

SKIN OF DEAD MAN IS WORRY TO GOHL

Dramatic Features Incident to Trial of Murder Case at Montesano.

ACCUSED SEES BLOOD; PALE

Part of Body of Hadberg and Misdemeaned Clothing Introduced as Evidence—Many Witnesses on Stand—State Busy.

MONTESSANO, Wash., May 5.—Two dramatic features presented themselves during today's session of the Gohl murder trial.

One occurred when, during the state's introduction of witnesses to prove the identity of the corpse alleged to be Charles Hadberg, alleged victim of Gohl, a preserved slice of flesh and skin, cut from the left arm of the dead man, was brought into court to show the tattoo marks shaped to resemble a rose pierced by a dagger and with the initials "H. H." beneath.

The initials are claimed to stand for "Henry Hadberg," the correct surname of the murdered man.

Gohl is fascinated. The other incident followed soon after when the clothing from the dead body, together with the big anchor, which weighed the corpse down, were introduced. The bloody, mud-smeared clothing was spread upon the floor close beside the chair of Gohl. The accused man whitened to the edges of his collar. Without moving a muscle he gazed, as though fascinated, as one article after another was brought to light and spread for inspection.

Finally, he heaved a long sigh and gazed as though appealingly at the court, but time after time, as though his gaze was drawn by magnetism, his eyes returned to the accusing bundle of rags on the floor.

Seven witnesses were called by the state during the afternoon session, as follows: Dr. Paul Smith, coroner; S. A. Randolph, undertaker who cared for the body; Dr. George E. Chamberlain, present at the autopsy; George Dean, chief of police; Aberdeen; Colin McKenzie, photographer; K. Y. Church, city detective; and J. B. Smith, owner of the launch which took the officials to the scene of the crime; the body was found.

State Would Prove Identity.

Attempts of the State during the morning session were confined to proving the identity of the dead body as that of Charles Hadberg, while the cross-examination by the defense seemed to be to refute his testimony and impeach the identification. Prosecutor Campbell stated tonight that there probably would be at least 20 more witnesses for the state. The testimony of Bill Montyee and John Kligenberg, expected to be the most sensational for the state, is yet to come. The defense will introduce but five or six witnesses.

CITY MAY INSTALL PLANT

Municipal Lighting Is Proposed at Klamath Falls.

KLAMATH FALLS, May 5.—(Special.)—A movement is now on foot for the establishment of a municipal lighting plant for this city and some of the business men have taken up the project with Mayor Sanderson. At the recent city election the city voted to purchase two parcels of land for the dumping of garbage from the city. It is now proposed to use this refuse for the manufacture of gas with which to do cooking, heating and lighting.

The proposition is to have the business men of the city establish the plant which, it is said, could manufacture gas at a cost of not more than 20 cents per thousand, and this could be furnished to the consumers at about 30 cents. The business men would sign a contract with the city whereby it could rent all the profits and then take the plant over as a municipal institution.

MRS. JOHNSON TO FIGHT

Woman Convicted of Fraud Does Not Like Prospect of Prison Term.

VANCOUVER, Wash., May 5.—(Special.)—Apparently Mrs. Maud Myrtle Johnson, sentenced to an indeterminate sentence of from one to five years in the State Penitentiary at Walla Walla, for defrauding the Northern Pacific Railroad Company out of $1250 by feigning injury, will make a strenuous effort to escape imprisonment by invoking the aid of every known artifice in law, provided to protect the criminal.

PULLEY CATCHES WORKER

Sawmill Employee Owes Life to Working of Safety Device.

EUGENE, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—Fred Bartlett, an employe of the Eugene Lumber Company, owes his life to the precautions of his employers, who have complied with the state law in establishing safety devices in the rigging that runs their machinery. Bartlett, while standing between two revolving pulleys, was caught from behind by the belts and thrown against a revolving shaft. His fellow-workers heard his cries and immediately cut him loose.

GILLIAM COUNTY BOOST ON

Harriman Lines to Show East What Oregon Offers.

CONDON, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—John Scott Mills and George M. Welster, representing the publicity department of the Harriman lines, are in the city compiling data for the literature, advertising this county, which is to be issued by the railroad. Ten thousand of these pamphlets will be printed and, through the agency of the Gilliam County Opportunity Association, they will be distributed among prospective housekeepers throughout the East.

Mr. Welster is the official photographer of the Harriman interests in the Pacific Northwest, a position he has held for 23 years. He has begun making a collection of photographic views suitable for the publication. The literary part of the work will be contributed by Mr. Mills. These gentlemen have just completed a similar mission in Sherman County. This will be the initial effort on the part of Gilliam County people to advertise the re-

CORVALLIS ATTORNEY HONORED BY GOVERNOR BENSON.

Judge J. Fred Yates. CORVALLIS, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—Judge J. Fred Yates, of this city, has just been appointed a County Judge of Benton County by Governor Benson to succeed E. Woodward, who resigned on account of change of residence.

Mr. Yates is one of the early graduates of the Oregon Agricultural College and has been a prominent attorney here for years. Because of his wide business experience and long service as a public officer, the appointment of Mr. Yates probably will meet with the approval of citizens and taxpayers of Benton County.

UGLY MAN IS TABOED

UNCLE SAM ISSUES NEW RULES FOR ARMY RECRUITS.

War Department Says Soldiers of Future Must Be Comely and Symmetrical in Development.

VANCOUVER BARRACKS, May 5.—(Special.)—Ugliness in extreme degree is cause for rejection of applicants for enlistment in the United States Army, according to the new rules issued by the War Department. It matters not whether the uncomeliness is a result of atrophy of part of the face or of a lack of symmetrical development.

A man may be bow-legged and still be accepted for service if the deformity is not particularly noticeable when he is dressed. Ingrown toenails, bad and painful bunions, hammer toes, flat-foot, corns on the sole of the foot, when tender, are causes for rejecting the would-be soldier, even though he may be desirable in other ways.

A soldier is only as good as his feet and he must be able to travel in long marches. Men whose feet are habitually sodden, with itchy, cracked skin, are not accepted and a soldier whose feet give off an unpleasant odor will not be tolerated.

Web-Toed Man Taboed.

If a man has all of his toes webbed he will make a poor soldier for Uncle Sam and will not be accepted in times of peace. Entire loss of any finger, except the small one, on either hand, is disqualifying, as is also the loss of one or more fingers.

When a would-be soldier is knocked-kneed so as to be unable to take the position of a fighting man, and when his gait is clumsy or ungainly, he will not be accepted.

Uncle Sam is looking for handsome men, well-built physically and presenting a general good appearance. The various parts of the body should be well proportioned, the head symmetrical, the chest developed and well formed, the abdomen taut, and the limbs shapely with well developed muscles. The carriage should be erect and sprightly without any lack of control. The expression of the face should indicate physical and mental health and vigor, and there should be no repulsive deformity. The manner should be cheerful and alert, and the skin should be free from eruptions and clean.

A fat man will not be accepted for service if he is so heavy that he cannot march well.

Baldness, Too, Not Tolerated.

Permanent baldness is also a defect that Uncle Sam will not tolerate when his fighting men.

A man who stammers will never become a soldier when men are plentiful, if the impediment in the speech is pronounced.

However, a man who is color-blind is considered a good fighter if he is not in that branch of the service where color-blindness is prohibited, such as in the signal service.

BITE OF SPIDER SERIOUS

Druggist Suffers Injury Removing Articles From Old Cabinet.

SEASIDE, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—As a result of a spider's bite J. W. Conn, a druggist, is suffering from blood poisoning. When moving the stock of the Conn Drug Company to a new location Mr. Conn inserted his left hand into an old cabinet and was bitten by a small black spider.

Mr. Conn was given the bite for free some time, the only apparent effect being an itching sensation. The following day, however, the spot became inflamed. The inflammation increased until the entire hand and forearm have swollen with unmistakable symptoms of blood poisoning.

Streets to Be Improved.

OREGON CITY, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—The City Council has ordered the improvement of Twelfth and Washington streets, the two principal thoroughfares of the city.

GEORGE IS ASKED

Wife's Action Against His Parents Stirs Streib.

SHE ABUSED HIM, HE SAYS

Son of Milwaukee's Mayor Charges Spouse Told Falsehoods on Stand When She Sought Damages From Father and Mother.

OREGON CITY, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—Declaring that his wife caused him great suffering and humiliation by uttering falsehoods on the witness stand, in her damage suit for $25,000 against his parents, Phillip Streib, Jr., son of the Mayor of Milwaukee, this afternoon filed a suit for divorce against Mrs. Vonnie U. Streib, to whom he was married at Vancouver, Wash., June 16, 1907. George C. Brownell is his attorney.

Reports have been current here for some time that young Streib intended to ask for a legal separation and the rumor that his wife intended to leave the state tomorrow, hastened the filing of the action. It is charged that Mrs. Streib called her husband "a dirty dog" and "a cur" and said she "would not even spit on him," all of which made him unhappy and miserable.

She is said to have frequently held him up to contempt in the community of Milwaukee, and has to treat him kindly giving as a reason that she would not have anything to do with him unless he would prevail upon Mayor Streib to invite her into his home and allow her to live there, which the young man says he was unable to do.

While young Mrs. Streib's damage suit against her father-in-law for the alienation of her husband's affections was pending, she is said to have declined to live with her husband, unless he would consent to go on the witness stand and give evidence against his parents in the suit, wherein she recovered $4000. He refused to give such evidence and she immediately ordered him out of the house and refused to have anything further to do with him.

Young Mrs. Streib is also charged with abusing her husband on March 20, at Milwaukee, in the presence of Arthur Havill. Her husband accused her of setting fire to the house and she, in the complete control of her husband, at the home of the latter and had been introduced by one Emma Wetzel, which was untrue. He also says she is under the complete control of her father-in-law, George Hyde, and that her only purpose in living with her husband is to secure money from his parents, who are wealthy.

WOMAN PIONEER IS DEAD

Aged Mrs. Martha Ann Wood Came West Behind Ox-Team.

ALBANY, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. Martha Ann Wood, an Oregon pioneer of 1852 and one of the first settlers in Blodgett Valley, Benton County, died today at her home, 1115 East Water street, in this city, at the age of 77 years.

Born in Missouri in 1832, she crossed the plains when 20 years old, coming to Oregon behind an ox team, and settled in Blodgett Valley. There she lived with her husband continuously until about 12 years ago, when they moved to Albany and have since made their home in this city.

She is survived by her husband, Hiram Wood, of Albany, and 10 children—Rev. S. M. Wood, of Buella, Benton County; H. E. Wood, of Corvallis; William Wood, of Eugene; J. A. Wood, of Albany; George E. Wood, of Eugene; Amos Wood, of Salem; Henry Wood, of Minneapolis, Minn.; E. E. Wood, of Albany; Mrs. George Dixon of Corvallis, and Mrs. A. Becker, of Fourth of July. The contest for the place to hold the encampment was between Cornelius and Hillsboro.

CORNELIUS GETS VETERANS

Grand Army Encampment and Celebration Will Be Merged.

FOREST GROVE, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—The Washington County Veterans Association, at its semi-annual reunion held at Cornelius today, decided to hold its encampment at Hillsboro during the last three days in June and to join Cornelius in celebrating the Fourth of July. The contest for the place to hold the encampment was between Cornelius and Hillsboro.

MULES NEEDED FOR WORK

Horses Not Equal to Railway Construction on P. R. & N.

FOREST GROVE, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—Word comes here that Contractor Sweeney, who has charge of the construction work on the Pacific Railway & Navigation Company's line, is rushing Missouri mules to the scene of activities for the work along the Nehalem River.

The work there is difficult because of the rough country; the line traverses and horses have not been strong enough to stand the work. Horses have not been abandoned, but mules will be used to a large extent. The mules were taken by way of Sheridan across the mountains to Tillamook City.

ROAD MUST MEND ITS WAYS

Railroad Commission Takes Quick Action on Renton Weck.

OLYMPIA, Wash., May 5.—(Special.)—Completing its findings in the wreck on the Renton Southern last Saturday night, in which two people lost their lives and many were injured, the Railroad Commission of Washington today issued an order to the railroad to appear here May 27 and show cause why an order should not be issued compelling it to equip all freight trains with automatic couplers, and pending such equipment to man every freight train with a noterman, a conductor and a brakeman, one of the crew to ride on the last car of the train.

Big Fruit Crop in Prospect.

GARDNER, Or., May 5.—Prospects of a bumper fruit crop in the lower Umpqua and Smith River valleys were never better at this season. There has been almost an entire absence of frost

TALKS ON TEETH

WHICH KIND OF TEETH DO YOU PAY FOR?

Teeth is Teeth—When they are—But the great majority are not. That is, you buy teeth with all the faith, hope and trustfulness of your Nature, and you pay a Fair Price and you know you pay a Fair Price. But this does not cover defects, nor stem the tide of your indignation. When you discover some few months hence the indispensible sign of unearned wear and quick demise.

Teeth of Unknown or Undesirable quality are generally unworthy of your attention, which same you most frequently discover after you have paid the bill. This kind of thing makes it possible for you to know Alveolar teeth. They are guaranteed to stand you and withstand you for the rest of your natural life. They are beautiful, lifelike, serviceable and everlasting.

Now, here's an introduction: Alveolar Teeth. When bridge-work is impossible. If only your front teeth are left, say three or four or more, we can replace all those that have been lost on both sides back with perfect Alveolar teeth, whilst bridge-work would be impossible even if you had 8 or 10 front teeth to the top and 8 or 10 front teeth on each side, say, molars, we can substitute the front teeth with missing with beautiful, serviceable, life-like Alveolar teeth. This could not possibly be done with bridge-work. And where bridge-work is possible, there is a large percentage of our work is taking out bridge-work put in by supposedly high-class dentists and replacing it with the beautiful and practically painless. No boring or cutting of the teeth. It is a simple, safe, and painless. Now, then, prices being equal, which do you choose?

Curing Pyorrhea (loose teeth) a disease given up by other dentists as incurable. If you address us, we will cure it absolutely. It's a beautiful statement to make, but we can do anything, if possible, to satisfy you. What we do is always of the very highest class. We have books, Alveolar Dentistry, are free. Alveolar Dentistry cannot fail.

THE REX DENTAL CO., DENTISTS, 311 to 314 Abington Bldg., 106 1/2 3d St. Sundays, 10 to 12. Keep up your teeth. Terms to Reliable People.

$750 REWARD OFFERED

INTERESTED PARTIES SEEK SLAYER OF JESSE THRASHER.

Coroner's Jury Still Probing Mystery, No Evidence Yet Being Found Involving Greeks.

ASHLAND, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—A reward aggregating $750 is now offered for the apprehension of the murderer of Jesse Thrasher at Avers Spur, Monday night. The Ashland Manufacturing Company, George Thrasher, father of the murdered man, and Jackson County officers are interested.

The coroner's jury is still probing the mystery, adjourning at 5 o'clock today until tomorrow morning when examination of witnesses will be resumed. No evidence connecting the Greeks under arrest with the crime has yet been adduced, but evidence of hard feelings and quarrels at the spur over the race question was brought to light this afternoon at the inquest, threats having been made, according to testimony given, in employment of foreigners in competition with American labor.

JACKSONVILLE, Or., May 5.—(Special.)—The murder of Jesse Thrasher, who is a Jacksonville boy, has aroused indignation here. Thrasher was well-known throughout the valley and threats of lynching the suspects are heard here.

RAYMOND CLUB IS HOST

Good Roads Association and South Bend Commercial Club Guests.

RAYMOND, Wash., May 5.—(Special.)—The Pacific County Good Roads Association and the South Bend Commercial Club were the guests of the Raymond Commercial Club at a "love feast" at this place on Tuesday evening. The event was really the formal opening of the Raymond Commercial Club's luxurious quarters in the Phillips building, in which these organizations had been invited to participate. H. W. McPhail, president of the Raymond Commercial Club, made an address of welcome to the South Bend Commercial Club. Mayor A. C. Little made the address of welcome to the Pacific County Good Roads Association.
