WOODS HELD TO JURY

'Haba Haba's" Alleged Assailant Under $2000 Bonds And Warned.

Ed. A. Woods, who made a living torch of the "Haba Haba" man a short time ago by touching a match to his body after sprinkling him with gasoline, was put under $2000 bonds yesterday by Judge Bennett to insure his appearance before grand jury.

Woods, through his attorney, waived a hearing on the charge of assault with intent to kill and the action of the court in placing him under bail followed.

Mrs. W. S. J. Maxfield, Formerly Mrs. Ruby B. McConnell, Who, as Stenographer, Won Heart of New York Capitalist.

Judge Bennstt warned Woods that, if he were found in the block in which Harry Blitz, the "missing link," labors, he would be liable to be placed under $5000 bonds to keep the peace. This is the second charge which Woods has faced in connection with his recent attempt to incinerate the man of fantastic make-up. He was first arrested on a charge of assault and battery, found guilty and sentenced. He appealed from the court's decision and pealed from the court's decision, and was given his liberty on furnishing bail in the sum of $1500. He was arrested recently on a more serious charge preferred by Blitz, who feared he would be molested again. "Haba Haba" Blitz was in court yesterday, but few recognized him. He was an naturel.

Capitalist Weds Stenographer on 13-Days' Acquaintance.

MEET FIRST IN OFFICE

W. S. J. Maxfield, of New York, Here on Business, Fortuitously Finds and Carries Off as Bride Pretty Oregon Girl.

Like a fairy dream of an imaginative girl revealing love at first sight, a persistent wealthy wooer and a wedding as a climax, is the romance of a pretty stenographer who until last Sunday was Mrs. Ruby B. McConnell, employed in the office of George Shepherd, attorney and ex-councilman.

William S. J. Maxileld, a capitalist, of New York, is the hero. Thirteen days and a few hours after he was introduced Mr. Maxileld made the attractive stenographer his wife.

Mr. Maxfield's bride is the daughter of Thomas Crawford, of the faculty of the Oregon Asricultural College. She received her education at Stanford University. Mrs. Maxfield is the only woman member of the New League on the member of the Navy League on the Pacific Coast, and as such she has be-come a warm friend of the wife of "Fighting Bob" Evans, with whom she

The Empire state capitalist was attracted to Portland to invest and was the guest here of Mr. and Mrs. John McNulty. Mr. McNulty is the local nautical expert for the Government, having charge of the Portland Hydrographic of floe. He had known Mr. Maxfield for years, and when the visitor, after a three days' stay, decided a week ago Sunday morning to leave for the Middle Western states, Mr. McNuity induced him to remain over the next day. Monday Mr. Maxfield, accompanied by Mr. McNulty, went to Attorney Shep-herd's office on business. Mr. Shepherd was out, and while waiting for his re-turn the capitalist became interested in the lawyer's pretty stenographer. As a result Mr. Maxfield kept putting off his departure from day to day, until last Saturday. Then Mr. Crawford came from Corvallis to visit his daughter and was informed that she was the fiance of the New Yorker. The wedding ceremony was performed at 1113 Minnesota avenue Sunday afternoon, Rev. Benjamin Young officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Maxfield will leave for their New York home Thursday.

Manda Karlan (Brestander) Banner Acres

is one of the finest tracts of acreage ever offered Portland buyers, the subdivisions being from five acres up. This land is on the Base Line road, is in the heart of one of the finest fruit belts in Oregon, and is the most sightly location surrounding Portland. For many years this property has remained in one ownership unimproved, while some of the most beautiful farms in the state are immediately adjacent. The soil is of the very best in the valley, and for orchard or small fruits it is unequaled. But we want to make quick disposal of this tract, which we call Banner Acres, and to that end we have placed it at the low figure of $85 per acre, and on easy terms. There is no such an acreage buy now on the Portland market, and the purchasers are sure to make large and quick profits. For Summer homes, for small farms, for sightly residence sites, Banner Acres is the cream of acreage offerings. Any purchaser can make a sure, quick profit by clearing a tract and setting it to fruit. We call the attention of real estate dealers to these lands. We want to dispose of it quick and there are buyers who would be glad to take it if it is but brought to their attention.
