The Time to Buy Stock

in this Company is now. It will never be so low again and it is highly probable that after a little while none can be found at any price. It will be laid aside by prudent investors, appreciating the dividends which must eventually come from the company's success, dividends that promise to be so great that the stock will never be sold by the owners except under stress of absolute necessity.

From "The Western Underwriter," September 10, 1908
