ATTRACT HUNDREDS

Rush Promises to Be Out of All Proportion to Size of Tract.

SEATTLE OFFICE BESIEGED

Entrymen May Draw Lawsuits. Lake Washington Ditch Controversies Again Opened --- Census Campaign in Metropolis.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 12.-(Special. -A demand for land out of all propor-tion to the tract soon to be opened for tion to the tract soon to be opened for entry has sprung up in connection with a fractional township six miles east of North Bend Inquirles are coming into the local office by hundreds. The land comprises 11 sections in township 23 north, range 9 east, on the middle fork of the Snoqualmie River. Of the 11 sections, seven are odd-numbered and are held by the Northern Pacific under its place grant of 1854. Of the four even-numbered sections, 440 acreshave been taken under forest reserve lieu selections, and on the remainder of the land are numerous settlers who of the land are numerous settlers who date prior to the official filing of the date prior to the official filing of the plat.

In addition, the state has a 60-day interval of indemnity selection; and also there are reported to be squatters on every foot of the fractional township, odd-numbered sections included. Under the circumstances, the desultory entrymen who are planning to begiege the local Land Office on the opening date, April 28, will not have the remotest chance of securing anything.

Claimants Fear Litigation.

The attitude of the Northern Pacific in enforcing its place grant is disturb-ing Seattle residents who were suc-cessful in the land drawings of 1909. In particular, D. B. Sexton, of this city, who drew a claim in the Flathead In-dian Reservation, is on the anxious seat. Like others, he wants assurance that if he goes upon the land for 14 months, the time required to prove up, he will not be ousted without recourse. The disturbing factor is the conten-tion over the old-numbered sections in tion over the old-numbered sections in the place grant, under the act of 1864 and subsequent amendatory acts. in a strip 40 miles wide on either side of the railroad as constructed, and also the reservation of an additional strip 15 miles wide on either side of the place grant. It is clearly understood that the General Land Office has ruled that the settlement on the Indian reser-vations was not such a settlement as was contemplated by the granting act.

vations was not such a settlement as was contemplated by the granting act, and that accordingly the ruling is adverse to the company.

Yet Seattle claimants such as Sexton fear they may be acquiring a lawsait, and that the contention of the railroad as to the odd-numbered sections ultimately may be established, despite the ruling already made under the authority of the Interior Department.

Canal in Court Again.

The troubles of the Lake Washington Canal have broken into court again through the protests of shore land-pwners. Numbers of such owners have signed releases of damages on actount of the lowering of the lake, with the understanding that they were to profit through the added area. They are now told that the State Land Commissioner will claim the land for the missioner will claim the land for the state, with only a prior right of purchase to the present shore owners, and in consequence they are serving notices on the Secretary of War and on state and county officials that the waivers and county officials that the waivers of damages have been revoked.

It is estimated that suits for damages aggregating $5,000,000 will be filed if the lake is lowered eight feet, as contemplated in the canal plan. Independent of this action, other shore owners, one of whom is Reuben W. Jones, secreone of whom is Render W. Jones, secre-tary of the Board of Education, are flighting the dry cut now being made between Union Bay and Lake Union. Their contention is that the state has no right to spend the taxpayers' money for such a purpose. They have ap-plied to the Superior Court in Thurston County for an injunction to restrain Contractor C. J. Erickson from continwing.

The dry cut, which is immediately south of the university grounds, is already 80 feet wide and 50 feet deep, and extends hundreds of feet across and extends hundreds blocking the the peninsula, completely blocking the roadway from the Twenty-third street carline into the old fair grounds.

Annexation Finds Snag.

Although only the last technical step Although only the last technical step admitting Georgetown into Seattle remains to be taken, some of the city officials show a tendency to balk at keeping Seattle's word with the suburb. One of the promises was that Cedar River water would be furnished the hill section of Georgetown within 30 days of annexation. The only way to keep the pledge is to use a portion of the plant of the Georgetown Water Company, which has a reservoir and pipeline in that part of the city. The connections could be made in a few days, but the light and water committee of the City Council is finding objections.

The Georgetown Water Company, consisting of Frank Paul, R. M. Kinnear and James A. Weir, is willing to sell the reservoir and pipeline for $8800. The company built them to supply Cedar River water to the hill residents, but was blocked by a decision of the Supreme Court. Since that time this portion of the plant has been idle.

Annexation has given the company a chance to realize on its investment, Census Arouses Action.

Georgetown annexation, with its guarantee of $600 or 7000 additional population, has fairly started the preliminaries for the cansus. A close organization has been formed to insure a count of all of Seattle's people. Blanks have been supplied to large business houses, the school children have been interested in the forthcoming count and agents have been stationed at railway stations and wharves to prevent careless citizens leaving town without having their names listed. A municipal census bureau has been formed and $3000 has been appropriated for cierical work.

Information has been distributed among the foreign residents, particularly the Japanese, who have been advised through C. T. Takahashi, a wealthy banker and president of the Japanese Association to concerning Japanese Association, to co-operate with the census officials. One of the latest suburbs to plan annexation to Scattle is the town of Yesler, north of Union Bay, with a population of between 500 and 600.

Dog-Poisoning May Be Felony. The annual depredations of the dogpoisoner have been so serious that the Seattle Kennel Club will draft a bill for introduction into the next Legisla ture making the offense a felony in-stead of a misdemeanor, as at present Rewards of $475 have been offered for the capture of a dog-poisoner. Miss May Krueger, secretary of the Humane Society, is making an effort to locate the guilty persons, particularly on Queen Anne Hill, where they have been
