WAR ON CIGARETTE FORCED BY WOMEN

Prolonged Session of Seattle Grand Jury Begins to Take Farcical Tone.

"CLOSED TOWN" IS UNREAL

Campaign Against Dancehall Fizzles and Rink Proprietor Threatens to Combine Preaching With Vaudeville.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 27.—(Special.)— The King County grand jury, as a direct result of the activity of the Women's Clubs, will continue in session several days. Special Prosecutor William H. announced last night that the grand jury would adjourn February 21, but deliberations have been prolonged.

and the end is not yet in sight.

The women aim to suppress the cigarette and to secure prosecution of proprietors of cafes who wink at violations of the liquor law. Taking the cue from the clubs. Superior Judge J. T. Ronald instructed the grand jury to consider cases in which evidence had been submitted to the court.

mitted to the court.

For months the cigarrette law has been a deal letter in Seattle. It is understood generally that Prosecuting Attorney George H. Vanderveer regards it as non-existent, and declines to consider any cases under it. His position has been fortified by a decision of the Superior Court for Spokane County, holding the law to be unconstitutional. In Seattle anybody has been able to buy cigarettes anybody has been able to buy cigarettes similar condition has been observable restaurants, on Sundays. In scores of in restaurants, on Sundays. In scores of places drinks thinly disguised have been served. Beer comes in tall glasses, with straws, as if it were amber lemonade; and cockstalls have been served in shallow cups elaborately heaped about with ice. None but the most unsophisticated could fail to be "on," and the dream of Seattle as a "closed town" has been as unreal as the vision of a community entirely pure and innocent because the ten-unreal as the vision of a community entirely pure and linocent because the tenderion has disappeared.

When the women got after the cigarettes, it was as if a brass band had marched down Second avenue heralding the news to the world. Two hours before the learned court delivered his instructions to the grand jury, every cigarette disappeared from the downtown stands. They are not to be found there now. But the man who wants to smoke cigarettes has no difficulty in finding them.

Since the grand jury has known all about the contempt for the clgarette and liquor laws, it is not difficult to imagine that the prolonged inquiry may become farcical. There is evidence on every hand, and there has been all the while. A week and there has been all the while. A week ago gocular critics were remarking that the principal occupation of the jurymen was to eat apples and sauerkraut, and draw their pay—and all the while the cigarette and liquor law was so benored in the breach as not to be observed at all.

Dancehall Closed Two Hours.

If the Women's Clubs make no better might as well abandon the fight. Dream-iand has been running for 15 months, under the direction of Mike Fisher, erstwhile baseball magnate. It is a dancehal while baseball magnate. It is a dancehall, patronized largely by clerks, servant girls and young people in humble circumstances. At the suggestion of the Women's Clubs, it was closed—and it remained closed two hours. Fisher has been indicted for admitting male and female persons under 21 to a public dance. In his behalf, it is urged that the police of Seattle did the same thing a short time ago at their annual ball.
On account of the agitation against Dreamland, Fisher has announced that he would run a combination church and vaudeville entertainment, with a sermon, a song and a "stunt" to enable his patrons to enjoy themselves. In some quarters, he has been taken seriously, and at least one preacher has offered to sign for an engagement to deliver addresses Fisher declares that if Dreamland is closed, he will carry out his programme.

He proposes to employ D. E. Dugdale, the corpulent baseball manager, as belfry boy, even if he has to enlarge the hole in the belfry; and his aides who pass the plate will wear bathing suits without

Sheriff to Be Prosecuted.

While there are absurdities chargeable to the grand judy, a sober phase has developed in the employment of Assistant Attorney-General George A. Lee to prosecute the charges against Sheriff Robert Hodge. Lee came to the front promi-nently in his conduct of the Schively imeachment before the special session of the Legislature last year, and his reten-tion is likely to be a serious matter for Hodge. The Sheriff has been indicted on two counts. He is charged with having released a prisoner, and with having profited by boarding prisoners at the County Jail.

The latter accusation deals with the board of Federal prisoners and translents lodged in the King County Jail—and the profit is made in the difference between the actual cost of the food and the sum demand for restitution; Hodge refused, and was indicted.

Shedding his coat, the silvery-haired octogenarian skipped into the middle of the room and for ten minutes in-dulged in the execution of such fancy steps as the double shuffle, buck and wing, pigeon wing and heel and toe. COMPROMISE IS REFUSED Committee Named, However, to Meet Promoters and Commissioners. Opposition to Use of Highways Is Not Abated.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Feb. 27.—(Special.) Representatives of the commercial odies of Aberdeen, Hoquiam, Elma, and Montesano met in conference at the City Hall here today and after a discussion of the franchise of the proposed Grays Harbor Interurban went on record as opposed to granting right of way on the county roads. The only contention of the meeting came with the suggestion that, if the County Commissioners stood firm in their determination to grant a franchise along county roads, the franchise should be amended as suggested by the meeting today. This as suggested by the meeting today. This suggestion was opposed with the ples for 'no compromise,' it being contended that the majority of those at the meeting, who had been selected by the people in Chehalis County, were opposed to any franchise wherein the county should give up any portion of its highways.

Road Important as Street. Thomas Harlan, of Oakville, declared that the county roads were as important to the rural districts as a principal street was to a city.

J. W. Strubel, speaking for the Elma delegation, declared that although his city wanted the interurban, it was not wanted over county roads.

F. H. Lamb, of Hoquiam, caused dis-cussion when he read resolutions adopted by the Hoquiam Commercial Club, which stipulated conditions under which the franchise should be allowed. Opponents of Mr. Lamb contended that modifications were of secondary consideration and that the point was to keep the railroad off the highways.

Committee Is Named.

W. J. Pattersen, of this city, said that the appearance of two delegations from Oakville, in addition to the large number of local men above the stipulated num-ber, had led to hints of "gang rule."
