Seattle Man Leaps From Car to Fire Bullet Into Rival for Wife.

FATHER CARESSES CHILD

Police Officer Arrives and Assaultant Surrenders—Blames Man Shot With Causing Trouble, but Says He Lost Self-Control.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 8.—(Special.)—The police officer who arrived at the scene of the shooting on the streetcar on Forty-fifth street, near Sixth avenue, Northwest, this afternoon, and, rushing to the curb, fired a bullet from an automatic revolver through the head of E. A. Morrison, a tile-fitter, who was walking in company with his wife and 6-year-old son, Donald. Morrison fell to the ground and Miloy grabbed the child in his arms and, taking him aside began to caress him. As soon as a policeman arrived Miloy surrendered himself.

Miloy and his wife separated two years ago. He told the police that today's was the little boy's sixth birthday and he had started out to Mrs. Miloy's home to get the child.

He said that when he saw Morrison, whom he blames for his domestic trouble, walking with Mrs. Miloy and the little boy, he lost control of himself.

Morrison was taken to a hospital. His condition is critical. The child was placed in the hands of the police matron.

POST CENSUS IS TAKEN

Special Government Agent Counts Noses at Vancouver Barracks.

VANCOUVER BARRACKS, Wash., May 8.—(Special.)—The census of the post has been taken by a special agent of the Government, and the result forwarded to Washington, D. C. While no official count has been given out it is estimated that there are about 1600 persons in the post, including officers, enlisted men and their families. The post is on a military reservation and while it is within the city limits of Vancouver it is not part of the city officially. If a person commits a crime on the reservation he is tried for it by the military authorities.

Strange as it may seem, no person in the barracks owns an automobile for his personal use, and machines cannot pass through unless they have permits from the commanding officer. The Government furnishes horses, mules and vehicles, so automobiles would be unnecessary expense.

Advices from Trail, B. C., state that the fire at Murphy's Creek is also under control.

A brush fire broke out last night at Pass Creek, near Castlegar, but was put under control today by a crew of workmen of the Canadian Pacific.

"Idaho Day" Recognized.

BOISE, Idaho, May 8.—(Special.)—The first public and official recognition of "Idaho day" in the history of the Gem State will take place on June 15 in honor of the first permanent white settlement in the state.

GOHL MURDER TRIAL JURY MAY HEAR MORE SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE THIS WEEK.

ABERDEEN, Wash., May 8.—(Special.)—With the first week past in the trial of William Gohl, alleged sailor-murderer, this city now has become interested in the jury which is trying the man for his life. Though the state has already introduced telling evidence such as the pieces of tattooed skin and the bloody clothing of Hadberg, it is said that new and sensational testimony will be introduced this week in the trial now on at Montesano. It is probable that evidence will be introduced showing that Gohl on one occasion threatened John Hoffman, a former merchant of this city, with death following a quarrel over the gaming table.

Hoffman at the time made a gun-play, it is said, and for a long time Gohl feared Hoffman might do him harm.

The jury which is trying the case is made up of prominent farmers and business men here, all well known.

GOOS BAY ANXIOUS

Railroad "Possibilities" Make District Awaken.

HILL MOVE IS EXPECTED

That Great Northern Chieftrain May Run Branch to Coast Probable.

Several Electric Lines Promised, but Nothing Definite.

MARSHFIELD, Or., May 8.—(Special.)

—The possibility of a railroad to connect with the interior is the most absorbing matter of interest on Coos Bay now. With so many possibilities in sight the people are hopeful that at least one of the railroads will materialize this summer. Much hope is placed upon the promised announcement of J. J. Hill, and that he will build into Coos Bay is looked upon locally as a matter of certainty and only a question of time.

There has been many reports as to the chances of the Southern Pacific building the line from Drain to Coos Bay this summer. It is reported that a sawmill near Scottsburg is cutting logs which are to be used on the Drain branch, and various rumors come from time to time, but so far this year nothing has materialized.

Many Hope for Coos Bay Road.

Many are placing their hopes upon the work of the Coos Bay, Oregon and Idaho road, which has been promoted by Engineer L. A. Haines and Attorney Francis H. Clark. Surveys were made between Coos Bay and Roseburg and options on terminal grounds in the latter city have been secured. The promoters have never given out who was behind the movement, but declare that the railroad from Marshfield to Roseburg will be a reality and furthermore that the road will extend on east of Roseburg.

J. M. Blake, of San Francisco, and formerly of this city, stated that he was representing capital which would build an electric streetcar line on the Bay. He secured a franchise in Marshfield by bringing the matter to a vote of the people, after filing to secure and necessary signatures of property-owners along the proposed right-of-way. He failed, however, to get the matter to a vote of the people of North Bend, so without the franchise in that city the Blake-street car line appears to be temporarily blocked.

The Coos Bay Rapid Transit Company, the new company promoted by Mayor L. D. Kinney, and of which W. P. Evans, chairman of the Port Commission, is president, is negotiating with the City Councils in both Marshfield and North Bend for franchises.

Electric Line Promised.

The company promises to build an electric line between the two cities and have it finished within five months from the time the franchises are granted.

J. O'Kelly, who runs the gasoline boat line, also applied at North Bend for an electric franchise, and this brought about the rate war which resulted in a five-cent fare on boats and buses between the two cities.

IDAHO LANDS IN DISPUTE

Settlers Will Use Decision Secured by Railroad Company.

LEWISTON, Idaho, May 8.—(Special.)—Twenty-seven settlers of the northern section of Latah County will attempt to employ a Federal Court decision to strike the northern Pacific Railroad Company to establish their title to land valued at $200,000 against the claim of the railroad company. The settlers' case is also supported by a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The land involved is in the northern part of Latah County and was claimed by the settlers, the State of Idaho and the Northern Pacific. The decision of the local land office, affirmed by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, was between the settlers and the railroad company.

Prior to any perfected filings, the land was withdrawn from settlement to be made a part of the Coeur d'Alene forest reserve, but was reopened to settlement last fall. The state, railroad and settlers laid claim to the land before its withdrawal from settlement and before the survey was made.

It is the contention of the settlers that the railroad company established no claim or right to the land until the filings were accepted by the Secretary of the Interior. It is upon this point that the railroad company escaped state taxes a few years ago when application was made in the Federal Court for an injunction restraining the state from collecting taxes on land upon which filings were offered, but where such filings had not been accepted by the Secretary. The decision of the Federal Court was favorable to the railroad company and if this decision is sustained in the contention now being waged before the Secretary, the railroad company will lose title to a $200,000 tract.

KLAMATH GETS NEW TOWN

At Rattlesnake Point Investor Buys 50-Acre Tract.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., May 8.—(Special.)—Klamath County is to have a new town which will be laid out and platted within the next few weeks at what is known as Rattlesnake Point.

Rattlesnake Point is located on the east borders of the Upper Klamath Lake, about seven miles by water from here, and on the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, which is being built as a through line from here to tap the main line at Natron.

D. E. Campbell today closed a deal with John Hagelstein for the purchase of a piece of what was formerly known as the J. C. Beach ranch, on which he expects to have a sawmill in operation within the next 60 days and intends to lay out some 50 acres as a townsite.

This is the only natural boatlanding on the east side of the lake. Mr. Campbell expects to move the Odessa mill, which he owns, to this new site just as quickly as possible. This mill now has a capacity of about 2700 feet a day and Mr. Campbell expects to expand it to remodel the mill. He also expects to have engineers on the ground within a few days and lay out and plat the place as a town.

JAPAN PLANS BIGGER NAVY

Government Official Ordered to Submit Suggestions.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 8.—Tokio news received by the steamer Armerio states that orders are being given naval and government officials to draft plans for enlarging the Japanese navy, a big expansion program having been outlined for submission at the next session of the Diet. Vernacular newspapers state that naval increase will be the burning question.

Some point out that Japan now has but six modern battleships, two of which are on the stocks. Other battleships are more or less obsolete, and action is imperative. Many newspapers discuss the matter in an earnest strain. The Kokumin Shimbun says a large destroyer, with 33 knots speed, of at least 1200 tons, is to be laid down at Nagasaki. Japanese naval authorities having decided on these big German destroyers as a result of the lessons of the Tashihima battle.

SOLDIER SHOT AT TARGET

Bullet Penetrates Crack in Embankment and Lodges in Shoulder.

VANCOUVER BARRACKS, Wash., May 8.—(Special.)—S. Tindall, of Company K, First Infantry, who was shot at the target range yesterday, submitted to an operation at the post hospital and the bullet was extracted. The wound is not serious.

Tindall was standing behind the butte and immediately in line with a crack in the embankment. A bullet chanced to strike the crack in the earth, and passing through the spent ball lodged in Tindall's left shoulder. The embankment has now been repaired to strike the crack in the earth and the target range has been just been completed and the earth had not settled.

Albany will furnish the second day's programme and there is no fear but it will be a good one.

GILL'S HOSTILE

Seattle's Mayor Shows Feeling for McCormick.

WHO CAN BEAT SPOKANITE?

Will New Official Aid Humphries, Burke or Wilson Is Question.

Which Wiscacres Cannot Solve. Will Tacoma Get Senator?

SEATTLE, Wash., May 8.—In a recent interview, Mayor Hiram C. Gill gave what may be considered as the prevailing Seattle idea as to Senatorial politics. Briefly, he is hostile to R. L. McCormick of Tacoma, but is inclined to disregard him as having no chance; and on that basis he is for the King County candidate, who can defeat Miles Pindexter, of Spokane.

Which of the three King County aspirants may be the man is the problem. Through loyalty of support given to the present Mayor during the municipal campaign, Gill naturally would go for Judge John H. Humphries. However, the indications are that Humphries has reached his limit of strength, and whether he could lead either Judge Thomas Burke or ex-Senator John L. Wilson is open to doubt.

Humphries is joggling along on his campaign very much as he has been doing for 18 months. Both Burke and Wilson have become active in the campaign, and are forming a local organization, and is planning a tour of the state, commencing on Puget Sound. Wilson is striving to effect a close-knit organization of voters from every part of the city, and has met with considerable encouragement.

Pindexter Wants Aid.

Fear of the Spokane man has not been lessened by the arrival in Seattle of a number of circulars signed by Rufus H. Wilson, secretary-treasurer of the Progressive Republican League, asking for lists of names to whom the Pindexter organization can write for support.

"I am interested in you," says the circular, "to know that indications throughout the state give every assurance of success, and public opinion is as favorable from day to day as we have more and more reason to be gratified and encouraged."

"All that is necessary now to insure a favorable result of our campaign is activity among our friends, and we sincerely trust that you will render such assistance as lies in your power. A kindly word and a few letters from you to your friends and acquaintances in behalf of Judge Pindexter's nomination would be a great help, and would be highly appreciated by us all."

While National Committeeman McCormick has so shaped matters that Pindexter will either reassert his adherence to "Lincoln Republicanism," in view of 1910, or will leave the party of his own volition, the services of the Tacoma candidate in the present crisis are discounted by Seattle Republicans like Mayor Gill. He says:

Gill Voices Opinion.

Personally, I will vote for the King County man, who, I believe, will have the best chance. I am strongly opposed to Pindexter both locally and nationally, and I do not consider McCormick a serious factor.

I take the ground that an active Senator would be a big factor in the development of Seattle. It is my belief that the influence which turned Army and Navy appropriations to Lincoln would do more to build that city than anything else. If we could get those appropriations, we would have that influence it would be of tremendous value."

With the advisory primary a failure here, Seattle would like to believe that Pierce County is eliminated, and that McCormick, as gauged by Gill, is not a serious factor. Perhaps, in view of the long-standing rivalry between the two towns, the wish is father to the thought. If McCormick were out of the way, the lines would be cleared for a competition against the insurgent candidate from Spokane. Senator Wilson was recently elected to the Senate, and he cannot be expected to support a rival.
