FOR TIMBER VALUE

Claim to $450,000 Filed for Lumber Cut by Oregon Lumber Company.

RADICAL CHANGE IN POLICY

Heney Content With Criminal Case, but McCourt Tries New Method. Eccles Gives Bail and Tells Story of Controversy.

As president of the Oregon Lumber npany, David Eccles was yesterday only required to furnish a $5000 bond for his appearance in the United States Court to answer a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Government in the th-legal acquirement of timber lands, but ney John McCourt had begun a suit for the recovery of $60,000 as the value of 30,000,000 feet of lumber cut from 60 tim-ber claims which the Government alleges to be fraudulent.

Mr. Eccles appeared in the Federal building about H o'clock in the morning with Dr. E. B. McDaniels, W. E. Grace of the Portland Trust Company, Phil Metschan of the Imperial Hotel, Donald McKay of the North Pacific Lumber Company, M. C. Dickinson of the Oreser Metal, and Dr. Henry Wolds Co. 25 on Hotel, and Dr. Henry Waldo Coe, as ondsmen. The formalities of securing the release of Mr. Eccles from arrest were quite brief. As soon as United States Clerk Marsh could approve the bond offered, the Salt Lake millionaire was allowed to depart.

Mr. Eccles immediately retired to the offices of Snow & McCamant, at Second and Stark streets, where the emissaries of the Government found him at a later hour and served notices of the intention of the Government to begin an action for the government of the full market value. recovery of the full market value timber which has heretofore been of timber which has heretofore been cut from a number of the timber claims which are alleged to have been fraud-ulently obtained.

Witnesses Come by Dozen.

At the investigation held by the grand Jury, empaneled early in this month, witnesses appeared by the dozen. In almost every instance no information was volunteered for the benefit of the inquisitors, but in a large number of cases confessions are alleged to have been received after it was made apparent to the witnesses that the Government was in possession of information which would lead to the implication of the person on the stand. Then the residents of Baker City and vicinity are aid to have "loosened up," giving in-ormation which warranted the suit of The operations of the Oregon Lumber

The operations of the Oregon Lumber. Company in the vicinity of Baker City have been closed down for a period of two years, but preparations were made for a resumption during the coming Summer. The compiaint filed yesterday is sufficiently broad to warrant an interestical chould losering and milling be junction, should logging and milling be resumed this season on any of the 60 timber claims affected by the suit.

The Oregon Lumber Company is the owner of a large quantity of timber land in Baker and Grant Counties, estimated to equal approximately 200 claims of 160 each, or 144,000 acres. By far the larger number of these claims were obtained under the application of "Heu land scrip." a portion were purchased from bona fide locators and others are alleged to have been secured by conspiracy. The latter cases are the ones upon which the criminal indictment of David Eccles, president of the Oregon Lumber Company, Grant Geddes, manager for the concern, and a number of employes is based.

Civil Suit Is Innovation.

The civil suit is an innovation in Oregon timber land prosecutions. In all cases which were begun under the Heney regime the Government was satisfied to est with a criminal complaint. Ichin McCourt came to the office of United States District Attorney he has consistently followed the policy of bringing a civil suit for the value of timber actually consumed from such claims in the wake of the criminal action.

When an attempt was made to interview Mr. Eccles last night, he suavely turned the reporter over to his attorney, Zera Snow, of the firm of Snow & McCamant. Mr. Snow said:

Government Adopts Secreey.

It is not customary, as would it be unpro-fessional, for this effice to go to the public brough the medium of the press, or other-wise, with controversies entrusted to us by clients, but as the Oregon Lumber Company and its owners are among the prominent captains of industry in the development of this state. Mr. Eccles has consented, with our concurrence, to the making of a state-ment in his behalf which obviously must be brief. this state. Mr. Eccles has consented, with one concurrence, to the making of a state-ment in his behalf which obviously must be brief.

"The indictment was returned on Thursday of lant week. Counsel are not yet familiar with the details of the indictment. Just why secrecy in the matter should have been insisted upon by the Government officials is not apparent. Every defendant, except Mr. Eccles, is a resident of Oregon, and the business, social and family relations of all are such that they could not afford to evade the consequences of the indictment, if they were so disposed.

The indictment contains 100 pages of tynewritten matter, and only by long and eareful examination of the same can its details be known. It is the intention of counsel to invoice for an order on the Government to furnish copies of these indictments preparatory to defense, since it does not seem consistent with public justice that a defendant charged with crime in 100 typewritten pages should be asked to plead thereto until full opportunity for its inspection has been given. As far as can be now ascertained the indictment charges a combination between Mr. Eccles and other officers and employes of the Oregon Lumber Company unlawfully to acquire timber lands ander the timber and stone act, and while it spacelies, as flicitrations of the manner in which the combination was carried out, very many land entries under the timber and stone act which are charged as having been inspired by Mr. Eccles and his associates, the crux of the charge and his associates, the crux of the charge will probably he found in entries claimed to have been made by John Bafferty on March 11, 1907. May Hatt on April 5, 1907, Hattle M. Smith on June 4, 1907, commet have had no opportunity as yet to make a detailed investigation which has been made with responsibility connected with these entries.

The Oregon Lumber Company is a Utah

Company Out to Buy Timber.

The Oregon Lumber Company is a Utab corporation organized to promote the lumber Industry of Oregon. It has humber plants at various parts of the state, its largest plant being located at Baker City, where its business was established in 1890. It has been in the market for the purchase of timber lands for its business, and, with others, has become a buyer of these lands, as well direct from the Government by means of sorip entries as by the purchase from private entrymen.

While the Oregon Lumber Company is the helder of a large amount of timber lands, its holdings are far less in quantity than those of many other companies and individuals who have purchased in the same neighborhood, many of whom have purchased on speculation gurely and with no immediate intention of exploiting the lumber lindustry; the fact that the company is a large owner and that it is and has been publicly known as a buyer, has stimulated many entries of timber lands, and the fact that a considerable amount of its holdings has come from private entrymen may fave led to a suspicion of unfairness in con-Company Out to Buy Timber.

ion with such purchases; and if the action of such lands from entrymen who uselees have reaped a profit on their ane constitutes a crime, then the Oregon aber Company officials are guilty; othernot. Naturally the lumber company, known public buyer of timber lands, has its competitors in the field. The comrous however, to promote the lumber reads of the state, not to hold for specuin.

Attempt to Blackmail Alleged.

Undoubtedly business rivalries and other causes have engendered more or less ill feeling and hostility to the company. It would surprise the public to know the details of letters which have been roceived by Mr. Eccles, threatening all sorts of dire consequences to himself and his company from such hostility. We have before us now copies of some of these letters, in one of which demand is made for practically permanent employment as a condition of silence. A quotation from one of these letters may not be uninteresting. This letter, among other things, says:

"I have got the worst of it from the O. L. Company several times, but probably through no fatult of yours. I don't want anything but what I am willing to work for. I don't want something for nothing. Grant Geddes told a party the company would give me a job. I could go into the filling room and soon learn filling. I could learn to handle a band rigging, take charge of a mill or a seed many other jobs. I have never worked for any man yet but what my work was satisfactory. If you will sign a contract for I5 years at a certain amount of wages, we can come to an agreement at any position you see fit to work me at. I will go any place but Ingalls. I will not go there. I would have to have a signed contract to protect myself, so when this is outlawed that you could not any "We don't need you any longer.' I will drop this if you want to do this, what I have not. The wages might be a little high, but I will guarantee that you will be ahead of me in the long run. I will give you a reasonable length of time on this, for it has got to go one way or the other immediately. I will be in Baker City next Sun. & probably Mor."

Mr. Eccles, a man of integrity himself, has always adonted the policy of nothing for Mr. Ecoles, a man of integrity himself, has always adopted the policy of nothing for tribute, but all that he has for defense.

always adopted the policy of nothing for tribute, but all that he has for defense.

Service Has Fought Eccles.

Robert Service has been mere or less active in the prosecution of this matter. He is quoted in The Morning Oregonian of March 15 as denying previous published statements purporting to come from him, that motives of reverge had prompted his activity, and he closes his denial by saying:

"In no case did I permit personalities to enter into this matter, being prompted solely in what I have done hy business reasons, which the men indicted understand."

Mr. Service was originally a retail lumber dealer in Pocatello, Idaho, He came to Orogon about the year 1901, secured by underhanded methods an option on a belt of timber upon which Mr. Eccles had a call, but by such insufficient papers that the call could not be legally enforced. A spur track some two or three miles in length had been built by the lumber company from the main line of the Sumpter Valley Railway into this timber beit, and Service, having secured his option, undertook to enforce rates upon the Sumpter Valley Road over the spur in question for the output of his mill. After a protracted illigation he lost his suit and fluancial failure stared him in the face. During the progress of the litigation he nade many threats against Mr. Eccles and the lumber company, soding so far even as to carry his animosity into the private and family relations of Mr. Eccles.

Mr. Eccles interested himself with the traffic officials of the Sumpter Valley Road, placed the spur track of the lumber company at the disposal of Service, according him facilities to which the court had held he was not entitled, and Service marketed his timber. He has always resented a nominal charge of 20 cents per thousand for the use of the lumber company know have prompted his activity.

Mr. Service is not the only party who has had some axe to grind in connection with this investigation, as subsequent developments will show.

No man stands higher in the business and financial circles o

Simultaneously with the advent of the civil suit from the Government, the Oregon Lumber Company was called upon to defend a personal damage complaint in which D. J. Warren, a former employe, asks for a judgment of $25,000. Warren states that he was employed by the company in Columbia County as a the company in Columbia County as a laborer on a flume seven miles in length. On February 6, 1909, he was ordered to go out on the flume to secure a number of tools. While he was thus engaged, the flume is alleged to have fallen, re-sulting in a broken left shoulder, bruised head, destruction of hearing in the left ear, destruction of the sense of smell, twisted neck and brain injuries. The case is now being heard by a jury.

FENCE HOLDS PUBLIC LAND

Stockman Pleads Guilty and Is Let Off With Fine of $350.

Indicted upon a charge of having ille gally fenced and prevented settlement of about 10,000 acres of Government land in Harney County, Alfene and Ira Venator yesterday appeared in the United States Court, and were given a hearing by Judge Wolverton in chambers.

Alfene Venator pleaded guilty and a fine of $350 was imposed on one count of the complaint, sentence being reserved upon the second count pending a removal of the fences. Mr. Venator informed the court that he had taken down a portion of the obstruction and would p with the remainder as rapidly as po Upon recommendation of the I Attorney the complaint was dismissed against ira Venator, it appearing that he was not a party to the transaction. Leniency, recommended by District Attorney McCourt, also secured a light sentence for the other brother.

. Mr. Venator is one of the large stockmen of Eastern Oregon, his fences being so fashioned as to run from rimrock to rimrock. The stockmen of that district have suffered tremendous losses during the severe Winter just closing, to keep their stock alive. Mr. Venator estimates his personal loss at $35,000.
