TEN TRAINS TAKEN

Heavy Travel West This Summer Is Certain.

SOO LINES' AGENT TALKS

W. H. Allen Says People Who Visited Seattle Fair Will Return in Large Numbers to Make Home in Pacific Northwest.

Instanting the enormous westward travel in prospect for the vacation months of this Summer, W. H. Allen, district passenger agent of the Soo Lines, New York, said yesterday that 10 complete trains had already been chartered to run to Portland and the Pacific Northwest over the Canadian Pacific and Soo systems.

Four tourist companies, of New York, will each have one train. There will be four trains of bankers from New York, and one from Indiana, for the Bankers' Conference at Los Angeles in August. These will return by way of Portland, and a trainload of teachers has been arranged for from Washington, D. C.

This is without any account being taken of the individual travelers, who will approach closely $6,000, over the lines he represents, Mr. Allen believes. "Portland owes a great debt to the A.-Y.-P.," said Mr. Allen. "At the time of the fair the cheap westward rates sent out the middle-class people of the East to look over your country. They became tremendously impressed with Portland, and have told their friends about the town and country you have here. That is why we have had the heavy influx of inquiries, all from about the same class of people."

"We are here in accordance with the educational policy established by W. R. Callaway, general passenger agent and head of our advertising department at Minneapolis. Mr. Callaway is getting out some of the best advertising matter regarding Portland I have ever seen. The only trouble is, it is so expensive, we hesitate about general distribution.

As specimens of the advertising, Mr. Allen showed some beautiful water-colored prints of Portland and vicinity. These, he said, were mailed to all inquirers.

Mr. Allen was accompanied by Claude C. Hill, district passenger agent of Chicago, and C. D. Harper, district passenger agent of Cincinnati. Mrs. Harper is also with the party.

LIGHT RAINS SCHEDULED

Barometer Depressed Over Entire Northwest Country.

Light rains last night will be followed by showers today and probably tomorrow. Southerly winds will accompany the rain and general Spring showers will be in order for the district in and around Portland. The barometer fell rapidly over the entire Northwest yesterday and present conditions resulted.

The Willamette River at Portland will come to a standstill about Monday, at a stage of 17.2 feet. At Lewiston the Snake River is falling, and at Wenatchee, on the Upper Columbia, the river is rising slowly. The Willamette is falling at all points except Portland. The river readings yesterday were:

RULER GIVES GOLD CHAIN

FRANZ JOSEF REWARDS WIDOW AN WHO SAVED PRINCE.

Alde, However, Delivers Present With Note of Laughaible Frigid-ity, and Is Reprimanded.

VIENNA, April 29.—(Special).—In spite of his age, Emperor Franz Josef has a retentive memory. He has just sent a gold chain of gold, with his initials in preloved stones, to a certain Frau Catherine Winkler on the occasion of her 80th birthday, in memory of the fact that she saved the life of the Prince Imperial, the ill-fated Rudolph, in 1871.

This was the way of it. On Easter Sunday of that year Frau Catherine Winkler, proprietor of a restaurant for tourists in the valley of the Naif, in the Tyrol, near Meran, was in her home with her little 2-year-old son, when she thought she heard cries of distress from the river Naif, a madly rushing tributary of the Danube. She ran out, deposited her little boy in the middle of a field and hurried in the direction of the cries for help.

There, on the opposite bank, she perceived a man and a 10-year-old boy. They were on the steep river wall, and the child was clinging to the little man, who was struggling between stones. He seemed to press his face against the rough stone wall to avoid becoming giddy at the sight of the glacier-fed torrent far below him. She called out to them to hold on tight, and at last of her life, climbed along the slippery lower wall and finally reached the man, whom she caught in her arms and helped to descend to the bank of the river. Then she did the same for the child, and both found themselves safe and sound in the valley. It was only later that she learned the identity of those she had rescued.

The Prince Imperial gave her all the money he had on him, and made her promise to say nothing of the terrible adventure, lest his parents should learn of it. She kept the secret, and the affair was not divulged until 1880, when the officers of the garrison of Meran erected a tablet in marble on the spot where the Prince had been in danger.

Accompanying the gift just made by the Emperor was a letter written by him, first aide-de-camp to the Emperor. It runs:
"His Imperial, Royal and Apostolic Majesty deigns on the occasion of the 80th anniversary of birth, which it has been granted you to celebrate recently in perfect health and mind, and in very gracious souvenir of the incident relating to his late Serene, Imperial and Royal Highness, the Archduke Rudolph, to whom you indicated his road with a very special obligingness in the course of an excursion, makes you a present of a chain of gold, with the initials of his very august Majesty in diamonds, etc."

BRITISH MANSION TAKEN

CALIFORNIA WOMAN ENTERS LONDON SOCIETY.

Season of Entertaining Will Be Enlivened by Visit of Roosevelt and by Horse Show.

LONDON, April 29.—(Special).—Anglo-American circles in London are almost excited at the prospect of a banner season in this old town. To join the crowd of entertainers comes Mrs. William Miller Graham, of Santa Barbara, Cal., who has rented Lady Numburholme's stately mansion at 41 Grosvenor Square.

One of the best of the hostesses in an exclusive square, it is well suited for lavish entertaining and it is understood that Mrs. Miller Graham when she comes over from Paris in a week or two will eclipse the originality of the festivities at her California home.

The Numburholme family name is Wilson and the head of the house is also chief of a big Hull shipping concern. It was the first Lord Numburholme who entertained King Edward, while Prince of Wales, at Tranby Croft—out of which arose the famous scandal that started a social gossip to a froth, involving as it did the heir to the throne. The host of that notorious party died recently, so the family is anxious to sell the Grosvenor Square house at the end of the Miller Graham tenancy.

Add to the mounting list of American entertainers the movement surrounding the visit of the Roosevelt and the International Horse Show, and it is clear London is in for any amount of social hustle in the next two months. Nothing positive can be stated about the Roosevelt arrangements here for a few days, for the programme is still subject to alteration. But with the return of Ambassador Whiteley Reid with Mrs. Reid and Mrs. John Ward from the Riviera, plans are rapidly shaping definitely. The Countess of Granard is also to take a hand in making things pleasant for the hunter and his family.

Only thing is clear, if Colonel Roosevelt replied in the affirmative to every invitation sent in to him already he would have to stay here some years to keep his promises. Not only hostesses want him to be lion at their gatherings, but clubs, institutions, societies and every one and size of organization are keen on chalking

Klamath to Have Fifth Bank.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., April 29.—Klamath Falls is to have a fifth bank, the Federal National, S. O. Johnson and G. X. Wendling, of San Francisco, are behind the movement.

Going-Street Addition is high and slightly.

JUDGES FROM MINORITY

They Seem to Prosper Most in Non-Partisan Campaigns.

ROSEBURG, Or., April 29.—(To the Editor).—I observe that the Multnomah County bar is now agitating the proposition of having a nonpartisan judiciary, and think that the judiciary of Oregon is not suffering so much at present from partisanship as it is from self-serving politics. Partisanship on the bench is dead, or at least dormant, in Oregon. But there has grown up an even more insidious and much more contemptible species of political favoritism that seems to thrive best, with judges elected from the minority parties.

Thrown on their own personal political resources, instead of the evil of partisanship only occasionally manifested itself, the entire term, for which some are elected, seems to be come a campaign for the next election. This would be unobjectionable if it was based upon a conscientious desire to make a good record, but, unfortunately, human nature is just as frail whether the judge is selected by party or by individual effort, and the "day-making" that is done on the bench during his term of office by a "nonpartisan" is the same good, old-fashioned occupation of catering to influence and guarding weakness, cultivating the good opinion of the rich and powerful, of the many rather than the few, ever allying with power, regardless of right. In short, consciously or unconsciously, trying to make each word, act, and decision count for personal political aggrandizement, by the ordinary political methods. A litigant without the political substance in sight has about as much show to win with one of these "nonpartisans" as Dr. Cook has to get a medal from Congress.

The same reason that prompts the judge who is weak enough to be partisan prompts the "nonpartisan" to be politic. But this is to be said in favor of the so-called partisan as between

POLICE HELMETS MAY GO

Sig. Sichel Impressed by Military Caps Worn in East.

Prepare to forget the helmet so long worn by the policemen of America, for in Portland it is soon to give way to the natty military cap, which is now being substituted in cities where the police forces are kept abreast of the times.

Sig. Sichel, who has been visiting in New York, yesterday declared that the military caps, which are worn by the police there, have made a great impression upon him and he has wired for samples. It is the plan to get the caps here for the semi-annual inspection in May.

As to electric lights, Mr. Sichel says Portland is all right, as it has as good lights as any city in America.

entry on their records that they have entertained "the greatest modern American" as they all call him.

To nearly all the ex-President has replied that he would be overjoyed to accept, but his time in England is limited to a month and he is keen on seeing a good bit of the land in the company of his immediate circle of friends. But he is in danger of losing some of his African tiger vigor in this hall of hospitality for all that.

It is laughable, if not pathetic, to see the bar up in arms over this fancied danger of partisanship, defending the "nonpartisan" judges, when it is a notorious fact that three-fourths of the "nonpartisan" political capital is made by cultivating a semblance of hostility toward his own chosen profession, encouraging the popular prejudices against lawyers of which he probably was one of the most reprehensible before he became infatigable by virtue of being judge, and laying the blame of his own mistakes on the innocent shoulders of the bar.

I do not desire to discourage the bar from assisting some of these "nonpartisan" politicians. In fact, I would have them give the widest advertisement possible to the fact that the bar wants them for judges. The confidence the general public has in their judgment in such matters, which has been so carefully maintained by their friends, the "nonpartisans," will do the rest.

ALBERT ABRAHAM.
