BY W. J. PETRAIN. Chalk one to Ivan Olson. Portland's premier shortstopper booted a couple of grounders in the first inning of the initial contest with the Seals yesterday, and both counted in two scores annexed by the visitors in that inning. "Slivers" Henley succeeded in administering the whitewash to the locals, so the final register was 2 to 0 in favor of the Mohlerites.

2 to 0 in favor of the Mohierites.
It was the proverblal San Francisco luck over again, and a repetition of the past season's performance, for the Seals took the opener last season. For several seasons before that they had distinguished themselves by winning the first game in Portland, too. After that first inning, when the two boots allowed two scores, Gene Krapp', the Portland star, pitched such a good game that everyone who saw it expressed regret that he should be credited with a loss. The little chap heaved circles around Henley after the first canto, and during the eight innings he occupied the slab he whifted nine of the Seals, and all told allowed but three bingles.

Shaw, the White Sox recruit, who has filled in nicely in the Seals' line-up, was the first man up, but his grounder to Olson was messed by the shortstopper. Mobiler sacrificed, and Melchior laced a sharp one to left, which Speas failed to stop, and the hit went for three bases, scoring Shaw. Tennant fanned, but Vitt walked. Then Bodle hit to Olson, who once more booted, and Melchior scored. Vitt was nipped at the register on an attempted double steal. After that there were no more scores, and the game ended with two for the Seals and nothing for Portland.

In the eighth inning Krapp pulled off

In the eighth inning Krapp pulled off the best fielding stunt of the day when he dashed to the third base line and caught Shaw's attempted sacrifice bunt, and wheeled, practically falling, in time to double out Henley, who had hit for two bases, before he could get back to Portland's half of the eighth Mc-Credle sent Armbruster in to bat for Mur-ray, and then followed this by having Guyn hit for Krapp, and the tail manager himself took a fling at the bat by hitting for Netzel, but without result. Henley was too good for the home guard to solve him. This necessitated a change in batteries and the ninth inning saw Guyn and Armbruster in for Portland, and while the Scals grabbed two bingles off Howard, he succeeded in disposing of them without trouble.

The official score of the game is as

BIG MOTORDROME

Racing Enthusiasts May Outdo Los Angeles With $60,000 Track.

PROMOTERS COMING HERE

Plan Outlined to Bring to City Fastest Auto Teams in United States and Europe in 1911. Local Men to Give Aid.

That a motordrome to cost approximate. ly $80,000, similar to the one in Los Angeles, may be built in Portland in time geles, may be built in Portland in time for the racing season of 1311, was the statement of Fred J. Wagner, official timer of the American Automobile Association, who was in this city yesterday. F. El Moscovics and Jack Prince, builders of the famous automobile speedway in Los Angeles, are seriously considering the practicability of constructing a motordrome in Portland, and probably will be here to talk the matter over with local enthusiasts within the next week, according to Mr. Wagner.

enthusiasts within the next week, according to Mr. Wagner.
Growing out of the proposition to establish an automobile racing circuit on the Pacific Coast, the idea of building motordromes in each of the four cities considered is developing, according to news which comes from San Francisco. Portland is the first city to be considered in the matter, as this city is generally credited with being the automobile center of the Northwest.

Promoters Coming Here.

Moscovics and Prince, who are respon sible for the Los Angeles motordrome, talked with me regarding the construction of a like track in Portland," said Mr. Wagner yesterday, "and they told me they expected to leave for this city in a few days to look over the situation and discuss the proposition with local automobiling officials.

"With a motordrome here, as well as in Los Angeles, the finest and fastest racing teams in the world would be brought West. In addition to this feature, the racing of stock cars must also be given consideration, as it is an important part of a race meet. On the motordrome the stock cars are given as good an opportunity to race as are the cars built especially for this purpose. The manufacturers are begining to realize the benefits which accrue to them from racing, and they could be depended upon to support heartfly a racing circuit. What advertising Portland would receive can be readily seen from the amount of newspaper space which was devoted to he Los Angeles meet.

"Sanction for the races would be granted by the American Automobile Associa tion, and Eastern officials, racers and automobile men in general would take a great interest in a meet in Oregon.

Visitors See Portland.

Charles B. Shanks. Oregon representative of the A. A. A., escorted the yisitors over the city in an automioble yesterday. With Fred Wagner were Charles H. Warner, manufacturer of a timing device that records hundredths of a second, and A. L. McMurtry, chairman of the technical board of the A. A. A. Discussion of the proposed Portland motordrome brought out the fact that the speedway could be constructed here a great deal cheaper than the one in Los Angeles, which cost in the neighborhood of $90,000. This is on account of the fact that immber could be secured here at a that lumber could be secured here at a much lower price.

"If a suitable site, comprising about 150 acres, can be leased up the river within a short distance from Portland, I believe that the motordrome proposition will a success," said Mr. Shanks yesterday.
"Los Angeles meets suffered and will suffer in the future from the fact that the motordrome is situated so far from the city that a 40-cent carfare is charged. In Portland, with both river and rail transportation, this obstacle to securing large attendance would not be met. This city is ripe for such a move, and I can't see how it would be a failure if handled properly."

Local people will get into communica-tion with Moscovics and Prince, who are now in San Francisco, and find out im-mediately what preliminary plans have een made. M. C. Dickinson, president of the Automobile Club, yesterday had a conference with the visitors in his office. He said that he was certain the local automobiling organization would lend every assistance to the men who, according to Wagner are considering the continuous ner, are considering the construction of a motordrome here.

In connection with the motordrome, if built. Mr. Wagner said that there would be no difficulty in securing the best drivers in the country to come West. De Palma, Barney Oldfield, Bragg and Jack Robertson are only a few of those on the list. He also said that the manufacturers would be ready to send two carloads of stock machines to Portland for the ready to be ready to send two carloads of stock machines to Portland for the races if the circuit were established.

SPRINGFIELD HEADS LEAGUE

One-Sided Contest Is Taken From Cottage Grove Nine.

SPRINGFIELD, Or., April 25.—(Special.)—As the result of a one-sided game with Cottage Grove Sunday, Springfield now stands at the top of the Williamette Valley League with apparently good chances of staying there. With a crippled team and men shifted out of regular order, Springfield drubbed the visitors, 8 to 3.

In the eighth, however, the Cottage Grove team played the locals off their feet for a few minutes, getting in three men. One got home through a fair hit and the other two on the only two errors made by the local team.

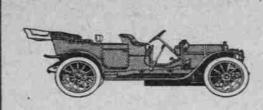

The one-sidedness of the game gave The one-sidedness of the game gave rise to some rowdyism in the grand-stand. Special police will be provided hereafter.

Baker made a beautiful catch for Springfield in the eighth, catching the ball on the run near the fence and turning what appeared to be a com-plete revolution. This ended Cottage Grove's chance to score. The score: R. H. E. R. H. E. and get another.
