

HEINZE IN POOL

Government Seeks to Prove His Connection.

MYSTERIOUS LOAN MADE

Clerk Who Borrowed $600,000 From Mercantile Bank Admits That He Turned Proceeds Over to Firm Without Question.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Judge Hough today again criticized the Government's method of presenting its case against P. August Heintz, who is charged with misapplication of funds of the Mercantile National Bank and with over-certification of the checks of Otto Heintz Co., his firm.

A protest was made by Heintz's attorneys when District Attorney Wise attempted to question a witness concerning the value of United Copper stock in which the Heintz firm was interested. Judge Hough then interrupted the proceedings to say that the court doubted whether the indictment, charging misapplication, warranted such questioning. He submitted many objections of Heintz's counsel.

Clerk Gets $600,000 Loan.

Despite rebuffs, however, Mr. Wise continued to hammer away. He succeeded in drawing the admission from Max H. Schuitze, a member of the Heintz firm, that there was a syndicate in United Copper stock in 1907, and some light also was thrown on a loan of $600,000 made by the Mercantile National bank August 5, 1907, to Frederick Eckstein, an employee of the United Copper Company. Eckstein testified that he had no hand in the loan, knew nothing about it, but had made and turned the entire $600,000 over to the account of Schuitze, who acted as trustee in certain copper stock transactions.

It has been the contention of the prosecution that the defendant was interested in a United Copper pool in 1907 and that the Mercantile's funds were used to further the pool's interests.

Another Brother Involved.

The Government will attempt to connect Heintz with the syndicate that Schuitze so-called in 1907, and to show that this so-called pool continued until October 14, 1908.

By Eckstein Mr. Wise tried to show that Arthur P. Heintz, another brother of the defendant, was interested in the pool of 1907. Heintz's name appears on the checks from Arthur Heintz which he supposed went "to something like that," but he did not think it was a pool.

"Didn't you contribute $200 to a pool in United Copper in the summer of 1907, of which Arthur Heintz was a member?" asked Mr. Wise.

"Mr. Heintz asked me for $200, saying he'd make money for me," replied Eckstein, "and I gave it to him."

CORDIAL WELCOME GIVEN

Pendleton Business Men Highly Pleased With Junket.

PENDLETON, Or., May 4.—(Special.)—The 150 Pendleton business men and their wives returned this evening from the most successful junket ever conducted by the local Commercial Association.

At every point where stops were made, the special train was met by crowds of enthusiastic citizens, and the entire trip was one continual triumphal tour. Meetings were held at Adams and Weston, on the outward trip, while the returning feature of the excursion being the reception in Walla Walla. The returning stops were made at Milton and Freewater.

Walla Walla was met by crowds of visitors, and the residents of the Washington town fairly outdid themselves in their display of fellowship and friendly feeling. A cordial welcome was extended at every town, and the residents of the east end of the county are better acquainted with Pendleton's business men than they have ever been before.

GHOULS ROB AUTO VICTIMS

Jewelry Taken From Bodies of Women Killed at Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 4.—(Special.)—That ghouls robbed the dead bodies of his daughters while they were being taken from the tidelands following an automobile accident last August 19, is the assertion made by D. R. Cowan, of Vancouver, B. C. Cowan asserts that the bodies were despoiled of rings.

Cowan's assertions are made in a letter to Mayor Gill, written in connection with Cowan's application for reimbursement from the city for the expenses incident to the death and interment of Mrs. J. Colvin and Miss Agnes Cowan, two of the four women who, with Chauffeur Ira Perry, went to their death when an automobile plunged from the bridge at what is known as "Dead man's curve," on the road to Georgetown.

The committee members in charge of arrangements: T. K. A. Sellwood, of Milwaukie; Thomas F. Ryan, of Oregon City; J. W. Thomas, of Multnomah; A. J. Lewis, of Maple Lane, and J. D. Clitwood, of Damascus, have been exceedingly busy for the last few weeks completing the plans for holding the state meeting.

The business sessions of the convention will be held at the Courthouse and the initiatory and degree work will be put on in the Masonic Temple. Receptions and entertainments are planned for the visitors, and a committee from the Oregon City Commercial Club is assisting to arrange for the comfort and pleasure of the delegates.

THOMSON CAN'T TAKE PAY

Mayor Will Not Let North Vancouver Have Seattle Engineer.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 4.—(Special.)—Providing City Engineer Thomson is willing to donate his services to North Vancouver, B. C., Mayor Gill will not object to his carrying out a promise made to the North Vancouver officials to submit a plan for a general grading and regrading of that city, which faces the same problems as Seattle, as far as steep grades are concerned.

Mayor Gill of North Vancouver, in a letter that reached Mayor Gill today, asked that Thomson be granted a leave of absence to carry out a promise made some months ago to prepare plans and submit estimates for a general regrading of the British Columbia city.

Mayor Gill has gone on record as opposed to the city Engineer doing work for other cities for a consideration and at the same time receiving his regular compensation of $7500 a year from Seattle.

COMPANIES ARE TARDY

MANY CORPORATIONS SUBJECT TO TAX PENALTY.

Hundreds of Stragglers Send in Reports of Incomes After Expiration of Prescribed Time.

Hundreds of Oregon corporations may be subject to the penalty provisions of the income-tax laws, in the opinion of David M. Dunne, collector of internal revenue for the Port of Portland.

Since the period for filing statements of earnings for the preceding year expired on March 31, the local collector has been receiving stragglers reports and forwarding them to Washington without recommendation or comment.

What will be done with the belated efforts to comply with the law is problematical, none of them having been refused by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to date. About 30 reports were received and forwarded during April, and 35 additional reports awaited mailing last night.

When asked about suits against Oregon corporations District Attorney McCourt said:

"It is probable that a great many corporations are delinquent under the income tax law, and it is very likely that some suits may be commenced here, but up to this time I have heard nothing about them. The cases will rest in the office from the hands of Collector Dunne, who will receive them from Washington.

"I understand that there is a test case now pending in the United States Supreme Court, involving the validity of the income-tax law, and that it is soon to be argued. It was brought by a citizen of an Illinois corporation and enjoined the officers of that company from complying with the law. Perhaps nothing will be done at Washington until the result of those concerns which failed to report until the test case is disposed of. I do not know definitely what is contemplated."

It was reported yesterday that the Internal Revenue officers are very confident of winning the test case in the Supreme Court and that preparations are being made to bring suits immediately.

DEATH CLAIMS PORTLAND WOMAN WHO CROSSED PLAINS IN 1894.

Mrs. Ellen Eaton, an early Oregon pioneer, died at Cornelius, Or., Tuesday, May 3, aged 87 years 6 months and 8 days. Mrs. Eaton crossed the plains with her father and her first husband, John VanRossem, in 1844, locating near La Grande. In 1868, after the death of her first husband, she was married to Thomas J. Eaton, of Walla Walla, and shortly after moved to the Willamette Valley. In 1882 they moved to Portland and resided at 461 North Front street until the death of Mr. Eaton in 1891.

Mrs. Eaton, in company with her sister, Mrs. G. M. Teal, of La Grande, achieved distinction in August, 1908, by climbing to the summit of Mount Emily, a rugged peak towering 8000 feet above the highest in the Grand Ronde Valley. This feat, accomplished by two women, both over 60, attracted considerable attention at the time.

Mrs. Eaton is survived by five children, all of whom reside in Oregon. They are: Earl Van Rossum, Mrs. L. B. Bohn, W. C. Eaton, G. J. Eaton and Mrs. Anness Bertrand.

The funeral will be held from the residence of W. G. Eaton, No. 73 East Sixteenth street, the date to be announced later.

MAN'S CLOTHES EXPLODE

Spark Brings Death to Employee of Nitroglycerine Factory.

Lighting his pipe and having sparks touch his clothes, with the result a terrific explosion followed, is the way in which a British Columbia powder worker met death a short time ago, according to E. C. Byford, Government powder inspector for Canada and the United States, who was at the Cornelius Hotel yesterday.

"I was called to one of the powder works not far from Vancouver, B. C. a few weeks ago," said Mr. Byford yesterday, "to investigate the death of an employe. I learned that he was a man who had had charge of nitroglycerine, and through his constant handling of high explosive, his clothes had become virtually saturated. One afternoon, while wearing his working clothes, which he had neglected to have cleaned, he struck the match on his trousers. Striking this caused the explosion or whether sparks from the bowl of his pipe fell on his clothes will never be known. At any rate, the man was blown to atoms.

"It was one of the strangest cases I have had in my experience as a powder inspector. I also investigated the death of a man in Montana some time ago who was killed in a similar manner. He had filtered some nitroglycerine through an old felt hat, afterwards throwing the hat upon a shelf. Several months later he picked up the hat, and finding it was covered with dust, slammed it down on a bench. What was found of him was buried the next day."

SEVENTH TO BE WIDENED

Other Improvements Also Pending in North End District.

The North End district will be transformed within a short time, pending improvements are made. Councilman Dunning has secured the adoption of a resolution widening Seventh from Burnside to Gilsan to be paved with Belgian blocks at once.

Third street is already hard-surfaced to Gilsan with these two new improvements it is believed a general cleaning up will result and that many new buildings will rise to take the place of the frame shacks that have long marked the district. It is expected Seventh street will become one of the main arteries, the opening of the new bridge will have its western terminus at Seventh and Hoyt streets, and it is believed there will be little, if any, opposition to widening the thoroughfare from 60 to 80 feet.

Efforts have been made for many months to pave Fourth, from Burnside to Gilsan, with stone blocks, but until recently has the city been able to secure a reasonable bid for the work. City Engineer Morris now says a quarry has been located where it will be possible for him to get all of the blocks he wishes, and it is said that he will soon commence this important work.

TEAM ON WAY TO MEET

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON ATHLETES MISS HUSTON.

Aggregation is confident, though, of making good showing at contest in Seattle.

In charge of Trainer "Bill" Hayward, the University of Oregon track team will arrive in Portland tonight on the way to Seattle, where it will compete with the University of Washington and the University of Idaho track teams in the annual triangular track and field meet on Denny Field.

Oregon has won this meet every year by a majority of points, but expects a closer race this year on account of the inexperience of the men. The absence of Oliver Huston in the hundred-yard dash is a great loss, for he was always a sure point winner. Kay, a youngster from Salem, is running nicely, however, and may capture that event.

The university boys will return from Seattle Sunday and will leave immediately for the All-Coast meet to be held at Berkeley. With Trainer Hayward and Manager Espey will be the following men: Captain Williams, Kay, Johns, McDaniels, Riddell, McClure, Alder, etc.

MISSION WORKERS IN CITY

Clergyman, Returned From Siam, Will Speak Thursday Night.

After six years spent in mission work in Siam, Rev. and Mrs. W. J. McClure have returned to America. They landed in San Francisco Monday 1, and are now visiting in Portland. They will remain here a few days before departing for Fairfield, Iowa, to visit their four children, whom they have not seen for more than six years.

Dr. McClure and his wife have been in general mission work in various parts of the country for a number of years and it is probable that they will return to Siam and take up the work on the expiration of their year's furlough. Dr. McClure will speak at the Thursday night prayer-meeting at the First Presbyterian Church, Twelfth and Alder streets.
