Hostesses Who Are Forced to Work for Votes Irritated by Election Prospect.

American Influence Results Four-in-Hands Into Popularity Again--Women Are Busy With Horsy Talk.

BY GERALDINE DE LONGVILLE. LONDON, April 16.-(Special.)-Nows days society people are more or less forced to think seriously on account of the jumpy condition of the political barometer. Something like consternation is felt at the prospect of another general election. From King Edward down to the youngest debutants the thought of a second spell of hot distraction gives Engwhen vote-catching is the game of party pecessity. As most of the "gentlemanly party," as the Conservatives are called, there is one delightful social custom of the state Treasurer. This is the morning ride or walk in Rotten Row. There the fashionable world foregather every morning, either to canter on horseback up and down the Row, or to chat and take a sun bath on the sidewalk. Rotten Row is the most fasmous gosslping place in London. Miss Mildred Carter and her father have enfoyed it many a time.

While chatting with friends there in the glorious sunshine it was learned that Mrs. Lulu Harcourt is giving at least four dinners during the season. Lady Granard resumes her entertaining in Belgrave Square. Cora, Countess of Strafford, is contemplating giving one or two balls at Chandos House, where her daughter, Miss Adele Colgate, has such a good time when she is on this side of the ocean. The Duke and Duchess of Roxburghe have taken Baroness Burton's bouse for the season's entertaining.

Largely owing to Alfred Vanderbilt and Judge Moore, a revival in the popularity of the four-in-hand coach is visible in English society. Dainty tongues are busy with horsey talk. Frequently I have been reminded that anyone of any social consequence at one time kept his drag and team. A good whip was then almost as famous as a prize bruiser.

a favorite pastime with the Princess, she tried to indulge in it on this occasion. She got up at an early hour and sallied forth with her maid. A throng of people followed her to the shore, and watched her enter a bathing machine. Upon it hundreds of glasses were levised to see her emerge in her bathing sown. She had to will reach the sall the gown. She had to walk nearly 50 yards before the water came over her knees. British patriots to the number of several fundred were frankly critical of the Princess figure—so she bathed no more at that resort. The comments of Prince Louis were downright indeed, but they would not look well set down in plain

Hindu Riot Indictments Will Be Reported Today.

ST. JOHNS IS CONCERNED

Rumor Heard That City Officials May Be Accused of Not Using Sufficient Energy in Efforts to Quell Disturbance.

Excitement in St. Johns over the outcome of the grand jury's investiga-tions into the Hindu riots there March 21 is almost as intense as it was at the time of the disturbances. There have been rumors that officials of that city were under investigation.

The grand jury will make its report to Presiding Judge Morrow some time today. The jurors concluded their sitting yesterday afternoon and the indictments are being drawn up for presentation. It is believed not more than 12 indictments will be 12 indictments will be returned, some of the defendants already being in cus-

In all, five days were spent at St. Johns. More than 120 witnesses were examined under direction of Assistant District Attorney Garland and Private Prosecutors Dan J. Malarkey and Plowden Stott. Just how many of the men arrested at the time in connection with the riots by Deputy Constable Klernan and a force of under deputies will be indicted is not known. All were held to the grand jury at the pre-liminary examinations. According to the statement, thought to be author itative, that not more than a dozen indictments will be returned, some of these may be released. There was also a rumor that one or two other members of the night police relief at St. Johns may be indicted in connection with the case. with the case.

The charge is made by the state that the city officials did not perform their duty in trying to quell the rigt. The Oregon statutes are plain on this. The punishment in case of conviction may be one year in the penitentiary or a jail sentence of not less than three months or a fine of from $50 to $500.

EX-SULTAN REGAINS HEALTH AND HAREM.

Indications Are Young Turks Must Wait Some Time to Attend Former Ruler's Funeral.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 16 .- (Special.)—As if to maintain his reputation for perverseness, ex-Sultan Abdul Hamid is in better health again, just when the Young Turks were hoping to attend his funeral.

Deserted by the greater part of his harem, because he insisted they should test not only his food, but his medicine to see whether they were poisoned, he determined to throw physic to the dogs and get what fun remained in life. An improvement at once set in and some of his wives have returned to cheer

Gradually he has grown more used to his life at the Villa Allatini, near Salonica. His household grows smaller gradually, for not only has he lost some female consolers, but his son, Prince cesses Chadie and Kefle, have grown tired of Salonica and departed for the Turkish capital.

The Princesses were betrothed to Turkish army officers before the revo-Turkish army onicers before the revo-lution and now that things are quiet again they are getting ready for their marriages. As for the Prince, he says he means to complete his studies, but the truth is he likes life better in the capital than in a small provincial town. When these members of Abdul Hamwhen these members of Abdul Ham-id's family arrived here the hot bloods of the Young Turks began to protest that it was dangerous to admit them to the city. But the hot bloods are no longer in the ascendant. Conditions are too critical for the rule of Sultan Mahmoud to permit of risks being taken with reactionary agitators. So the Prince and Princesses remain. Only Abdul Hamid suffers by the change, for the for the government has argued that as his household expenses must be de-creased he will need less money. So they have cut his pension by half-down to $2250 a month.

HOW TO ENJOY MUSIC

Do Not Let the Shortcomings of the Composer Enter In Delineator. Keep your ears open for new har-monies, and your heart open for new personalities, is the best way to appreciate music. The harmonies may sound harsh at first, as our sweetest har-monles sounded harsh to older times and sound harsh to the Chinese today. The new personalities may seem erratic and crazy at first, as Beethoven and Wagner and Monteverde and Gluck seemed in their day.

But keep your mind hospitable. If you read that So-and-so is stingy, or that he is rude to his friends, or that he drinks too much, or dresses too extravagantly or not extravagantly enough—do not be misled into confusing the artist with his work. It is nitiful that these things must be travagantly or not extravagantly enough—do not be misled into confusing the artist with his work. It is pitiful that these things must be true, but "The Messiah" is no less a distance of 14 blocks, and almost the confusion to make any statement extends to make any statement extends the Sheriff, to make any statement extends that he was confident of acquittal. W. B. Presby will defend him.

The Messiah" is no less a distance of 14 blocks, and almost the country form of the Sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the Sheriff, to make any statement extends the country in the Sheriff, to make any statement extends the country in the Sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the Sheriff, to make any statement extends the country in the Sheriff, to make any statement extends the country in the Sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the Sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the Sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the sheriff, to make any statement extends the country and the sheriff, th

ous glutton; "Don Giovanni" is no less wonderful because of Mozart's personal vagaries; "The Creation" is no less majestic because Papa Haydn was an old fop eternally at war with his wife; the "Ninth Symphony" is no less ma-jestic because Beethoven was an im-possible curmudgeon who treated his friends like dogs.

On the other hand, the cheap, the empty, the tawdry compositions whose names are now forgotten were no more great because their composers may have been far more scholarly, far more gentlemanly, sometimes far more pop-ular and prosperous than the great masters. A man's personal vices and virtues are for him to carry with him to another judgment than the artistic tri-bunals of posterity. Let history or biography deal with the workman; art deals with the work.

So remember that great music is being written today and will be written tomorrow, and be ready for it with a welcome mind. Despise nothing because it is new, nor yet because it is old. Judge each thing by itself, asking simply: "Has it meaning? What is it trying to say? How effectively, how sincerely, with what novelty is it said?

Remember that the greatest works ever written were once mere novelties, whose obscure fathers trembled in anxiety. Remember that, at the next concert you attend, your elbow neighbor may sneer or slumber at some work which will be glorious when he and you and the sons of your sons' sons are dust.

TRAINS ARE TO CLIMB MONT BLANC RANGE.

By Next Year Section of Funicular System That Is to Reach 12,608 Feet Altitude Will Be Ready.

GENEVA, March 19.—(Special.) — A French engineer, M. Eugster, of Dijou, who for several years has been quietly working out a scheme to construct a funicular railway line up the Mont Blanc range from Chamonix on the system of the suspended cable railway which now exists between Grindewald and the Wetterhorn, has commenced work on the line having obtained the consequence. line, having obtained the concession and fluancial support to carry it through. Starting at the villege of Peierins, in the Chamonix Valley, the "lift" will mount to the summit of the Aiguille du Midi, 12,608 feet, via the stations of Pierre Decision (570) feet). Pointus (6720 feet), Pierre a L'Echelle (7016 feet), Col du Midi (11,665 feet), going sheer up the mountain side through for ests and over glaciers.

M. Eugster announces that the line will be rapidly built and that by the Summer of next year the first section of the line to the Col du Midi will be open, and the second section, to the Alguille du Midi, towards the end of the following year. He also intends to make the Col du Midi an "eternal" Winter sports station, using the eternal ice of the glacier as an ice rink and bobsleigh run, as the ice is smooth and without crevasses. His intention is also to construct a hotel o The cost of the return ticket from Damage to Spud Field and Orchard by Logs Is Alleged.

His potato patch and orchard spoiled by a boom of logs, Fred Yager filed suit in the Circuit Court yesterday morning, demanding $1000 damages from the Magness & Dougall Lumber Company. He says the boom riders tied the logs to one of his trees against his protest, the boom having escaped from farther up the river. As the boom lay along shore the water in the river rose, washing the logs ashore. Two acres of potatoes were spoiled, he declares, and four peach trees out. His ranch is in Marion

They ask the court to compel the Veneens to reconvey five lots in Point View Addition which were traded by the Turneys for the Tillamook property, or to give them $1400 damages.

Hoyt-Street Lien Attacked.

To have the city enjoined from selling their property to satisfy liens for the laying of water mains along Hoyt street, between Fourth and Fourteenth streets, Joseph Clossett and J. R. O'Nell brought suit in the Circuit Court yesterday. They say the city is attempting to collect the expense of this improvement by assess-ment against the individual property owners along Hoyt street instead of by the sale of bonds. They ask that the lien be cancelled, to remove the cloud from the title to their property.

HILL'S TRIP NOT ANNOUNCED

Railroad Man Expected Soon, but Date Is Not Fixed.

While it has been generally expected that J. J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern Railroad, would be in Oregon toward the end of the month, none of the local Hill officials are acquainted with his movements.

"I hardly expect that Hill will be here for some time," said one of them yes-terday. "When James J. Hill gets ready to leave St. Paul he will let us know. He has not done so up to the present."

The main object of Mr. Hill's proposed journey is to acquaint himself with the work done by John F. Stevens, president of the Oregon Trunk.
