

FAKE RAGES LOSE $46,000

Maybray Trial Reveals "Shady Deals" by Wholesale Sale.

COLLEGE MEN ARE VICTIMS

Minnesota University Graduate Influenced to Place $10,000 by Son of Preacher, but Maybray Himself, Turns Deal.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, March 16.—Today's session of the trial of John C. Maybray and six other defendants charged with swindling operations by fraudulent use of the mails, produced a kaleidoscope of testimony, not before equalled during the trial.

William H. McGrath, aged 23, a graduate of the University of Minnesota and of the St. Paul Law School, according to the evidence, was as easily duped out of his $10,000 as was James G. Kille, of Cisco, Ill., aged 74, who testified to the loss of a similar amount.

T. F. George, of San Antonio, Tex., lost $15,000; James Webber, of Shamokin, Pa., $3,000; and B. E. Schurman, farmer and stockman of Leota Kan., $6,000, totalling $46,000 as the amount that witnesses today told of losing.

Show McGrath was Worked.

McGrath recited a remarkable story of his loss. Louis W. Stowe, son of an Episcopal rector of Minneapolis, solicited McGrath in the matter, assuring him that it was former college friendship that prompted him to ask the witness to help him carry out the scheme.

According to the testimony, it was this declaration alone that induced him to bring $10,000 to Council Bluffs.

"When I got here and looked over the situation," said McGrath, "I took Stowe and I went to the bank, and I pleaded with him not to go into the deal."

Assistant District Attorney Stewart elicited from McGrath that he finally went so far as to get a draft in favor of his brother and put it in an envelope preparatory to mailing to Stillwater, Minn. The witness declared that Maybray, who induced him to try to get his money at the bank, he said:

Bank Readily Gives Out Cash.

"I went to the First National Bank which issued the draft and the teller told me to endorse it with my brother's name, and when I did so he readily gave me the money."

McGrath now has a civil suit against the bank for the recovery of the money. Ernest E. Hart, former National Republican committeeman for Iowa, is an officer of the bank.

McGrath also told of the usual ending of the contest on which he lost his money. James G. Kille of Cisco, Ill., was taken to Little Rock to purchase timber lands. He ended his visit with an investment of $10,000 in a horse race, which went against him.

The first witness today was T. E. George, of San Antonio, Tex., who said he was offered $18,000 in connection with a wrestling match at New Orleans two years ago, in which one of the contestants apparently suffered a serious hemorrhage in the second bout.

Howard Simpson, the Government's star witness of yesterday, said today that in event of Herriman, Moore and Brown, now in jail in Oakland, Cal., being brought here for trial, he doubtless would be a witness against them.

Simpson appears to be friendly with Maybray. He has spent some time with the latter at the jail. Simpson's testimony has not materially affected Maybray's interests in the present trial. The large attendance of women at the trial has been a feature.

Harriman Lines' Management Awaiting Decision Merger Suit, 'Tis Said.

FOLEY WILL ASSIST PARK

Union Pacific System of Organization Has Been Introduced in Conducting Affairs of Road Westward From Stayvesant Fish.

CHICAGO, March 16.—(Special.)—The opinion that the future of the Illinois Central Railroad will be dominated by the Union Pacific interests was strengthened today by the official announcement of the appointment of T. J. Foley to be assistant Vice-President of W. G. Park. Mr. Foley formerly was assistant general superintendent of the Union Pacific at Omaha and had charge of the terminals of that road at Omaha, Council Bluffs and South Omaha.

The circular announcing Mr. Foley's appointment is circular "No. 1," and the circular announcing the resignation of Frank B. Harriman, general manager of the road, is circular "No. 2," and both circulars bear the same date. In the appointment of Mr. Foley, therefore, it is said to be found the reason for the resignation of Mr. Harriman after a service of 31 years with the Illinois Central.

It is stated that were it not for the Government suit asking for a dissolution of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific combination, the Harriman lines management would, as it has been extended to include the Illinois Central. Until the merger suit shall have been decided, the Illinois Central may be permitted to continue with a separate and distinct organization, as the Harriman people do not wish to do anything which might incense a decision against them.

The statement by Harriman to the effect that he found the Union Pacific system of organization was to be employed on the Illinois Central might indicate that he also discovered there was to be an extension of Harriman lines management over the Illinois Central. If the rumor regarding this is correct, Frank B. Lovett, who was named as vice president of the Illinois Central.

JAP SUES ST. CROIX OWNERS Anguish at Separation From Home and Property Valued at $12,180.

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Declaring that the steamer St. Croix was unsafe and that her crew and captain were intoxicated at the time the vessel was burned off Ventura on November 20 last, S. K. Ohashi, who was a passenger at the time, filed suit in the Superior Court today for $12,180 damages.

Ohashi was on his way to San Francisco to meet his aged father, whom he was to accompany to his home in Japan. He is alleged to have lost much valuable personal property and has been unable to return to his native land.

Because of the great reverence the Japanese have for their ancestors, Ohashi's native land, the plaintiff alleges he has experienced untold mental anguish as a result of the wreck.

Taft Starts on Tour

WILL CELEBRATE ST. PATRICK'S DAY IN CHICAGO. Admits He's Not Irish, but Has Kissed Bannock Stone—Promises to See Pittsburgh Game.

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—While his train sped toward Chicago today, President Taft devoted himself to preparing his speech to be delivered at the Irish Fellowship Club banquet in Chicago tomorrow night and to preparing his train arrived here at 6:32 tonight, he gave himself assiduously to the "Story or Ireland" and "The Life of St. Patrick."

Once only throughout the trip was he interrupted. That was at Altoona, where Mayor Hoyer boarded the train and greeted the President, who manifested much interest in the situation at Philadelphia. Mayor Hoyer told the President that he was hoping for peace in the Quaker City.

Upon the arrival of the train in Pittsburgh Mayor Magee and a delegation from the Amateur Club greeted Mr. Taft. One of the President's callers asked him if he were an Irishman.

"No, I am not," he responded. "The nearest to an Irishman the Taft family has ever come is in name. That was borne by a Count Taft, of Ireland. I will confess, however, that I have kissed the Bannock stone."

The President assured Mayor Magee that he would be here May 2 and would attend the ball game between the Chicago and Pittsburgh clubs. He asked if it was to be an exhibition game or "one for blood."

"Do you know what appeals to me in these games," he said, "is that big Dutchman—that is his name—oh, yes, Wagner. He looks as if he could not get anywhere, and yet he gets everywhere. Do you know that if I saw him miss a ball I would think he was bluffing?"

The news of the President's visit had been spread broadcast and outside the station a crowd had assembled. A few privileged ones were admitted to the immediate vicinity of the car and just before it pulled out a big stout man with a face beaming with smiles, saw the President on the rear platform and shouted: "Hey, Mr. President, I'm almost as big as you are."

"How much do you weigh?" inquired Mr. Taft.

"Two hundred and ninety-five pounds," the big fellow answered.

The President: "Oh, you're not in my class. I weighed 312 the last time I was on the scales."

While going to the station at Washington, the President's automobile narrowly escaped running down a woman who crossed the street in front of it. The machine was stopped just in time.

Plans for Proposed State-Wide Strike Discussed—Lad Killed, Motorman Rescued.

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—The statement issued by the strike committee of ten tonight consists of a proclamation modeled after the Declaration of Independence, in which the labor representatives proclaim their intention of maintaining their fight on behalf of the striking garmen.

E. E. Greenaway, president of the State Federation of Labor, who returned tonight, consulted with the local strike committee and with representatives from various sections of the state. Plans for the proposed state-wide strike were discussed.

The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company reported 1225 cars in operation today. This had been announced as the last day on which strikers would be taken back, but the labor leaders say their ranks are unbroken.

The only disorder reported occurred tonight, when a year-old Eugene Platt was run over and killed by a trolley car. The motorman was roughly handled by the crowd, but was rescued by the police.
