MUSIC AS STUDY BOOSTED

Organization Lecturers Want Learning of Tunes Made Compulsory in Common Schools-Constitutional Amendment Made.

OREGON CITY, Or., May 12-(Spe cial.)—Oregon should have on its roster of officials a Lieutenant-Governor and a State Auditor, so the Oregon State Grange, now in session here, has de-Grange, now in session here, has decided. Members of the organization favor the creation of the post of Lieutenant-Governor, so that when the position of the state's chief executive is made vacant, as was the case when Governor Chamberlain became United States Senator, the office would be automatically filled. The need of a State Auditor was urged no less strongly by the convention.

Lecturers of the grange are urging that body to begin an agitation in the state to make the study of music compulsory in the public schools.

Conference Is Held.

At a conference between the state lec-turer and the subordinate and Pomons turer and the subordinate and Pomona lecturers. State Superintendent of Schools Ackerman declared that the State Board was only waiting for a movement by the public to place music among the compulsory studies. He said that he would favor the employment of teachers who were qualified to teach music over those not so endowed, and his address was enthusiastically indersed by the grange officers present.

ROSEBURG, Or., May 12 .- (Special.) -Favored with ideal weather, Roseburg's second annual Strawberry Festival and Rose Show opened today. It was a typ-ical Roseburg celebration, the payment of homage to her two greatest products, the rose and strawberry.

The business portion of the city is in gala attire, with festoons of bunting strung from telegraph poles and supporting colored lights. Many business houses have also decorated with display windows and the word "Welcome" is eviwindows and the word "Welcome" is evident on every hand to greet the thousands of visitors who throng the city.

The chief attraction was the rose show. Hundreds of varieties of the famous flower were in evidence and so large was the display that not until nearly 2 o'clock in the afternoon did the committees finally complete their arrangements.

Among the judges were Mrs. W. R.

of Salem, and Messra. Dr. Emmet Drake and Guy M. Pilkington, of Portland. According to Dr. Drake, Douglas County roses have no superior and he says be was greatly surprised at the quantity and quality of the specimens displayed. In the afternoon occurred the Elks' parade, which featured fraternalism and fun, followed by the parade of decorated automombiles. In the former there were many novel floats, as well as bundreds of many novel floats, as well as hundreds of Elks representing lodges at Eugene, Salem. Portland. Medford. Ashland and other cities. In the latter parade there were 20 cars all decorated in a manner savoring with originality. The day's festivities closed with an operetta by home talent at the Armory tonight, and a special meeting of the Elks at the temple. The meeting of the Elks was held to entertain visiting Elks, who are in the city from all parts of the state.

WRITES TO BRADY'S ENEMIES CALLING HIM TRAITOR.

One Recipient Proves Governor's Friend and Sends Him Letter. Brady Tells Opinion.

BOISE, Idaho, May 12 -- (Special.)-Forced to resign and disgraced because he used his office of trust for personal held to entertain visiting Elks, who are in the city from all parts of the state.

Prominent Persons Guests.

Among the people of prominence in the city today are: Mrs. F. W. Benson, of Salem; Dr. Harry McKay, deputy district grand exalted ruler B. P. O. E., of Portland, H. C. McAllister, Figh. War.

Chymch as office of trust for personal gain, Register M. I. Church, of the State Land Board, today attacked Governor James H. Brady, by writing letters to his supposed enemics, wherein he classed the chief executive as a traitor.

This episode is but a sequel to the graft exposures recently made before the State Land Board.

Church sought revenge by writing a serial latter, a copy of which was sent to John A. Tupper, manager of the Montpeller Light & Power Company, wherein he sald, in part give me some valuable information relative to Governor Brady's past record. Those of us who know he is a traitor desire to let the balance of the people of the state know it before they cast their votes for the next Governor. Forward this information."

In reply, Tupper, who is located in Blackfoot and was at one time a bitter rival of the Governor in the power business, lauded the good character of Brady, and then mailed Church's letter and a copy of his reply to the chief executive. The Governor said:

"It is not Church I am after, but the system he stands for."
