Edward's Obsequies.

President Announces Purpose in Case He Finds It Proper After Consulting Knox—Will Act on Return to Capital.

PASSAIC, N. J., May 9.—President Taft, in all probability, will designate Theodore Roosevelt as a special ambassador to represent the United States at the funeral of King Edward. He said tonight he would take the matter up with Secretary Knox when he returns to Washington.

The President said he was anxious to appoint Colonel Roosevelt to represent this Government. As yet he had taken no steps in that direction. However, as up to the time he left Washington this morning no official information had been received by the Washington Government as to the date of the funeral.

Mr. Taft is not conversant with the precedents as to such occasions, but if a special representative is called for by the proprietors and Mr. Roosevelt will accept the designation, he will be named by the President. Mr. Knox will be consulted in the matter.

ROOSEVELT HAS BRONCHITIS

Slight Fever Apparent, but Traveler
Leaves for Berlin.

STOCKHOLM, May 9.—Mr. Roosevelt left for Berlin on a special train at 11 o'clock this morning. He was feeling well and in a joking mood and considered himself altogether equal to the visit in Germany. During the night the former President had a little fever and today his voice was husky, giving evidence of a slight attack of bronchitis.

Roosevelt Neighbors Lay Plans.

MINNEOLA, N. Y., May 9.—Nassau County's welcome to its homecoming citizen, Colonel Roosevelt, will be held here, rather than at Oyster Bay, according to plans announced today. The details have not yet been fully arranged, but the reception will be held at the county fair grounds. It was at first proposed to go to Sagamore Hill, but its distance from the railroad station and the limited facilities for handling crowds at Oyster Bay led to the decision to hold the affair here.

PICTURE SCHEME IN COURT

Man Who Hoped to Get Something for Nothing Tells Game.

The cases against J. Batavia, an employee of the Commercial Art Studio, 549 First street, and Samuel Smirnov, one of the proprietors of the studio, were continued in Justice Court yesterday until today, when the two defendants will appear to answer a charge of larceny by bailee. The men are alleged to have used fraudulent means to obtain possession of photographs and then attempting to force the owners to pay for enlargements made from the originals.

The method of procedure said to have been used in some of the cases is to have an employee of the firm represent himself as connected with the art department of the Oregonian, ask for the photographs of persons for reproduction in the Sunday issues and then make enlargements which he attempted to sell for $1 with a side charge of $4.50 for the frame. Refusal to return the photographs led to the arrest of the two men on Saturday on a charge of larceny by bailee.

That still other methods were used by this firm in obtaining photographs is the statement made by C. A. Wilson, of 422 Cedar street, who says he had met with a somewhat similar treatment at the hands of these same operators. Mr. Wilson tells that he had come to him from the Commercial Art Studio, who gave him his name as Berger and offered to make enlargements free of charge, just to show what could be done. The inference which Mr. Wilson says he was led to draw was that the work was to be done by Arne K. Berger, a well-known artist. When the picture was returned in its enlarged form, Mr. Wilson says a man giving the name of Millard brought it and delivered the picture for nothing as he had offered, but demanded $4 or $5 for a frame before he would surrender the enlargement. Mr. Wilson tells that he refused to pay this amount and so he lost nothing.

CHARACTER KING PROBLEM

Danger From Populace.

LONDON, May 9.—(Special.)—Anxiety as to the political future of Great Britain might almost be said to dominate the mourning for King Edward. All classes discuss the question in a vein of seriousness, if not apprehension, and depression.

Tory leaders, who provoked the crisis and who formerly spoke of plans of the Liberals in a tone of indifference and even insolence, realize that a situation of immense difficulty has arisen and they recommend a conference of the two parties to avoid, if possible, an open conflict.

The personality of George V is considered by many an element of danger. The new King is much more set in his opinions than was his father, and those who know him well declare that he is more direct in his methods, if his force of character is not greater.

ADAMS RUMOR DENIED

NORTH BANK AGENT NOT TO BE ELECTED MANAGER.
Duties, However, May Be Extended.
Eastern Man May Be Sought for General Management.

"Nothing in It." That was the terse answer of President George B. French of the North Bank to a question involving the promotion of Harry Adams, general freight and passenger agent of his road, to a managership on the recently combined Hill steam and electric roads centering in Portland.

Mr. French declared the rumor to be without foundation and was at a loss to account for it. The rumor in effect was that Mr. Adams is to be either general manager of the properties of the North Bank, Oregon Electric and United Railways, or general traffic manager of these systems.

Mr. Adams himself left yesterday morning for Chicago to attend a freight conference and probably will be gone 10 days. He has had wide experience in railroad work in the Northwest, but no doubt will be retained in his present position. There is said, however, to be a possibility of an extension of his duties, covering the electric lines.

The appointment of a successor to Guy W. Talbot, who recently resigned as general manager of the Oregon Electric, and George F. Nevins, as traffic manager, is the all-absorbing subject of interest in railroad circles. It is probable, however, that someone will be brought from the East to take the general managership.

L. R. Wickersham, it is said, probably will be retained as general manager of the United Railways, an important conference between him and John F. Stevens, president of the Oregon Trunk, will be held today, which may develop something of interest in the local situation. It is understood that all of these questions will be settled on the return of the Hill party from Eastern Oregon.

Perlaw Suction Cleaners

And I Thought It Was Clean

A young housewife was visiting her next door neighbor and threw doubt on whether the "Peerless" cleaner she noticed in her neighbor's house could clean her carpets cleaner than she kept hers.
"Why! I don't see how it can. I broom my rugs every morning and then go over them with a sweeper."
The neighbor took her "Peerless" cleaner over next morning after the brooming was over and said:
"Try it yourself!"
To the amazement of that young housewife the dust that came out of her rug made a pile nine inches high.
We see you—try it yourself.

ence, and flags upon the public offices throughout the city were raised to the mastheads.
The royal standard at Buckingham Palace alone remained at half mast.

The royal standard at Buckingham Palace alone remained at half mast. The Earl Marshal and his attendants proceeded to the Ambassador's Court, whence they drove to Charing Cross and thence to the City of London to read the proclamation to the people at the designated points. The route to the city proper was lined with 7000 troops, while at the places at which the procession stopped and repeated the ceremony, troops and horse guards were stationed.

Old City Entered.
Along the Strand the procession continued through lines of troops and crowds of people to Temple Bar, at the boundary of the city, where the Lord Mayor, the Sheriffs, Aldermen and officers of the City of London, all in their robes of office, awaited the coming of the Earl Marshal.

The ceremony here was of long duration and more elaborate, the City of London to this day retaining the ancient privilege of barring the entrance of the King's men to the square mile in which its officers rule.

The Lord Mayor, riding forward, challenged the approach of the procession with the cry: "Halt! Who goes there?"

The reply: "The officer at arms, who demands entrance to the city to proclaim His Royal Majesty's accession." came.

The Lord Mayor, having been informed of the presence of the royal herald, and having given his permission for entrance into the city, the roused dragon stepped across the boundary and handed the Chief Magistrate the Privy Council's order, that the proclamation be made.

The crowd that lined the narrow street stood in silence watching the proceedings. The Lord Mayor, alighted from his carriage and read the proclamation and declared that "our high and mighty Prince George has now become our only lawful and rightful liege lord George V."

Parliament Swears Allegiance.
The House of Lords reassembled today and the ceremony of taking the oath of allegiance to the new King was continued. Fifty peers were sworn in the House of Commons also met today to permit its members to swear allegiance to King George.

The singing of the National Anthem marked the opening of the Stock Exchange today, the members of which forthwith got down to work with a determination to discountenance any bear attacks. The tone was steady from the start with a hardening of prices. Leading American securities were put up more than a point of parity, helping the general advance.

The law courts upon resuming their sessions today made it the first business of the judges and other officers to take the oath of allegiance.
Immediately after the funeral of her husband, the Queen Mother will retire to Sandringham palace, which King Edward some years ago made over to her as a dowry house.

ALL VANCOUVER WILL MOURN
Loyal Canadians to Hold Memorial Service for King Edward.

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 9.—(Special.)—All of Vancouver which is loyal to the British crown will turn out at Recreation Park May 20, the day of the late King's funeral, to take part in a monster memorial service.
Members of the bench, the Mayor, civic officials, consuls, residents here, ministers, heads of various public organizations and others will take speaking parts in the programme. Massed around the platform to be erected will be bands of the various military regiments and organizations, members of various fraternal societies and the military, the latter wearing the official crepe ordered by the department at Ottawa.

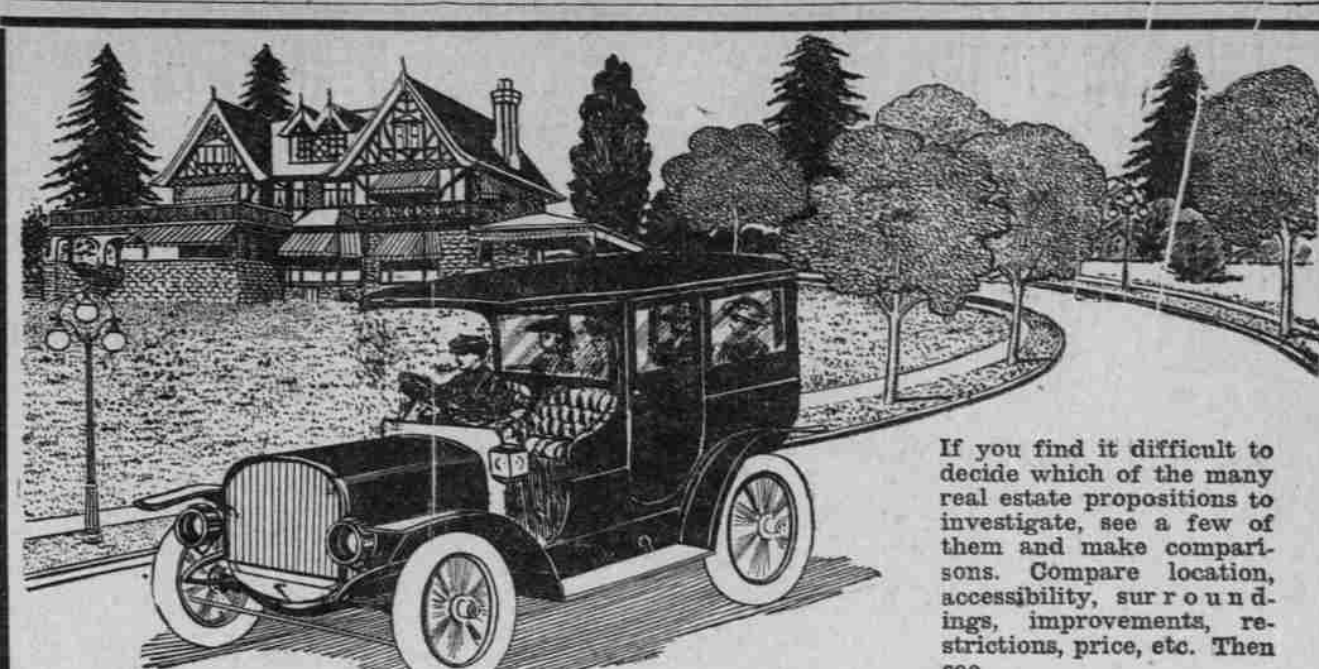

An air of solemnity and impressiveness will be lent the whole scene by the playing of the "Dead March in Saul" and the sounding of arms at the finale by the military.
