ANTI-VACATION PETITION OUT .- The East Slide Business Men's Ciub is circulating a petition asking the Council to vote against vacation of the streets sought by the O. R. & N. Co., between East Oak street and Holladay avenue, except on the conditions set forth in resolutions adopted by the club. The resolutions ask a comby the club. The resolutions ask a common user amendment to the East Second-street franchise, right to cross terminals for the West Side approach of the Broad-way bridge, right to build viaducts over the streets vacated and to build a freight depot. The Business Men's Club's petition is in answer to the petition circulated by Thomas Hislop asking for vacation of the streets. Both petitions will be presented to the Council at the same time. C. A. Bigelow, member of the Business Men's Club, says petitioners who signed Mr. Hislop's petition are also signing the counter petition. "Mr. Hislop's petition," said Mr. Bigelow, "calls for protection of the interests of the city without specifying in what way, while our petition is definite and there can be no mistake as to its meaning." The Business Men's Club's petimistake as to its meaning."

DONKEY ENGINE RAZES OLD PLANT .- T A. Sweeney, who had the contract for tearing down the old East Portland pump-ing station, at Milwaukie avenue and Powell street, pulled the building down with a donkey engine yesterday. The engine had been used during the week in digging a basement for a stable across the street. Contractor Sweeney decided upon using the engine when he realized that there might be danger of loss of life if a few of the beams were torn out at a time. As the building now lies flat it will be easy to remove the debris. rooklyn Improvement Club is working have this corner made into a children's playground, notwithstanding its proximity to the stable and the Brooklyn sewer. The pumping station was put up 18 or 20 years ago before East Portland became a part of Portland.

GRAND-AVENUE ROUTE FAVORED .- The extension of Grand avenue south from Elisworth street is considered the best route to the Reed Institute. Dr. Day Raffety, former member of the Park Board, says this route is the most direct and scenic that could be selected. The Seventh Ward, he says, could do nothing better to build up that district than to promote the extension of Grand avenue promote the extension of Grand avenue south to a connection with Milwaukie street as proposed by W. J. Clemens. This route is a part of the boulevard system as laid out by the Olmsteds. To make the route effective it might be necessary to widen Milwaukie street where it passes the Long property. This would not be a difficult improvement.

DEBUSSY HAS CAKEWALK

MISS POWELL TO PLAY FRENCH-. MAN'S NEW PIECE.

Woman Violinist Tells How She Succeeded by Giving Feminine Touch to Art.

BY LEONE CASS BAER. -Twenty minutes out of yesterday

Enter interviewer on the heels of her card, borne by important Oriental of condescending manner. Miss Powell, crinkling her little, dark face into sunburst of smiles:

"Oh, we're just in the midst of a rehearsal. I've a brand new piece. I simply must run over it with Mr. Liachowsky." She pronounces it glibly and interviewer marvels thereat.) Business of Mr. Llachowsky thrum-ming gently on the keys while Miss Powell explains about the "new piece."

"You see," says this Diana of the Bow, "I've only just received permission to add it to my repertoire. The new piece is called The Gollywog, and it's a cake-walk. Now isn't that a departure for Debussy?

"Debussy is a decodent world of "Debussy is a decadent model of French composers. His music, 1 belleve, has caused more actual discussion than that of any other of the modern composers, unless perhaps one excepts Strauss. Debussy creates in tone, in color, and in perfume. There is an atmosphere of subtlety in his composition. The one if an aparticularly intermosphere of subtlety in his composi-tion. The one I am particularly inter-ested in is this 'Gollywog' composition.

'It is little less than a shock to think of Debussy in connection with a cake-walk. He has caught the real Ameri-can spirit and sentiment of the cake-walk, and has idealized it and intro-public," said Miss Powell, speaking of her own work, "I was the first Ameri-can woman to undertake it. Even my own people felt that I was disgracing the family, and the critics, while lauda-tory, and even loyal, for years con-veyed a 'but,' so that I overdid the masculine qualities, attempted to draw too large a tone, accented rythms too much and was domineering in style. much and was domineering in style.

"Finally two or three critics suggested that I cultivate the more feminine side of my art. This was the psychological moment, I believe, when I forced recognition because I was a woman, and in spite of the fact that I

Architect Bennett Boosts for

GREAT FUTURE PREDICTED

"Evidences of a remarkable growth in the last few years are everywhere this city, at the Commercial Club, yesplan will conform in every way to the future growth and pecessities of Port-

Mr. Bennett has not wet been formally engaged by the executive committee of the league, and was reticent about discussing in detail the proposed work ere. He will meet with the members of the committee some time during the week, when his services probably will be engaged and the preliminary task of working out the problem will begin. For the same reason, Mr. Bennett would for the same reason, Mr. Bennett would not tell of his impressions of Portland as relating to the possibilities of a systematic plan for making it still more attractive. Mr. Bennett said he would reserve any discussion of the subject until he can inform himself better of the other and the subject that the continuous statement was a subject to the su ter of the city and its needs.

Correcting the impression entertained by some people, Mr. Bennett said the plan for civic improvement, under con-sideration by the league, was not destructive but constructive. He said the plan did not contemplate in any sense the immediate expenditure of a large sum of money or the condemnation of valuable property. On the other hand, explained the expert, the scheme has for its purpose the adoption of a general plan, suited to the future necessities of the city, which may be followed as a matter of practical economy in the final working out of which a great many years will be required. The scheme involves every phase of municipal activity—terminsis, public utilities, river and docks, wholesale and retail districts, residence districts, public buildings, parks and boulevards. By Mr. Bennett parks are not considered valuable alone for their attractiveness but from the standpoint of the public health. Every city, he contends, should have a system of parks, the number of which should be based on a per capita of population. He says these resorts tend to increase the efficiency of citizenship as a working unit.

Although a young man Mr. Bennett

Although a young man, Mr. Bennett is an enthusiast and thoroughly con-versant with the work in which he is engaged. He is not without experience, for he has been associated with a sim-ilar movement in Chicago, where the practicability of a systematic direction

Professor Dryden, of O. A. C., to Address Juniors March 11.

Professor James Dryden, head of the department of poultry husbandry of the Oregon Agricultural College, will be the speaker at the next regular meeting of the Portland Junior Poultry Associa-tion, March 11, in the Y. M. C. A. Audi-

The subject will be "The Poultry In-dustry." Some 75 lantern slides will be used in Illustrating the address. Pro-fessor Dryden will describe some of the large plants at Petaluma. Cal., and after the address will conduct a question box.
In his visit here Professor Dryden will make the second inspection of the poultry yards of the boys and girls en-tered in the poultry contest of the junior association. The inspection will take place Thursday and Friday. Friday evening all the contestants will attend a banquet at the Y. M. C. A., to be given by the executive committee to Profes-sor Dryden, and after the banquet will attend the meeting in the auditorium.

The junior association will hold its first poultry show Friday and Saturday April 29 and 30, when all the boys and girls who are taking the reading course in poultry husbandry will be asked to exhibit. The premium list will be pub-lished shortly. One of the features will be a crowing contest between a number of roosters. The show will be held at the Y. M. C. A.

NEGLECT MUST BE SHOWN

Correspondent Inquires if Great Northern Is Liable for Disaster.

OREGON CITY, Or., March 6.—(To the Editor.)—Is the Great Northern liable for damages for the death and injury of passengers resulting from the recent slides on its line, or are such disasters classified as an act of God?

Unless it can be shown that the railroad company was negligent in a ma-terial way, Portland lawyers are agreed that claimants for damages in a disaster such as that at Wellington can-not recover. To show negligence on the part of the railroad it will be necessary for the complainant to prove that the railroad had a knowledge of the dangerous conditions surrounding its track and failed to take reason-able precautions to guard against an accident. This is the basic principle on which all such suits must depend on which all such suits must depend and, unless supported by necessary evidence of negligence, all such accidents are attributed legally as "an act of God." In all such cases, it is for the jury to decide from the evidence adduced at the trial whether the railroad company was in possession of knowledge of danger and that, being in possession of such knowledge, it neglected to provide necessary safeguards for the protection of its passengers.
