BRAVE ACT SAVES LIVES

Hospital Engineer Pulls Fire When Condenser Pressure Mounts.

But for the promptitude of Engineer Bunker, at the Good Samaritan Hospital yesterday morning, numerous hospital employees would have been injured, the ice-making machine destroyed and possibly the steam boiler blown up.

In some way not at present understood, the hospital water supply was shut off yesterday. The first indication of this was given by an employee who happened to glance at the gauge on the ammonia condenser. He saw that in place of registering 120 pounds pressure, 270 pounds was indicated.

With a yell the man fled. As other employees comprehended the situation they crawled behind wood and coal piles.

Bunker dashed for the steam boiler and raked at the firebars till he had completely drawn the fire and danger was averted. Engineers say Bunker did this in danger of his life. Inquiry failed to elicit who had turned off the water, the foreman of a water-main gang on Marshall street saying that his men had not touched the plugs.

Ice experts say that the condenser could not possibly have lasted more than a few minutes under the increased pressure and would have exploded.

POPE, MUSIC-THRILLED, WELCOMES AMERICAN

On Last Visit to Rome, Mme. Maud Powell Takes Sick Musician's Place at Mass and Renders Violin Solo in Such Manner as to Call Forth the Desire of Leo XIII for Audience.

SOME years ago Mme. Maud Powell, who appears at the Bungalow Theater Monday night, made a tour through Italy, and after having seen the beautiful South she retraced her steps, returning to the Eternal City, where she spent several weeks.

Her visit fell at a time when the Pope, Leo XIII, celebrated a special mass in St. Peter's, taking from the archives the ancient music of Pergolesi, which had never been heard outside the sacred precincts of the Cathedral.

Mme. Powell was fortunate in securing permission, through the American Ambassador, to attend the service. Arriving an hour or so early, she was conducted through this church of churches, accompanied by her husband and the American Ambassador, and shown the wonders of the sacred edifice, dwelling particularly on the beauties of the music rooms and the choir.

Suddenly there was confusion and rushed talking, and a man was carried out. Asking information of the guide, it was found that the first violinist, who for years had played a certain solo in the Benedictus, had been taken suddenly ill.

Quick as a flash Mme. Powell offered her services as a substitute. The mighty organ pealed forth, sending sounds of beauty and grandeur reverberating through the great massive arches. The chorus expression clear and voice and few bars later the sound of the solo violin was heard in the beautiful solo, suggestive of the voice of an angel speaking from heaven to give sinful mankind solace, peace and love.

Although Mme. Powell had never seen nor heard the music before, she played with such exquisite expression that a thrilled hush fell upon the listeners.

After mass Mme. Powell received the silent, but nevertheless genuine, thanks of the choir and especially of the good choir-master, who, with tears in his eyes, confessed that he had never heard that solo as Mme. Powell had played it. The Pope sent a message of thanks to his violinist, for the beautiful solo which had moved him so deeply.

Being told of the true circumstances by the choir-master, who was liberal enough to think that a young American woman had generously offered to substitute for the regular violinist who had been suddenly indisposed. Whereupon His Holiness sent a special invitation bidding Mme. Powell to his presence. The following day Mme. Powell was ushered into the holy presence at the Vatican, where she was honored with a conversation of long duration, so long indeed as to extend far beyond the time allotment of 15 minutes, even though lines of people were kept waiting in the ante-rooms. The delightful sequel of this memorable interview was a beautiful Venetian glass goblet, which His Holiness instructed to be sent to Mme. Powell.

FIRE MENACES HOSPITAL

Small Blaze Discloses Rotten Hose and Frozen Hydrants.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 4.—(Special).—A serious condition of affairs at Nanaimo's general hospital was disclosed last week, when a chimney fire brought the fire brigade to the hospital, to find that all the hydrants were frozen tight, the standpipe hose was rotten, and there was no modern facilities for the safety of the patients.

The blaze was extinguished with chemicals, and now the Nanaimo authorities are showing that they appreciate the object lesson on what might happen.

THE AEROPLANE MEET MARKS PORTLAND'S PROGRESS VISITORS TO PORTLAND:

YOU HAVE COME TO SEE THE AEROPLANES. Do not fail to see Portland and Alameda Park, the most progressive residence section. It pays to invest in real estate situated in a growing city.

PORTLAND IS GROWING. ALAMEDA PARK is situated adjoining and overlooking Irvington, and is being sold under higher building restrictions, and subject to higher class improvements, even wires underground. Besides, a central heating plant is being planned to supply all future residents of this park with heat.

This is the FIRST residence section to announce this FINAL WORD OF UP-TO-DATENESS.

The Broadway carline is now at the entrance and is being extended to the center of the tract. This last fact alone is sufficient grounds for a wonderful advance in lot values.

Place your money in Portland real estate, and, better yet, place it in Alameda Park, the cream of Portland's residence section, with a rapidly developing future before it.

All those wishing to see the Park, should call at the Alameda Land Company offices, 322 Corbett building.

Irrigated Fruit and Alfalfa Land of the Columbia River Basin

Umatilla County, at Echo, Or.

This Favored Land Has Many Advantages Over Many Other Districts

- Has the earliest Springs and latest Falls. Has more sunshine than Los Angeles, California. Has no killing frost for seven months. Has the deepest and richest heavy lava ash soil. Has the best drainage. Has the smoothest surface. Has the greatest power to hold moisture. Has more inducements to make a permanent home. Has the most healthful climate. Has the best flavored fruits. Has the biggest apples, with finest color and luster. Has the best constructed canals. Has the most reliable water supply. Has the best markets and transportation.

This beautiful and rich country is now attracting many people for its most wonderful productivity. It grows crops immediately when water is applied. Don't speculate; buy the very best for the least money and best terms. You will get results from the start in this district; because you can grow more boxes of apples, more tons of hay and alfalfa, more potatoes, more melons, more onions, more berries, more grapes, and all garden produce to the acre than usually is produced in our already famous districts. Everything is in readiness for the water necessary to produce the results. It is necessary to supply all the water necessary to produce the results. It is America's greatest paradise. In order to have proper conception of this wonderful country it must be seen. It will astonish you if you give it an investigation. There is one reason only why these high-class lands can be sold at such low prices—because its mammoth canal system of 40 miles was so easy to build and construct, not being near as expensive to put water on each acre of land as is the case in most of all the famous projects, hence every acre can be sold at a great reduction, and this very land exceeds in quality, location and contour nearly all other projects; so this is the key to the situation. It is your opportunity—you should look this over before making a decision. We invite an investigation. For a copy of our new illustrated booklet, just off the press, write or call on
