GIRL IS KIDNAPED

Child Enticed by Stranger, Returns Home Alone.

ALL POLICE JOIN HUNT

Man Takes Marjorie Hamilton to Two Picture Shows and Picks Flowers in Cemetery—She Reaches Home Unharmed.

Little Marjorie Hamilton, 5 years old, wandered away from her home at 25 East Twelfth street, shortly after noon yesterday, not putting in an appearance again until 10 o'clock last night. The entire police and detective force of the city was searching for the girl during the afternoon and until she returned home.

In company with Francis Burgard, an 8-year-old boy, who is a neighbor of the little girl, Marjorie wandered down town to see the "big city." On the west end of the Burnside bridge the youthful duo were met by a strange man, who, after making friends with the children, took them to a moving picture show at 42 Third street.

When they had watched the moving films a few minutes, the stranger took the little girl outside, telling the boy to wait for them, as they would return shortly. The lad waited half an hour, then became frightened and ran home, where he told the story of the disappearance of his playmate.

The frantic mother immediately notified the police department, which began a search of the town for the missing child. J. R. Hamilton, father of the girl, secured a rowboat and looked along the waterfront.

Child Returns Alone.

About 10 o'clock last night Marjorie appeared at her home, having walked 15 blocks alone from an East Side nickelodeon, where she had been left by the man. She told her parents that the man had taken her out in the country to some cemetery, had picked flowers for her and bought her some ice-cream, and then taken her to a second picture-show on the East Side. He left her there, she said, telling her that he would get his own daughter.

MOTHERS' DAY HONORED

Thousands Wear White Carnations, nation, Emblem of Esteem.

Mothers' day was appropriately observed in Portland yesterday as elsewhere. No less than 5000 persons appeared on the streets and at the various churches wearing white carnations in honor of their mothers. The significance of the day was referred to in every pulpit of the city. In some, more extended discussions were made, the theme of at least one discourse of the day being founded on the subject.

"Wear a white flower for your mother," was the appeal sent out all over the country by the American Mothers' Congress. That was five years ago and since that time it has been observed annually in every state in the Union. In Oregon the white carnation was selected and that it was very generally observed is indicated by the estimated number sold.

The flowers were sold by the Mothers' Congress only as a means of arousing interest in the day. Booths were located in downtown stores.

Rev. W. B. Hinson, the new pastor of the White Temple, preached upon Mothers' day last night, while Rev. W. F. Reagor, of the First Christian Church, took it for his topic yesterday morning. Rev. Mr. Hinson told the members of his congregation their mothers were the best friends they will ever have other than God. He likened her memory to a cloudy pillar of guidance. Mr. Reagor said in part:

"The idea of having a day, set apart each year, in which we try to brighten the lives of our mothers, and make them more honored and loved and protected by their children, is a most beautiful one. It is a happy thing to remind sons and daughters of their mothers' unselfish devotion, and their own possible neglect, something that will make mothers feel on this beautiful May day that she is indeed in her children's hearts the 'Queen of the May.' There is a quaint saying among the Hebrews that 'God could not be everywhere, so he made mothers.'"

SCORES SEE COMET

Portland Early Risers Repaid With Fine Sight.

NO VIEW POSSIBLE MAY 18

Professor Daniels Declares Tail of Aerial Traveler Will Touch Earth About Sunset—No Meteoric Showers Are Expected.

HALEY'S COMET RISES AT 2:38 A. M. MONDAY.
Halley's comet rises Monday at 2:35 A. M.; Tuesday, 2:34 A. M. Sun rises, 4:44. Comet's speed Monday, about 1698 miles per minute. Comet crosses Venus' path, retreating into space.

Hundreds of Portland people broke their usual habit to arise before day-break yesterday, and were well repaid by fine view of Halley's comet, which appeared above the horizon shortly before 3 o'clock and remained in view until the advancing dawn dimmed its brilliancy.

A large number of persons climbed the steep ascent of Council Crest, others went to Kings Heights, the terraces at the head of Seventh street, and to every point of vantage about the city. Even on the lower ground, where there is an unobscured view to the east, many arose from their beds and watched the erratic star from upper windows and house-tops.

Comet Now Brighter.

Professor J. W. Daniels, of Hill Military Academy, was, as usual, on the watch at Council Crest, and reports a display in every respect the same as that reported by him on Saturday morning, except that he thought the comet was a shade brighter than on the previous day. This he expected, and its brilliancy may increase slightly for the next few days, after which, as it approaches the vicinity of the earth, it will be more difficult to find until after its transit, when it will appear in the west after sunset.

20-YEAR DEBT FADING

AFRICAN METHODIST CHURCH RAISES MORTGAGE.

Big Sunday Rally Results in Blotting Out All but $900 of $2000 Indebtedness.

For 20 years the congregation of the First African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, the oldest organized religious negro body in the state, has fought a mortgage debt of $2000, but the strain is now past. A big rally, attended by as many whites as negroes, was held in the church yesterday afternoon, and $1300 was raised. The remaining $900, Rev. W. Matthews, pastor of the church, and a number of ministers and business men who attended the meeting, promised to raise by canvass by the end of the week.

The church was incorporated January 30, 1869, by nine negroes, all of whom had been slaves. They first held services in a small building with a seating capacity of 25. In 1884 the congregation purchased the old edifice of the Calvary Presbyterian Church, at Main and Thirteenth streets, for $4000, and the sanctuary has since been its mortgaged home. The first $2000 was raised, but the last

Last Chance Due in Few Days.

Those who do not see the comet within the next few days will miss their best chance, according to Professor Daniels. Even the transit across the sun, on May 18, at which time the tail will envelop the earth, probably will not be visible here, as it will occur just about sunset.

Farther west, in the Pacific Ocean, this phenomenon will be visible, and the head of the comet is composed of opaque substance it may be possible to see the spot travel across the disk of the sun.

Neither does Professor Daniels expect any meteoric showers to accompany the passage of the earth through the comet's tail. He says that spectrum analysis has so far failed to establish the fact that there are solid substances in the tail which could become visible by burning in our atmosphere, and he even expresses a doubt whether the tail is composed of even so tenuous a substance as gas.

He offers a theory that the so-called tail may be nothing but rays of the sun, refracted in some unexplained manner by the intervention of the nucleus. He even casts doubt upon the general belief that the nucleus itself is a solid substance, but admits that this is pure theory. In any case, he joins with all other authorities in scouting the fear that there may be any untoward results from the meeting of the earth and the comet, and predicts that dealers who use this sphere will be entirely unconscious of the passage.
