Small Omnibus Public Building Bill May Include Part of Portland's Request, if Ellis' Efforts Shall Succeed.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, March 4 .- Now that it has been decided to pass a small omnibus public building bill this session. Representative Ellis has asked for an appropriation to start a new postoffice at Portland.

Because of the modest proportions of the bill which will be reported as real-izes it to be impossible to get the $1,500,000 as recomended by the treasal. 500,000 as recomended by the treasury, but will try to secure sufficient aid at least to purchase a new rite and have the limit of cost of the building fixed so plans can be prepared. It is the idea of the department to purchase an eitherly new site and erect thereon a two-story building exclusively for a postoffice, turning over the present building to the Federal courts and other government offices now quartered there.

now quartered there.

The department believes $500,00 will buy a suitable site and Ellis will ask for this amount. He will also ask for $8000 or $10,000 to buy a public building site at The Dalles.

ments he submitted were all that probably bore on the case. He insisted, however, that there was "the unavoidable inference that Mr. Ballinger had communicated in some other way with the President,"

Mr. Vertrees also brought out that the co-operative agreement with the Forest Service, which Mr. Ballinger discontinued, was not the usual arrangement whereby one department lends its employes temporarily to another, but provided that employes of the Interior Department should be under the exclusive partment should be under the exclusive control and jurisdiction of the forester. As soon as Mr. Pinchot took the stand this morning Attorney Vertrees asked him this question:

"Mr. Pinchot, please state one single fact of your own knowledge that reflects upon Mr. Ballinger's conduct either as Commissioner of the Land Office or as Secretary of the Interior—not hearsay, nor what somebody else said or wrote—of your own knowledge."

The witness hesitated. Then he addressed Senator Neison, saying:
"Mr. Chairman: In order to answer that question, because of the nice discriminations it involves. I must ask your permission to refer to a list I have of the things Mr. Ballinger has

The permission was granted, and after a perusal of the list, Mr. Pinchot said:

"What else?" "I never discussed the Cunningham cases with Mr. Ballinger. The only knowledge I have at first hand is limknowledge I have at first hand is limited to writings that are not disputed."

Questioned as to the reprimand he gave Assistant Law Officer Shaw and Assistant Forester Price, Mr. Pinchot admitted that "at heart" he approved of the motives of the two in doing what they did, but did not approve of their methods of doing it.

Mr. Pinchot said that up to the time he sent Glavis to President Taft, the relations between himself and Mr. Ballinger had been "fairly friendly; not more than that." He was not more friendly because he knew Mr. Ballinger's views as to conservation were different from his own.

"Then you were unfriendly?"

Referring to his testimony that Mr. Ballinger, as Commissioner of the Land Office, protested against the creation of the Chugach Forest Reserve in Alaska, in which some of the Cunning-ham claims are located, Mr. Pinchot said he had never read Mr. Ballinger's

The witness frankly stated it had been his policy to withdraw lands for forest ranger stations when they were not needed for that purpose, but were withdrawn to protect possible power "So that was your policy, and Secre-

Mr. Pinchot said that his "impression" was that he had once spoken to Secretary Wilson about the question, but he was not willing to swear to it.

Mr. Vertrees read a letter addressed by Secretary Wilson to the Controller of the Treasury, saying that he had learned of the plan of sending the rangers to college after Mr. Pinchot had left the service.

Democratic members of the committee, taking up the examination, brought from the witness the fact that before the policy of sending the rangers to college had been adopted it had been the practice to have camp schools from time to time. Mr. Vertrees again questioned the witness regarding his assertions that Mr. Ballinger in a report to the Presi-dent concerning the Cunningham coal cases had been guilty of falsehoods in three essential particulars. MACHINE RECORDS LOVE Register of Affections Great Boon to the Bashful.

New York Telegraph.

If you happen to be bashful, which you possibly may be, in the gentle art of woolng, you may right now take unto yourself cheer, jollity, mirth, and satisfaction, for all your troubles can soon be over. You may have to become a phthymographter to make things right and you might regard yourself as a good deal of a cuss to do that, but you would have the reset that, but you would have the exact and precise knowledge which is so satisfying.

All you have to do is to lure the object of your affections over to Philadelphia, and then out to the laboratory of the psychological clinic of the University of Pennsylvania. The rest is easy. With a careless air you inveigle her to place her dainty hand—of course, the hand is dainty—in a machine which you will notice is labeled "phthymograph" or "phygmograph." Then you step into the next room and get the man in charge of the machine to whisper your name softly in her ear. the man in charge of the machine to whisper your name softly in her ear. The machine does the rest. If she had merely a sneaking regard for you, or if she is indifferent, or if she just palpitates within when she thinks of you, the machine will show it. The indicator will tell you the real story in the next room.

The machine registers a distinct line on a sheet of paper, which records with precise accuracy the force of the emo-tions which are aroused by the men-

Create "Preference"

The very highest type of advertising is that which creates a deep and permanent preference for a certain brand of frequently-needed goods. In only a few cases need the "preference" be so strong as to prompt mail-order buying.

The great majority of advertisable products are sold in stores, and it is enough if the "preference" induces the buyer to say "Ivory," instead of just saying "soap."

In this kind of "preference" advertising and also in the kind which demands a more radical and immediate response, THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL has proven itself extraordinary among publications for women.

Women are concerned and influential in the purchase of many commodities which are not for their exclusive use. Wherever there is a LADIES' HOME JOURNAL there is a home.

PLATE WORK

While Dr. W. A. Wise exercises a general supervision over the entire business, yet this particular branch receives most of his attention, and he is probably the greatest plate expert on the Pacific Coast. Elderly people find Dr. Wise's methods soothing, reassuring and always scientific. The plate must fit perfectly or it can't leave the office, and to insure this perfection a sample plate is first molded and fitted. Errors, if any, are corrected, so that when your plate is finished and set, it looks well, chews your food well and causes no anneyance or discomfort. In other words, it is perfect.
