition to the committee's action when the Council meets tomorrow, as the recommendations of Mayor Simon, Chief Cox and Captain Bailey may weigh heavy when Captain Bailey may weigh heavy when closing the place is considered.

Among the objectionable features

Among the objectionable features named by the police are three dances known as the turkey waltz, the rag and the moonlight glide. These steps are characterized by the police as "shocking," and Lilly was ordered by Captain of Police Balley to eliminate them. Lilly refused, it is declared, and complaints against the payilion are made frequently. The "moonlight glide" is waltzed with the lights turned low. After hearing Lilly's story, Chairman Driscoll said he could see no reason why any of these dances should be "cut out." as, he said, other places in the city permit them and he believed in "fair play." • Councilman Dunning moved to file the police complaints. This carried and the report will go before the Council.

Assistant City Attorney Grant expressed the belief, upon hearing of the committee action, that there should be an ordinance against the objectionable dances named, which would give the police power to suppress them. Coun-cilman Wallace then asked him to frame such a measure.

KLAMATH FALLS CO. LOSES

Judge Bean Holds Maintenance and Operation Charges Are Due Until Half of the Cost Is Paid. System Divides Expense.

Through a decision of the United States Court, handed down yesterday by Judge Bean, an interpretation is given of that portion of the Reclamation Act authorizing the collection of maintenance and operating expenses from year

The court held that the Department of the Interior was authorized to collect construction and maintenance charges until such time as one-half of the entire cost of any project shall be paid and that particular system of irrigation shall be turned over to the management of the Water Users' Association, composed of people who are make agement of the Water Users' Association, composed of people who are making beneficial use of the water.

The question was raised by the retusal of former owners of the Klamath Falls Irrigation Company to pay an assessment of 1908 amounting to $1.50 an acre. District Attorney McCourt was compelled to bring action for the collection of the amount. In the pleadings it is recited that the Klamath collection of the amount. In the pleadings it is recited that the Klamath Falls Irrigation Company was one of the oldest water-supplying ditches in the country acquired by the Reciamation Service. Situated in the heart of the Klamath Falls project it possessed old and valuable water rights, and in the formation of the plan to reclaim lands, that system became of importance to the Service.

Pledges Made at Purchase.

Roscoe E. Cantrill and Cordella M. nkeny owned a large part of the stock of the Irrigation company and the Rec-lamation Service started into negotia-tions by which the system was acquired in April, 1905, by the payment of $50,000. Cordelia M. Ankeny at that time contracted to purchase water for the irrigation of 1700 acres of land as it should be needed and "to pay charges dely levied against such lands for the management and oversition of the management and operation of the sys

In 1968 water was delivered to the lands by the Government and the charges fixed reached $1.50 an acre, which Mrs. Ankeny refused to pay. Water was then turned off from the lands and her attorneys began suit contesting the right of the Reclamation officials to collect any charge. officials to collect any charge.
Under Section 6 of the reclamation act it was insisted that it became incumbent on the Government to con-lect all the assessments levied each year the granting of this contention would mean that the Reclamation Service would be called upon to spend $13,000,000 in the United States for maintenance and operation alone, it being aserted that all users of water under the various projects now in pro-cess of construction would take ad-vantage of the ruling. It was argued by District Attorney McCourt that such action would cripple the operations of that branch of the Government seriously, and that the contention could not be considered for the reason that the law provides that after payments have been received five very the very law of the reason that the law provides that after payments have been received five years the sys-tems shall be turned over to the local Water Users' Associations, and there-Water Users' Associations, and thereafter sil payments are made to them.

In passing on the questions raised Judge Bean pointed out that the Reclamation Service had expended $52,000,000 in the irrigation of lands by the construction of projects far too expensive for relate control to whate and for private capital to undertake, and that the purpose of the Congressional act authorizing the work was to col-lect the moneys so expended by dividing the cost on an acreage basis, payable in 10 annual installments. The court ruled that money expended for the operation and maintenance was necessary in assuring the efficiency of the service to the settler in making otherwise worthless land a productive and valuable asset, and that it was within the power of the Secretary of the Interior to make division of the annual payment between the construction and maintenance funds.

The decision is the first handed down in the Federal Court affecting the reclamation act and is considered to be of great importance in furthering the work undertaken by the Government in many places in the West.

SILETZ ENTRANT GETS APPEAL Injunction Refused C. V. Hare, Decision to Be Submitted.

Attorney A. W. Lafferty yesterday, in the United States Court, secured an order allowing an appeal from the decision of Judge Bean, who refused an injunction in the case of Chester V. Hare against August Birkenfield. The case will go to the Court of Appeals ase will go to the Court of Appeals at San Francisco. Hare was one of the original settlers in the Siletz Indian Reservation whose claim had not been passed to patent because of the general order issued by the Department of the Interior demanding an investigation of all claims. Hare submitted final proofs, which were accepted and forwarded.

After making final proof, August Birkenfield entered on the Hare claim as a squatter. He declares his intention of remaining on the ground to acquire a preference right of entry in case the Hare claim is canceled. The court refused to grant an injunction restraining Birkenfield from again entering on the land.

A bill is pending in Congress which is intended to cours all defeats which is intended to cure all defects which may be discovered in the final proofs of actual settlers on the Siletz lands. Should it become taken by Attorney Lafferty will be unnecessary.
