SALOONMEN UPHOLD LAW

Association to Aid in Prosecution of Those Who Offend.

To raise the standard of the retail liquor business and compel all saloonmen to live up to the law, the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association of Portland has taken a hand in the fight being waged by the police to enforce all liquor laws strictly. To effect this, the association has engaged a special prosecutor, Roger B. Stinott, made known to Judge Bennett yesterday that he had been appointed to this position. It was said also that the association had engaged a special agent to investigate conditions here and report on suspects and those with reputations for breaking police regulations. The association sent a formal letter to Chief of Police Cox yesterday, in which it assured the Chief that it was in full accord with the policy outlined by the officials. The letter complimented the Chief and conveyed assurance that the association stood ready to do anything in its power to assist him. "It will go hard with old offenders in the future," said Judge Bennett yesterday. "When the better element of the liquor dealers themselves are interested in putting them down it is time something radical was done. Second-time offenders who come before me in the future need expect nothing but the limit."

Lemel, elected commissioners to the General Assembly, would not be able to attend, the Presbytery elected G. N. Wannacott, of Rose City Park Presbyterian Church, principal, and R. K. ### MAN DROWNED IS MYSTERY

Telephone Numbers in Pocket Fail to Aid Identification.

Found floating in the river under the docks at the foot of Ash street, the body of a man who had been drowned at least three weeks was recovered yesterday morning. There was nothing about the body to identify it. The man evidently was a laborer about 45 years old. He was dressed in overalls, but had on clothes of good quality underneath them. He was 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighed 150 pounds. He had dark brown hair and a reddish mustache. In his pocket was a slip of paper with several telephone numbers written down, but inquiry at all of these by the coroner failed to elicit any information as to his identity.

Self-Defense Slayer's Plea.

COLFAX, Wash., April 19.—(Special.)—George Bafus, charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, George Lust, was released from jail today on $5000 bond. Bafus is alleged to have killed Lust with a stick of stove wood during a drunken quarrel at the Bafus ranch west of Colfax Saturday night. The coroner's jury recommended that he be held for Superior Court investigation. Bafus pleads self-defense, saying he was in his home with his seven children when Lust came and started trouble. Both men had just returned from Colfax and had been drinking.
