

The Oregonian

Entered at Portland, Oregon, Postoffice as Second-Class Matter. Subscription Rates: In Advance. (BY MAIL) Daily, Sunday included, one year, $5.00...

Portland, Friday, March 25, 1910.

INEFFECTUAL SWEETNESS.

Of course, now, the Republican party is to be recruited. The insurgents and the regulars are to be all one. Having forced reorganization of the committee on the floor, the insurgents are satisfied.

Observe how sweetly the insurgents enter the regular caucus and subscribe to the selections made for the new committee on revenues.

The wicked Republicans are always divided into those who are bad and into those who are worse, but both have a tendency to run together, as an old saying is.

This is the view of a veteran observer of politics, who uses terms and illustrations not familiar to the present generation, or almost obsolete.

After all the kisses and the make-up and billing and clogging between the insurgents and regulars, there will be a certain irresolvable quantity of sour dough between them.

The executive committee of the Philadelphia Textile Workers' Union has instructed the 35,000 textile workers who joined the sympathetic strike three weeks ago to return to work.

The return to their employment of these sympathetic strikers was not unexpected. Modern strikes are not settled by sympathy or sentiment, but purely by an adjustment of economic conditions.

But labor also comes under the jurisdiction of the same economic law which forces capital either to grant the demands or to refuse them and fight the strike.

The discount of the people of Oregon with the present division of the state into counties is manifested in many ways. In some cases there is a tendency to unite two or three counties.

The purpose of dividing the state into counties and the counties into precincts is that every citizen may be within moderate distance of the seat of local government.

It is often thought best for the whole of the parts of a county to hold on to all the territory, since it pays taxes and may occasion little expense; but this purely selfish view disregards the welfare of the people who inhabit the neglected districts. It is only fair to give them the privilege of spending the taxes they pay upon their own roads and bridges.

Construction methods used in the erection of the Spaulding building at Third and Washington streets continue to excite much favorable comment.

IN HONOR OF GEORGE H. WILLIAMS. To no other man of Oregon has it been the fortune to receive such honor and homage as George H. Williams receives, in his advancing years.

According to the theory of Professor Knox, "the child is the only textbook a teacher needs." Why have a teacher for the all-sufficient child?

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

view disregards the welfare of the people who inhabit the neglected districts. It is only fair to give them the privilege of spending the taxes they pay upon their own roads and bridges.

Construction methods used in the erection of the Spaulding building at Third and Washington streets continue to excite much favorable comment.

IN HONOR OF GEORGE H. WILLIAMS. To no other man of Oregon has it been the fortune to receive such honor and homage as George H. Williams receives, in his advancing years.

According to the theory of Professor Knox, "the child is the only textbook a teacher needs." Why have a teacher for the all-sufficient child?

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

view disregards the welfare of the people who inhabit the neglected districts. It is only fair to give them the privilege of spending the taxes they pay upon their own roads and bridges.

Construction methods used in the erection of the Spaulding building at Third and Washington streets continue to excite much favorable comment.

IN HONOR OF GEORGE H. WILLIAMS. To no other man of Oregon has it been the fortune to receive such honor and homage as George H. Williams receives, in his advancing years.

According to the theory of Professor Knox, "the child is the only textbook a teacher needs." Why have a teacher for the all-sufficient child?

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

view disregards the welfare of the people who inhabit the neglected districts. It is only fair to give them the privilege of spending the taxes they pay upon their own roads and bridges.

Construction methods used in the erection of the Spaulding building at Third and Washington streets continue to excite much favorable comment.

IN HONOR OF GEORGE H. WILLIAMS. To no other man of Oregon has it been the fortune to receive such honor and homage as George H. Williams receives, in his advancing years.

According to the theory of Professor Knox, "the child is the only textbook a teacher needs." Why have a teacher for the all-sufficient child?

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

view disregards the welfare of the people who inhabit the neglected districts. It is only fair to give them the privilege of spending the taxes they pay upon their own roads and bridges.

Construction methods used in the erection of the Spaulding building at Third and Washington streets continue to excite much favorable comment.

IN HONOR OF GEORGE H. WILLIAMS. To no other man of Oregon has it been the fortune to receive such honor and homage as George H. Williams receives, in his advancing years.

According to the theory of Professor Knox, "the child is the only textbook a teacher needs." Why have a teacher for the all-sufficient child?

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

It is encouraging to notice that a number of conspicuous members of the Teachers' Association at Pendleton have taken a stand against competitive athletics in high schools.

LIFE'S SUNNY SIDE

They were talking about the curious old Congressional drop remark concerning the distinguished dead.

"I recollect the most remarkable experience I ever had making a speech," said Senator Hanson.

"I delivered around in the books and worked up some of what I thought were mighty interesting historical data.

"The two other Senators made their speech occasionally drop remarks ahead of me. Each when he was finished promptly walked out.

"Senator Hoar was deeply interested. He followed me closely. Presently he moved up closer to me and began talking.

"Not at all, Senator. I was much interested because I have to make a historical speech myself shortly, and I wanted to get notes on these researches of yours."

"I happened on a railway train. The doctor's dialectic adversary was a drummer who had purchased a padded-backed edition of some lectures delivered by the late Colonel Ingersoll.

"And creation isn't such a much, anyway," said the drummer. "I think it is a Springtime flood. 'Nothing in the universe is made well.'"

"For instance," "We have eyelids to protect the eye, but our ears have no lids. Now, if it had been a good job we could rest our sense of hearing by closing our ears over it once in a while, couldn't we?"

"It was the doctor's turn to enquire. "Great," he exclaimed. "You have actually hunted a new idea—close one that I have never heard of before. I will concede you a point against the human ear. I would give thanks to the Master if he made it with a close eye. Believe me, sir, if it were so I should close them now."

"At the 15th annual dinner of the class of '95 of the University of Pennsylvania, held at the Union League, a remark was made on the fact that the members of the class were fathers of children.

"This pleasing information was also printed in the class paper, which gave an alphabetical list of the names of the members with the dates of their birth. Speaking of the gladsome galaxy of youngsters, one of the members remarked that the class of '95 was 'born on the yelp about race suicide.'"

"That's right," responded Dr. King Irwin, of East Orange, N. J. "My father was born on the yelp about race suicide. And if it continues to grow at that rate I shall have to keep on following in Teddy's footsteps and get into the 'yelp about race suicide' wonderingly inquired Evans.

"I mean," was the smiling rejoinder of Irwin, "that I will have to go to Africa, where I can shoot game big enough to supply them all with fodder."

"There Now! Take That!" E. Hofer, in Salem Journal. Little Hofer, in Salem Journal. Editors, like Bill Clarke, of Gervais, and Addison Bennett, of Irwin, both stampickers on common sense, put the stamp of public ridicule on the Republican party and outraged by such a man as Colonel Hofer being made Governor.

Dream of the Wandering Celt. BY ELIA KNIGHT. (The writing of the following was suggested by the dream of the author, who was in the old hall of Tara, seat of the early Irish kings and which was built before the time of Christ.)

"The harp that once through Tara's halls its soul of music shied, Now hangs as mute a shroud on the wall, As if it were a dead man's shroud."

Hush, hark, did ye hear it? That harp on a long silent tone is resounding again; Its last chord is breaking in hope's dying moment. And 'tis the echoes o'er moorland and fen.

It shrieks and it hisses, it writhes and it laments; Its wail of her chieftains is lost to the wind, her fair sons and by strangers denuded. Fair Erin, loved Erin, dear Erin of old, The echoing notes of that harp string are calling to me.

The scattered and lost ones to rally once more. It calls to the eastward and calls to the westward; It struts to northward by Lough Neagha's shore. To southward where Shannon her green banks is fretting, And out through a single acre of deep sea. Like a ship it arouses from the thralldom of error. It cries to the powers, "Let my country go free."

The moon slowly climbs over the hills of Killybeg. And through the dark Tara her silver veil, Eurs, out from her casements dim lights I see streaming. And through the broad doorway great companies trail.

What wail! They are harping the old harp of Erin's Republic. That rang through her halls in the days of her pride. Plumets and fair ladies with hard-handed toilers. Lift up their glad songs for the inflowing tide.

Of hopes that were faded and long since forgotten. Beware the dream of the wandering Celt. Aggrieved by his wrongs and his country's wrongs, he is going about it honestly, and sensible people will approve every honest effort made in that direction by any public official.

Roosevelt for Taft. Leslie's Weekly. Ex-President Roosevelt is not a candidate for any public place. His only ambition is to become a useful private citizen. Furthermore, he is for the renomination of President Taft in 1912. This is the statement made by John A. Stewart, president of the League of Republican Clubs of New York, who says he has the authority of the ex-President for it.

Pinchot Subsidized. Walla Walla Union. Pinchot seems to be subsidized with the collapse of his allegations against Ballinger. The bold assertions of what he intended to do to the Secretary of the Interior, when he was called to the witness stand looked woefully of fulfillment when he was forced to state facts. It was mighty few facts after all, as the public had long expected.

WHAT UPSET IN CONGRESS MEANS. Significance of the Recent Eucete in the House. Aberdeen (Wash.) World. The present Congress cannot be understood from the standpoint of party. It is strictly a partisan affair.

Mr. Minto Says Conservation Locks Up Land From Food Production. SALTZM., Or., March 21.—(To the Editor.) Words fitly spoken are in The Morning Oregonian from the caption, "Land to Be Reckoned With." One good influence resulting from the injury done to stock range interests by the forest policy of the past 12 years is that it has forced the attention of the people to brush-covered and partially or wholly timbered lands where the freedom of citizenship cannot be interfered with by the "patrons of husbandry" rules. Districts like Eastern Multnomah and Clackamas, Western Washington, Southern Columbia and Willamette, Eastern and Northern Tillamook counties contain ample room for a year's newcomers of the land-hungry and home-builder's class, who, if the patrons of husbandry would be of desirable and valuable assistance. The number of flourishing granges in the first two emphasizes what I mean; but the patrons of husbandry would be the amount of area is waiting for occupancy, west of the western boundary of the nation's forest reserves. It offers thousands of homes, without touching the real timber tracts, on which the timber is the chief value.

But it is a good deal more than that that is to be had. It offers the earliest farmers of Oregon to join the grange, but thinks there is more need of its existence than ever, as the freedom as well as the interest of the land-owning, home-building class is being injured by the meddlesome Roosevelt-Pinchot policy. It offers the earliest farmers of Oregon to join the grange, but thinks there is more need of its existence than ever, as the freedom as well as the interest of the land-owning, home-building class is being injured by the meddlesome Roosevelt-Pinchot policy.

The situation gives Democracy its finest chance since the elevation of Grover Cleveland to the Presidency. The majority in Congress is the majority today. If, that is, Cannon and his supporters pursue the Speaker's proposed policy of turning legislation over to the "insurgents." That policy is both logical and natural. You can't expect a man, humiliated as Cannon has been, to aid his enemies in "making records" by establishing a basis for an appeal to the voters for vindication. Nor can you expect Democrats to join in such a "passing administration measure" as there you are. If the regulars follow the Speaker in his present attitude we shall have a "passing administration measure" as there you are. If the regulars follow the Speaker in his present attitude we shall have a "passing administration measure" as there you are.

Miss Fanny Crosby, the blind singer, yesterday completed ninety years of gentle, blameless life. She has written several thousand hymns, some of which are sung in her own way and of every orthodox denomination. "I have never regretted my loss of sight," said this gentle nonagenarian, "for it has quickened my other faculties and been really a great blessing to me."

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an impossible condition. Spokane is a fine interior town; but when it comes to the "terminal rates" it is a high cost of living. Or to look at politics or parties for remedy? So easy is it, however, to be absurd!

The Milwaukee road says it can't be forced to give "terminal rates" to Spokane as to Coeur d'Alene. It couldn't do it if it would. It can stay out of Spokane, but can't consent to an