Yamhill Timber Company Transfers Property to Carlton Consolidated Lumber Company, Which Will Build Pond and Railroad.

One of the largest timber deals of recent years in Oregon was brought to a successful culmination the other day, when 11,000 aures of timber land lying in Yamhill and Tillamook counties were secured by the Carlton Consolidated Lumber Company of this city. This company was recently incorporated with a capital stock of $2,000,000.

The property was purchased from the Yamhili Timber Company, and is one of the finest bodies of yellow fir in the Coast Range. The plant of the Carlton Lumber Company, at Carlton, Or., was also secured. This consists of a mill capeble of cutting 50,000,000 feet per year. Carlton is 43 miles from Portland and is the center of a rich agricultural and is the center of a rich agricultural and fruit country.

One of the improvements which has been made by the old company is the creation of an artificial lake covering 481 acres of land. This lake furnishes large pond facilities for storing logs, as well as supplying water for the town of Carlton. The mill is at present connected by a switch with the Southern Pacific Railway tracks.

Engineers are completing plans for the construction of a railroad from the com-pany's mills to the town of Fuirdale, about 15 miles from Cariton. Two routes for the road are ne known as the Moore's Valley route and the other as the water route. A choice of route will be made soon, when actual construction work will be begun. The road will be a common carrier, of stand-ard gauge, and will pass through valua-ble fruit, as well as timber lands.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS LOOKED FOR THURSDAY NIGHT.

Speaking of Duties, Rev. Mr. Hinson Says He Will Not Take Vacation at Church's Expense.

Members of the White Temple confidently expect that Dr. W. B. Hinson will formally accept their call to the pastorate of the First Baptist Church at the torate of the First Baptist Church at the prayer meeting tomorrow night.

Dr. Hinson has held a conference with the prudential committee, in which he outlined his ideas of how a church should be conducted. He intends to occupy the pulpit of his church, it is said, every Sunday in the year, taking no vacation at the expense of the church. If he does take a vaction, he will probably exchange pulpits with another Baptist pastor.

Dr. Hinson will also preach a sermon every Thursday night at the prayer meet-ing. He is said to have made no sug-gestions at his conference with the pru-dential committee regarding an addition to the church for institutional work or in reference to the anti-salcon campaign.
