

DOBBY HOW BOYS BIG PLANT Pacific Milling & Elevator Company Purchases The Dalles Mill. $456,000 CLOSES DEAL Campbell-Sanford-Henley Corporation Now Also Controls Wasco Milling and Warehouse Interests in Two Counties.

The Pacific Milling & Elevator Company, of this city, a new milling company, the stock of which is controlled by the Campbell-Sanford-Henley Company, has bought out the Wasco warehouse & Milling Company, of The Dalles. The price paid for the property has not been divulged by the principals to the transaction, but a report from The Dalles states that the amount is $456,000.

The property involved in the deal consists of the Wasco Company's mill at The Dalles, a large warehouse system in Sherman and Wasco counties and the electric power plant on the Snake River, from which power is supplied to The Dalles and other towns in Wasco and Sherman counties.

Mill Is of Large Capacity. The Dalles mill has a capacity of 1400 barrels daily. The company has had a large local trade at The Dalles, as well as at Portland, and has shipped extensively to California and the Orient. Its brands, the "White River" and "E. & M." are well-known in all the coast markets.

The Wasco Warehouse & Milling Company was organized eight years ago with a capital stock of $300,000. This was increased two years ago to $600,000. The Portland Company will take possession of the property on July 15.

New Firm Planned Mill Here. The Pacific Milling & Elevator Company was organized for the purpose of entering the milling business in Portland. It was the intention to erect a large mill in this city, but owing to unavoidable delays, it was deemed advisable to secure a mill already in operation, which would give further time to prepare for the Portland improvement.

The property on which it is proposed to erect a mill, near the elevator on the Portland in the Mays tract, at the foot of North Seventeenth street, where the company owns four acres with a river frontage. The Campbell-Sanford-Henley Company, the head offices of which are in the Concord building, this city, is one of the best-known grain firms in the Northwest.

It has branches throughout the grain sections of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, also at Seattle, San Francisco, Eureka and Los Angeles.

SALE MEANS MUCH FOR CITY The Dalles Will Benefit by Purchase of Wasco Milling Company.

THE DALLES, Or., March 11.—C. B. Simmons, of Portland, was the broker who engineered the Wasco Warehouse & Milling Company deal at the meeting yesterday, with F. T. Griffith, attorney for the Portland General Electric Company.

The sale means much for The Dalles. New capital comes in and money which has been tied up in the concern by stockholders, all local men, will now be turned for the most part into other local channels. It is expected that a large amount of capital has come into this city.

Unlimited electric power is assured for The Dalles in the near future, it is evidenced by the fact that E. W. Thomas, of Philadelphia, asked the Council, at its meeting next week, for a franchise to operate an electric line in this city. The road is to be financed by the Philadelphia capitalists who recently purchased 400 acres of the Fleck vineyard tract outside the city limits for $50,000.

AUTO TIED, FUN FOLLOWS Frisky Newsboy's Act Leads to Fight and Three Arrests.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The alleged mischievousness of Larrie Greenspan, 14 years of age, in this city, is being talked up by the newspapers who sell papers at Washington and Fulton streets, Jamaica, in tying up an automobile belonging to Frank J. Kane, of Broadway at Forty-first street, Manhattan, was the cause of no end of excitement in Jamaica, and led to the arrest of three persons.

Kane's car stopped in front of Mindes Hotel about 7 o'clock, and while no one was looking some one, alleged to be Greenspan, came in from the rear, and made an attempt to start the car. He was extremely difficult for the car to proceed.

Kane happened to return to his machine just as a number of the boys were gleefully turning away. He dived at one whom he believed to be the culprit and gave him a slap in the face. Nicholas E. Gienn, of 411 Shelton avenue, Jamaica, who chanced around at that time, saw the man grab at the boy, and took a hand in the scarp.

A lively mixup then ensued between Kane and Gienn. An officer suddenly arrested the two, and they were taken immediately before Magistrate Connolly, who was around town, and who held night court in the Crooner's room.

what he was doing. He swears that James Thompson was the faro dealer and "Jesse James" the lookout. Ever since that night, he swears, he has been paralyzed, and in consequence suffers from an impediment in speech. "During the game," says Bell in his affidavit, "Thompson suggested that I give him a check for $50,000 for my losses. I said I would not give him a check. Then he asked me to sign some papers which I believed were I. O. U.'s. Later I was told that I owed $50,000 more, and I signed what I supposed were I. O. U.'s for that amount also."

Magor says that he knows nothing of an affidavit, that he never, he says, wrote in the ordinary course of business from James Thompson, and he is an innocent holder. The affidavit of Bell was held by Magor, it is contended by Bell, is one of the I. O. U.'s.

The affidavit of Bell was taken in Florida, where he is now living on account of his ill health. It was made on an order from Justice Morchousau, of the Supreme Court, directing Bell to give his testimony before trial.

OLD TRAGEDY IS RETOLD MILAN REVIVES TALE OF MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF MEYERLING. Death of Archduke Rudolf and Baroness Vesteria Now Said to Have Been Suicidal.

MILAN, March 11.—(Special.)—The mysterious tragedy of Meyerling, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and the death of Baroness Vesteria, his wife, is once more being revived, and the most contradictory and fantastic stories are being told. What is alleged to be the truth regarding the terrible affair is now told to the Corriere della Sera by a trustworthy man, who heard the story direct from Count Constantin Nigra, one of the most eminent of Italian diplomats, who helped the Empress Eugenie to flee from the Tuilleries on September 2, 1870, when the Napoleonic dynasty fell.

At the time of the Meyerling tragedy, which occurred on January 30, 1889, Count Nigra was Italian Ambassador in Vienna. He enjoyed the special favor of the Austrian court, and the Emperor Francis Joseph entertained him with the greatest esteem for him. Soon after the tragedy Count Nigra, in confidence, told to the informant of the Corriere della Sera he had been told by the Austrian ambassador in Vienna, he enjoyed the special favor of the Austrian court, and the Emperor Francis Joseph entertained him with the greatest esteem for him.

Without speaking, the servant raised the Count Nigra as usual the archduke's forehead. Behind the right ear there was a great round hole in the archduke's skull. Evidently the skull had been smashed by a bullet or a cannonball. A few minutes later the body was smashed by a bullet or a cannonball. A few minutes later the body was smashed by a bullet or a cannonball.

ORATORS AND POLITICS Former in America Is Tolerated; Different Abroad. Harper's Weekly.

The fact is, Americans make a point of allowing each side to have its inning in turn and without opposition from its opponents. The habit holds especially good at political meetings. It is the first of all rules at such gatherings in America that the speaker should be listened to simply because he is the speaker and without reference to the quality of his speech. The man on the platform may be an orator or he may be, though few Americans are, unable to string two sentences together—it does not matter. No matter what the audience and the speaker in a deathless adjective described as the "inextinguishable hospitality of Americans" embraced equally a bore and a Gladstone. Each is followed with undiscriminating courtesy.

WOLF IS KILLED WITH AX Beast Had Dispatched Eight Hounds and Then Came Back.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., March 11.—James Hardie, farmer, who lives near Oak Grove, killed a vicious wolf with an ax a few months ago after the animal had attacked him. Hardie had eight young hounds in his barn and the wolf entered and killed them. When the hounds were out the wolf ran away. It soon returned, and Hardie, learning of its presence, went out with his sons to kill it.

He seized the ax and killed the animal by chopping its head from its body. A number of sheep and dogs had been killed in that vicinity lately by some mysterious marauder, presumably this wolf. This is the second wolf to be killed in this county within a month, a big white sheep being shot by a party of hunters near Julien recently.

Consul Paul Lang writes from Sherbrooke that the total immigration into Canada from April 1 to November 30 was 100,236, as against 116,506 in the corresponding period of 1908, an increase of 20 per cent. The United States the immigration total 1,100,000, an increase of 10 per cent. Arrivals at ocean ports numbered 78,268, a 6 per cent increase.

PUBLICITY'S CURE Herbert Knox Smith Says Confidence Follows Candor.

NEW FIELD IS EXPLORED Abuses Growing With Rise of Corporations Call for Restraint, but Prosecution Should Be Last Resort of All.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The annual report of the Commissioner of Corporations, Herbert Knox Smith, was made public today. It begins with the declaration that the growth of corporations has given rise to abuses that call for restraint that shall "take the place of the old personal obligation." They cannot now deny that the Government is concerned in their business, the Commissioner says. "Corporate managers themselves are continuing," he says, "advocating more open accounting. One by one the great silent corporations are seeking public confidence by adopting a new policy of publicity." He adds:

"The situation is thus ready for a complete system where (1) all important interstate commercial corporations shall regularly make reports to a Federal agency; where (2) that agency shall have the right to verify and extend the facts presented; where (3) business transactions of public interest shall be made public, safeguarding the public against the disclosure of secrets; where (4) there will be a permanent meeting ground for co-operation and adjustment between the Government and business; and (5) whereby those corporations that deal fairly and openly shall correspondingly acquire public confidence and respect."

Prosecution Last Resort. Mr. Smith says that prosecution should be reserved as the last resort. He urges a system of co-operation for the control of abuses. "A system of practical publicity, with co-operation," he says, "will obtain that requires for all wise measures, reliable information, it will involve no drastic action. It will, indeed, forestall such action. It will bring against business evils the overwhelming force of public opinion. It will be backed by, and make effective, penal law where prosecution is necessary. Suspects will be broadly prevented wrong beforehand instead of punishing isolated cases afterwards. It will remove unjust prejudice; it will improve the standards of corporate securities, both at home and abroad; it will tend toward more open and more uniform corporate accounting. Finally, it will help to give our business machinery that foundation of fairness and openness and public confidence which it must have if it is to be a permanent factor in our National economy."

The report declares that through the Bureau of Corporations "the Federal Government has deliberately taken the side of the fair user of our commercial forces. The instrument of the Bureau in its work has been 'efficient publicity.' It has relied on the power of the press, the American people, and its compelling force when concentrated intelligently on a business wrong. It has reported to the country, clearly and accurately, the operations of great industries. Business facts and their meaning have been set forth in brief and plain language that is available to all. It has thus evoked that intelligent public opinion that will protect honest business and condemn unfair practices."

"It has been pioneer work on a vast subject, but the results have shown what can be done and how to do it. A great awakening has taken place in recent years as to our business methods. The Bureau does not assert that it has done anything but what it should do. But it does contend that the principles which it has used are the same ones which have brought about this awakening and will continue to bring about it. The Bureau has proved by results that its methods are fit for broad application. Under the public condemnation thus made possible by facts plainly stated, the abuses have been abandoned. A sweeping system of railroad rate discriminations has been voluntarily canceled by the railroad companies. A number of forms of commercial oppression have diminished."

HATPIN JABS MAN'S NOSE Accident Occurs While He Looks at Same Sort of Cartoon.

OSAGE, Iowa, March 11.—People of this city have been commenting on the coincidence that George A. Woods, a prominent farmer living near Osage, was stabbed through the nose last Sunday by a long handle on the head of a young woman, while waiting for the mail that contained copies of a paper bearing on the front page a cartoon showing a similar accident. It is generally remarked that no more striking illustration of the danger pointed out in the cartoon could have been found than was afforded by the accident to Mr. Woods.

A large crowd had gathered in front of the delivery window and as the time for delivering the mail approached those waiting became closely packed together. The woman in front of Mr. Woods suddenly turned, with the result that her hatpin was jammed completely through his nose. The blood spurted from the wound and was stanching only through the services of a physician. An Sunday newspaper was opened attention was quickly called to the cartoon.

Mr. Woods is well known as an old-time printer.

SALE RUMOR DISCREDITED Pacific Coast Company Not to Buy Harriman Steamers.

Reports that negotiations are under way for the purchase by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company of the San Francisco & Portland Steamship Company are not given credence in the Harriman railroad circles here. It is stated that such a transaction is denied by officials of the road. One reason for doubting the report is that the Harriman line has recently completed two fine steamships, both of which are now on their way around the Horn to Hawaii. The two vessels, The Beaver and The Bear, will be placed on the run between Portland and San Francisco within a short time, and it is said will excel in passenger accommodations and equipment anything in the coastwise business.
