

TRACK AFTER WRECK IS HARD TO CLEAR

Tangled Mass of Wreckage Formed When 22 Cars Pile Up in Heap.

THREE BODIES ARE FOUND

Five or Six Others Believed Still to Be in Debris—Injured Are Thought to Be Tramps, Many of Whom Boarded Train.

SPOKANE, April 14.—Wrecking crews that have been working since noon have been unable to clear the Northern Pacific tracks of the twisted, tangled mass of wreckage formed when 22 loaded freight cars piled up three miles west of the city this morning.

They have not yet reached any of the bodies supposed still to be in the debris, although the legs of one victim can be seen protruding from the middle of the mass. A temporary track around the wreck was finished late tonight and passenger trains allowed to go through.

Heavy Timbers "Buckled." Coming at high speed down the grade from Marshall, a score of cars, all loaded with lumber and shingles, left the rails when some massive bridge timbers loaded on two flatcars, "buckled" and threw the cars off the journals.

George F. Howarth, brakeman, was the only member of the train crew seriously injured. Others who were injured and the dead were tramps, about 20 of whom boarded the train at Pasco and concealed themselves in the box-cars. The bodies of three have been recovered. Seven badly injured are in a hospital and it is believed five or six are still under the wreck.

Dead and Injured Reported.

Following is a list of the dead and injured so far as reported: Dead: Three unidentified men. One of the dead men is believed to be J. C. Bruce or Homer Bruce. He carried a letter addressed to the former name and a postal addressed to the latter, both mailed at Scranton, Pa., and received at Pullaside, Cal.

EUGENE ALL IN HARMONY

Administration to Be Supported in Efforts to Get Water.

EUGENE, Or., April 14.—(Special.)—The Fairmount Improvement Club and the city administration are in harmony again. Disruption was threatened by wording of the call for a mass meeting by the club on Monday night to discuss the commission plan of government and other civic improvement issues. It has been said since then that the call was designed to get the people out and not to also offend the administration.

Harbor Lines to Be Extended.

MARSHFIELD, Or., April 14.—(Special.)—The Port of Coos Bay Commission has decided to extend the harbor lines in Coos Bay so that the channel will be 1400 feet wide. This action is taken so that the mud flats will not be occupied by buildings and wharfs and prevent the channel being made wider at some future time when it is necessary.

Road Wats for Franchises.

MARSHFIELD, Or., April 14.—(Special.)—Officials of the new Coos Bay Rapid Transit Company, recently organized to build an electric line from Marshfield to North Bend, announces that the work of building the road will begin as soon as the franchises in the two cities are granted.

FLOCKING TO HOLY LAND

New Regime in Turkey Causes Influx of Hebrews to Palestine.

New York Times. Letters from Jerusalem say that the proclamation of the constitution in Turkey has thrown open the doors of Palestine to the incoming of Hebrews from all parts of the world. In Jerusalem alone four-fifths of the population of 100,000 now belong to the Hebrew faith, while at Haifa, Tiberias, Safed and Hama Hebrews are reckoned by tens of thousands. Almost the whole extensive plain of Esdraelon has been bought up by them. Their prosperous colonies spread from Dan to Beersheba, and even farther south to the outskirts of Egypt. Thousands are escaping from Persia to find shelter and protection in the Holy Land, while every ship from Odessa carries hundreds of them.

MOSCOW ELKS OWN AND "OPERATE" TRICK DONKEY AT INITIATIONS.

MOSCOW, Idaho, April 14.—(Special.)—This illustration is a picture of "Maude," the trick donkey belonging to the K. P. O. Elks of this city. For several years this jack has been used as an attraction at many initiations, so far as the public has been able to learn. On numerous occasions the animal has taken part in public parades and was nicknamed "Maude." The animal is the property of the lodge.

darned. Hundreds of thousands of pounds are sent annually from Europe and America to enable the colonists to build homes, hospitals, schools and industrial homes. Over 100 Jewish schools already exist in Jerusalem alone, and synagogues are going up everywhere. The value of land has risen fourfold. The ignorant and poverty-stricken fellahs are being ousted from their homes and villages by the sharp European Hebrew settlers, whose modern agricultural implements and methods have made the land produce harvests never before dreamed of by the natives. The Anglo-Palestine Company, a Zionist banking and commercial enterprise, is pushing the cause of Israel with great determination.

Men Now in Field.

As heretofore pointed out, Poindexter's chances now seem to depend largely on the present number of candidates remaining in the field. There are four avowed candidates in Western Washington, three of whom are from King County. The latter are Judge Thomas Burke, John L. Wilson, ex-United States Senator, and John E. Humphries. The Pierce County candidate is Robert L. McCormick, a wealthy millionaire lumberman.

POINDEXTER'S RACE BLOW TO PRIMARY

Party Is Disrupted in Senatorial Fight and Insurgent's Status in Doubt.

CAMPAIGN IS MANY-SIDED

Western Washington Thinks Man From That Section Should Be Named, but Factions Seem to Be Hopelessly Divided.

(Continued From First Page.) As indicated by a plurality vote in the primaries. Ruth Ready to Bolt. Some are going even farther than this. The report comes from Olympia that A. S. Ruth, president of the last

House Leader's Position.

Ed Sims, of Jefferson County, a member of the last Legislature and a candidate for Speaker in the next, has, it is said, declared his intention of supporting a Western Washington man for Senator regardless of the outcome of the primary vote.

As the possibility of Poindexter securing a plurality over the other candidates in the field becomes understood, it is believed that similar policies will be adopted by other candidates and the present situation leads to the belief that a return to the old method of selecting a United States Senator may be witnessed in the 1911 Legislature.

Voted With Democrats.

Poindexter has not always been a Republican. Also while serving in Congress he has at times refused to join party caucuses. In the memorable fight over the re-formation of the rules committee of the House, he voted with the Democratic-Insurgent forces. He was one of the two Republicans who stood with the Democrats in voting to oust Speaker Cannon, a movement which if successful, it was acknowledged, would have resulted in the election of Champ Clark, a Democrat, as Speaker of a Republican House.

These are the grounds on which some of the Republicans in the State of Washington are declaring that Poindexter is not a Republican and that if he is given the plurality vote on the Republican ticket in the primaries such fact will not be a bar to his nomination.

Poindexter's campaign thus far shows evidence of a good organization. Poindexter clubs are in process of formation in nearly every community of any size in Western Washington, and a similar movement in his interest has been undertaken throughout Eastern Washington. It is reported here that the seven insurgent members of the United States Senate are planning to come to Washington later in the year and make a whirlwind campaign for Poindexter.

Small Per Cent to Choose. If the situation concerning the number of candidates remains unchanged, it is inconceivable that any one of them will get more than 5 or 10 per cent of the Republican votes. For instance in the Third district, in 1908 in nominating Congressmen, Poindexter, the successful nominee, received only 823 first choice votes out of a total of 20,523, or about 2 per cent. He was the second choice nominee, receiving 15,243 first and second choice votes, out of a total of 61,239 or about 25 per cent.

How the Democrats participate in the Republican primary election is also indicated by the vote of 1908. The total vote in the general election was larger in both parties than in the primaries, but in the primaries on the Governorship, about 88 per cent of the total vote was cast for Republican aspirants for the office, while in the general election only 62 per cent of the total vote was cast for the Republican nominee.

choice, and Poindexter's name is well enough known as a result of the lively campaign in 1908, in which he won the Congressional nomination in the Third district, or Eastern Washington, where there were seven candidates for the nomination, to insure him a heavy vote in that section. In the 1908 election, out of 17,000 votes cast for Congressman in Washington, about 62,000 were polled in the Third district. While Poindexter may be expected to get a good vote in his own district, the preponderance of votes in a geographical sense, is against him. In the more populous portion of the state, however, are the four other candidates, three of them in the most populous county of the state where more than 20,000 votes were polled for Congressman in 1908. This method is adopted of eliminating all but one candidate in Seattle, he will draw in favor of Congressman Will E. Humphrey. Humphrey is not yet in the contest, but has been urged to join it. There is considerable speculation as to what effect the similarity between the names of Congressman Humphrey and of Judge John E. Humphries would have in the result. If the former becomes a candidate. The general opinion is that it would cause widespread confusion among voters as to whom they are voting for. It is recalled that in the 1908 primary election John L. Murray, a candidate for State Treasurer, led on that ticket in Pierce County although he was little known there, and this was accounted for in the similarity between his name and that of J. L. Mac Murray, a popular candidate in the county for Prosecuting Attorney.

Good Roaders Gather at Burns. BURNS, Or., April 14.—(Special.)—The first organization of a county branch of the Oregon Good Roads Association was effected here at the close of the April term of court. After an eloquent address by L. R. Webster, of Portland, before a large audience of Harney County people, the preliminary roll was signed by nearly fifty men and the intention is to extend the organization into every precinct in the county. Ex-County Judge H. C. Levens was elected president; I. L. Poudjed, of Harney, vice-president, and Attorney C. H. Leonard, secretary.

Wheat Sold at Big Loss. WALLA WALLA, Wash., April 14.—There was a sensation in the wheat market when it leaked out this morning that a large local buyer last week disposed of 40,000 bushels of club at 88 cents on track in Portland or 79 1/2 cents net. He had paid 95 cents to $1 for the same wheat in December. No indications are for a break in the local market. Several deals are pending at 77 cents net. Small sales were recorded last night.
