SAN JOSE, C. R., May 9.—More than 1000 dead have been taken from the ruins of Cartago. No one is allowed within the precincts of the devastated city except the Red Cross workers, relief workers and volunteers employed in clearing away the debris, removing the bodies and dynamiting the dangerous buildings. and dynamiting the dangerous buildings.

Most of the survivors of the earthquake are now at San Jose. Medicine and food from the American warships are being rushed from Port Limon, but the condition of those who still remain around the city is such that extraordinary measures must be taken to provide assistance and shelter for them.

Even in San Jose the residents for the most part are living in tents and wooden.

Mexico has contributed a large sum of money to aid the victims, and confributions are coming in from other sources. The nature of the earthquake that destroyed Cartago is now being discussed, and the general testimony of those who suffered from it goes to show that it suffered from it goes to show that it resembled an explosion more than the ordinary seismic movement, which has been felt throughout the Republic during the last two or three weeks.

RIVER WILL BE CHANGED

Work Is Expected to Drain Valuable Farming Lands.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., May 9.—
(Special.)—The work of locating a rhannel through which Lost River will be turned from its present course into the Klamath River has been commenced by the surveyors of the Reclamation Service.

When the Government first laid out its plans for the irrigation of the Klamath country and reclaiming the thousands of acres of tule land along the borders of lakes in this vicinity, plans were laid for cutting Lost River off from feeding Tule Lake. Lost River is the only apparent feeder for this lake, which covers some 65,000 acres of the Tule Lake Valley in the Southern end of this county and Northern Modoe County in California. It is shought that without the river to feed it the lake will evaporate to such a large extent that a large area of this land, considered the best farm land, will be drained.

The plan is to take Lost River from its channel near what is known as Lost River Gap. By cutting a course through the valley for a distance of about six miles, the river will run into the Klamath about eight miles below this city.

Minister Says "White Slave" Trade Is Well Organized.

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—"The girl trust is as superbly organized in America as the beef or oil trusts," declared the Rev. W. J. Hatfield, a Presbyterian evangelist, at a meeting here yester-

Mr. Hatfield for two years has been engaged in a personal investigation of the white slave traffic in St. Louls, Chicago, New York and other large cities. He detailed the methods which are taken by the agents for securing girls from their homes in the smaller towns. The girls, he declared, usually are from 15 to 20 years old, and are sold at from $100 to $400 each.

"Hackensack" Reunites Sisters.

CANTON, O., May 9.—The chance sight in a local paper of the word "Hackensack" has resulted in the reunion of two sisters, who have been separated for 40 years. Death of Duchess of Marlborough Makes Possible Renewal of Fight. Two Boys and Girl Central Figures in Big Struggle.

NEW YORK, May 9 .- (Special.)-Twenty-three of the most prominent legal firms of this city are awaiting the opening of the famous Hamersley will contest, which raged more than 25 years ago for a fortune of about $7,-000,000. This fortune now is said to have increased to about $15,009,000. under the handling of the Duchess of Marlborough, whose death makes pos sible the reopening of the fight.

The central figures of this fight are two little boys, Louis Gordon Ham-ersley and William Beresford, the former living in this country and the lat-ter in England. With his sister, Kath-erine Livingston Hamersley, Louis Gor-don Hamersley has been brought up under the care of a nurse, Mrs. D. C.

Three Candidates for Office of Master Are in Field and Other Posts Are Being Sought.

OREGON CITY, Or., May 9 .- (Special.)-The Oregon State Grange will convene in the Courthouse tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The leading state officers and executive committee, together with a few of the elected representatives, arrived here today and took under consideration a few im-portant matters which will come up

During the life of the Duchess of Marlborough an agreement signed when the former contest was settled, prevented the matter being reopened. Now that she is dead, the lawyers for little William Beresford, who was her son, born late in life, have asked for an accounting of the sums supposed to have accrued to his benefit.

This was the chance for the 71 members of the house of Mason and the house of Hamersley to make their claims again for a share in the Hamersley millions. The claimants represent some of the best-known social familities in New York, among them the Cuttings, Masons, Posts, Iselins, Wissmans, Carneses, Jameses, Langdons, Blagdons and Fearings. The legal array will be the largest and strongest ever seen at one trial.

The Duchess of Marlborough had married first, Louis C. Hamersley, who, when he died, left the will that is the cause of all the trouble. In this was a clause providing that his "dear wife" should have the use of the fortune during her life. Later she married the Duke of Marlborough and still later Colonel Sir William Beresford.
