He established himself in the hearts of the local fans, who ap-plauded him vigorously and gave him a parting hand when he was taken out of the game during the fateful ninth, after the Angels had tied the score.

The scoring was done as follows: In the third, Rapps singled and took sec-end on Speas' sacrifice. Seaton walked and both runners advanced a base on a wild pitch. Casey fouled out, but Olson singled to center, scoring Rapps and Seaton. He went to second on the throw to the plate and to third when Orendorff let Daley's throw get past him, but was out stealing home.

The Angels were out one, two and three, and Seaton was given a big hand as he walked to the bench. Up to this time he had struck out five men. Ryan singled to center in the fifth and took second on Rapps' sacrifice. Speas singled, scoring Ryan.

When Seaton went to the bench after the seventh he was applauded wildly, for he had pitched great ball.
