IMMUNITY NOT TO BE GIVEN IN-TRIAL

Oregon Trust Defendants Not to Be Used in Prosecution of W. H. Moore.

TRIAL BEGINS TOMORROW.

Specific Charge Is Receiving $220 Draft for Deposit After Bank Was Insolvent-Other Indictments Pending.

Walter H. Moore, president of the Oregon Trust & Savings Bank, which failed, will be placed on trial before a jury in the State Circuit Court to-morrow morning on the first of five indictments, each of which charges him with having accepted deposits at the bank when he knew the institution was insolvent. Mr. Moore's demurrer to the indictment was overruled and, all other legal preliminaries having all other legal preliminaries having to the indictment was overruled and, all other legal preliminaries having been disposed of, the task of selecting a jury will be taken up at the opening of court Tuesday.

The specific charge on which Mr. Moore will be tried first is that of accepting from Minnie Mitchell for deposit a draft on a Montana bank for $220. This transaction is alleged to have taken place about 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the last day the bank was open for business. The following morning, the officers posted a notice, saying that the bank had suspended, and the next day the same officers applied for the appointment of a receiver plied for the appointment of a receiver for the property.

Other Indictments Similar.

Other Indictments Similar.

The Mitchell woman, an invalid, was wheeled into the bank by friends and deposited the draft, the proceeds of which she needed for personal expenses. The other four indictments, similar in character, against Moore as president of the bank, allege the acceptance by him for deposit of money from other individual creditors only a few days before the bank closed its doors. There are also three other indictments against Moore, in which he, together with W. Cooper Morris, the bank's cashier, is charged with embezziling the funds of the institution. Still another indictment charges Moore and Morris with having destroyed personal property maliciously. The specific ofproperty maliciously. The specific of-fense alleged is that of tearing the names of the signers from about $90,-000 worth of notes connected with the on worth of notes connected with the remarkable system of high finance which was carried on between the bank and the Golden Eagle.

The indictment on which Mr. Moore will be tried also names the other directors of the bank, W. Cooper Morris, E. E. Lytle, H. A. Moore and Leo Friede, but in the first trial the president of the suspended bank will be the only defendant, each of the defendants having asked for a separate trial. The indictment was returned under the provisions of the state banking law enacted by the 1907 Legislature. It provides for a fine of not more than $1000 or imprisonment for not more than two years or both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Prior to the enactment of this statute, there was no law in this state by which $ankers could be reached by criminal process. which pankers could be reached by criminal process for accepting funds, knowing the bank was not solvent.

"I cannot say now what will be the plan of the prosecution after the trial of Mr. Moore has been concluded. Of course, the outcome of this first case will govern our subsequent action. It is probable that when the Moore trial is over we will proceed with the trial of the other defendants."

Mr. Moore will be defended by C. W. Fulton, ex-United States Senator, and Judge Henry E. McGinn, both of this city.

WOMAN 'COP' FINDS FAVOR

Sacramento Believes Her Warnings Will Be Punishment Enough.

BACRAMENTO, Cal., March 12.—(Special.)—Members of the Retail Merchants' Association will ask the city trustees to appoint a woman police officer, according to the announcement made today. Her duty will be principally to enforce the anti-spitting ordinance along the principal business streets.

Merchants at first talked about it as a loke, but recently the idea has been taken up seriously. The plan is to dress the feminine "cop" in a nest blue uniform, with the proper helmet and star, and have her direct the attention of men violators to the fact that they are violating the law as well as spreading disease.

The embarrassment thereby caused is

THREE DOCTORS A BOY

A letter from Richard Leek, of Calvert & Leek, contractors, of Ogden, Utah, condenses to the following:

condenses to the following:

"It is no use giving you a long story so will make it brief. Two years ago my son, 17 years old, was taken with Bright's Disease. For fourteen months was under the doctors' care. Three doctors finally gave up. The boy was so bloated with dropsy he could not button his clothes. His ankles measured 11½ inches around. The doctors said he would die, so we commenced treatment with the Repail Compound. In thirty days dropsy began to leave and his health gradually improved. He is now going to school again. I make this short, for you must be pestered with a good many of these letters. However, I want to ask a question. Having lost two years of school, he is anxious to continue. Will returning to school hurt him? etc. * If you would like a detriled account of the case will gladly send it."

The same thing happened in Oakland, . The little son of A. C. Dean, of 1726 Ninth avenue, Oakland, was also given up. He was so swollen with dropsy it looked like he could not live two weeks when put on Fulton's Renal Compound. The family physician told the distracted father death was inevitable. At that late moment he was put on the Renal Compound. And the little Dean boy also is now going to school. Is it possible that these experiences contain no message for physicians and parents who have children dying with kidney disease: It is a positive crime to withhold from patients the only thing known that gets results in chronic kidney disease. However, it is playing with Fate to wait until the last minute, for although the above extreme cases pulled out there are frequent from the patient, until nearly gone

Positive Cures For Men

I do not wish people to judge my work merely upon what I say about it. I want them to note the evidences that prove my statements correct. The proof of a physician's ability is to be found in the results he obtains, and, though I am not at liberty to supply individual names of patients as references, the marks of superior skill and service are so prominent and conspicuous as to render my doing so unnecessary. Estimate for yourself my volume of practice as compared with the practice of other Portland physicians. Is there the slightest probability that if unable to back up all my claims I would have won and retained the foremost place among specialists treating men? Could I fail to cure and yet succeed as I have? Have you ever heard of a promise of mine remaining unfulfilled, or of one of my patients being dissatisfied? Consider these things, and then come and consult me in regard to your case.
