ACTRESS HIS FRIEND

W. M. Russell Recalls Meeting With Clara Morris.

BOTH IN SAME COMPANY

Famous Star. Now Blind and Helpless, Hired as Leading Woman for Portland Manager's Troupe in Detroit Many Years Ago.

"Clara Morris! What reminiscences her name brings to mind," said William M. ("Dad") Russell, manager of the Portland theater, last evening. "I first met Clara Morris on November 25, 1869. Th date is indelibly fixed in my memory. I was then a young aspirant for histrionic distinction, in Detroit, Mich. Although there was a fine theater in that city, namely the Detroit Opera House, which had been completed the previous year, we had no stock company. This was before the days of the traveling stock companies. An actor friend of mine, H. C. Berton, who has played here many times in the legitimate, with Tom Keene and others, was my chur He cares to me and prowas my chum. He came to me and pro-posed that if I would raise $100 we would put on a play.

"We found sufficient talent among the actor colony of Detroit to cast East Lynne' and 'The Lady of Lyons', plays comparatively new in those days. But looking over the roster of the company we found we were shy a leading woman.

Pope Makes Suggestion.

"H. C. Pope, then a prominent actor, suggested our wiring—it was called telegraphing then, the word wiring hadn't been coined yet—to John Elisler, father of Effie Elisler, who was at that time manager of Elisler's theater in Cleveland. His answer was, can send you Miss Clara.

His answer was, can send you Miss Clare. Morris at $25 and expenses.

"We sent the transportation and she arrived by boat, two days before the opening of the season of two performances. The matines bill was 'East Lynne.' I had been promised a good part as a reward for furnishing the capital and found myself cast for 'Richard Hare,' undoubtedly the most thankless part in all dramatics. I had also to act as treasurer of the company, and underdress my role, as I appeared in the first act.

"The matines performance demonstrated that Clare Morris was destined to become a wonderful actress. In looking to become a wonderful actress. In looking about for costumes for The Lady of Lyons we found about half enough to properly dress the various characters. Hence announcement was made from the stage, after the audience had assembled, and the house was crowded, too, that we would have to substitute 'East Lynn' and 'A Morning Call,' the latter a farce, in which Miss Morris shone resplendently and again demonstrated her undoubted House Very Cordial.

The house went wild about her, and I lon't believe in later years, when she proved to the world that she was the very foremost emotional actress of her time. that she won more sincere and sponta-neous applause than on the night of her appearance in our stock company in De-

"Miss Morris gained her early experi-since in stagecraft under Barney Mac-Cauley's management at Wood's Theater in Cincinnati, and also at John Elisier's theater in Cleveland, before she entered Daly's famous New York company. She supported all the leading stars of that sra, and in New York created the leading characters in 'Article 47,' 'Leah the Forsaken,' Augustin Daly's 'Divorce,' and many other big successes.

been a wonderful woman and as gifted with her pen as she was with histricate power. Chief among her best beloved works is a series of sketches, giving her early experiences with and memories of such great artists as Forrest, Booth, Barrett, Couldock, Mrs. Bowers and other famous players of the seventies. Miss Morris was a gifted con-versationalist and linguist.

Great People Her Friends.

"She numbered among her personal friends the greatest men and women of the times. She was a lifelong friend of Samuel J. Tilden, and for many years resided in a beautiful home adjoining the palatial residence in Grammercy Park of the Democratic candidate of '76. "For many years Miss Morris has been an invalid, and to this cause is due he early retirement from the stage. She wo distinction on the American Lyceum as a lecturer and was accorded a monstrous benefit a few years ago in New York, "The news of her loss of sight will bring sorrow to her multitude of friends, who recognize not only her genius as an artist, but admire her for her qualities as a

MAN MAKES HIS MONUMENT

Captain Bolton Erects Shaft Engraved With Own Name.

VANCOUVER, Wash., May 19 .- (Special.)—Captain N. F. Bolton, over $3 years old, and a veteran of the Mexi-can War, and of the Civil War, has had can war, and of the Civil War, has had his tombstone made and engraved. It now stands on his lot in the city cemetery, where his first wife lies buried.

On the top of the stone are carved the words, "Captain N. F. Bolton, born March 1, 1827." Below this is engraved "A. A. Rager, his wife, born September 26, 1830, died October 13, 1857."

Captain Bolton desired to see what his tombstone looked like before he died, as he would not have an opportunity of doing so afterwards, and, too, he wanted to know that his name was correctly spelled on the tablet.

Bolton spends his time on his little fruit ranch at Minnehaha, just outside of the city limits. He has made several visits to the cemetery and viewed the marble pillar.

Farmers of Four States Will Market Produce in Body.

SPOKANE, Wash., May 19 .- (Special.) -Over 100 co-operative grain warehouse in Washington, Montana, Idaho and Utah have been merged into a unit organization by action of representatives of the various Farmers' Warehouse Companies in session today.

The new warehouse system will be called the Federated Warehouses and will buy and market its grain as one body. The merging followed after a stormy session yesterday and this morning, in which conflicting views of the delegates were finally brought together.

The articles of federation were given out by the officials of the organization, and it was stated that nothing more than the fact of the merging would be published. Another session of the Union will be held June 7 in Coeur d'Alene, where the annual election of officers will take

QUICK TRIP MADE IN AUTO

Forty-five Hours' Time Consumed Between Golden Gate and Eugene.

EUGENE, Or., May 19.—(Special.)—Forty-five hours between San Francisco and Eugene was the time made by Jack Magiadry and his family in his automobile, driven by Mahlon Sweet, arriving here this morning. This is but 10 hours more than the time made by the Southern Pacific passenger trains over the same distance. The speedometer read 650 miles. The remarkable run was made over the The remarkable run was made over the mountains between the California line and Ashland, a distance of 29 miles, when the car climbed a grade of 3200 feet and arrived ahead of the passenger train that had left before they did. The roads were dry, but very rough, and much of the run had to be made on the low gear. The fast time was made not through the speed of the machine but by the expert abillity of the driver to get all the speed that the road would permit. The first that the road would permit. The first day, 147 miles were run in the Sac-ramento Valley. Three tires were worn out on the trip, and 50 gailons of gasoline

Besides 129 delegates to the Oddfellows' convention which closed tonight, it is estimated that over 2000 farmers and people from neighboring towns attended a circus today, and to these members can be added probably 500 visitors to the junior week-end festivities at the University of Ora-gon, including the Corvallis track and baseball teams and supporters, and baseball teams and supporters, and parents and friends of the students who will attend the junior "prom" Saturday

A year ago, it would have been impos sible to have handled this number of visitors, but there seems to be little trouble caring for them today, although many private homes have been opened for the Oddfellows and the University visitors.

FRUIT LOADS DOWN TREES

Rogue River Valley Has Abundant Crops in Prospect.

GRANTS PASS, Or., May 19.—(Special.)—Rogue River Valley will have one of the largest and best all around crops of fruit ever marketed. Berries of every description are prolific. Fall-sown grain is in excellent condition. Alfalfa crops will be above normal. Cherries were never better and the grade and quantity will meet the mar-ket demands. Already the May Dukes are on sale.

Through the peach districts the trees are loaded like strings of beads. The apple and pear crop will be far above the average. Every grower will be compelled to thin fruit to make prime marketing and uniform growth. In quantity all trees have more than they can possibly mature and about 50 per cent probably will have to be thinned out.

TEAMSTERS WANT MORE

Out June 1 if Demands Are Not Granted.

The Teamsters' Union is the latest organization to put its demands to employers for an increase in the present wage scale. The increased cost of living is given as a reason for the de-mand. By the 1st of June, unless a favorable reply has been received from employers of teams, the 2500 men said to belong to the local union may be called out on a strike.

The wage demands were made two weeks ago. As yet no action has been taken by the employers, though a committee has been considering the matter and canvassing sentiment. The first of next week, however, their decision will e made known. The teamsters are now paid $2.75 to $2 a day. They are asking an increase to $3 and $3.25 a day. If their demands are refused, a proposal will be made to arbitrate the question, and if this is not agreed to a vote to strike may result. According to one prominent employer, it is his belief that the rank and file of the union is not in favor of a strike. He ventured the assertion that nothing serious will result or that at least no strike will occur.

G. A. Rogers, an officer of the union, last night said that so far as the teamsters' side of the controversy is con-cerned there is nothing to give out. "Wait until we know what they are going to do," he added, significantly, The Teamsters' Union include drivers of wagons of every description Such a strike would be serious to the daily commerce of the city and every effort will be made by both sides, it is said, to avoid it.

COUNTY DIVISION OPPOSED

Pendleton, Athena and Others Will Compromise if Necessary.

ATHENA, Or., May 19. — (Special.)—
The Commercial Association of Athena is uniting with the commercial associations of Pendleton and Weston in an effort to stop the proposed division of Umatilla County, and if they are unable to get a compromise and prevent the division, they propose to establish a county on lines that are satisfactory

A joint meeting of the association is being held to establish new lines in case that division is forced upon them. The new line will leave both Weston and Athena and the land and country immediately tributary to those towns in Umatilia County. The new bill proposes to make Freewater the temporary county seat of the new county, and Hudson is to be the name of the new county.

This idea is said to have met with the approval of practically all of Pendleton, Adams, Weston and Athena.

COUNTER - MOVEMENT STARTS

Section of Umatilla Opposes Being in Orchard County.

WESTON, Or., May 19.—(Special.)—A meeting was held here this afternoon, attended by representative citizens of Pendleton, Athena and Weston. Its object was to inaugurate a counter division movement, as the people of Helix, Athena and Weston object to being in-cluded in Orchard County, which Milton and Freewater propose to cut off from Umatilia through an initiative

A line was decided upon which will give the proposed new county more than the 400 square miles and 1200 STRIKE IS THREATENED UNLESS population required by the constitution, and will leave Weston, Athena and Helix in Umatilla County. It will be incorporated in an initiative bill and submitted to the people of the state.

Huckleberries Will Abound

DAYTON, Wash., May 19.—(Special.)— That the Blue Mountains of Eastern Oregon and Washington will produce the largest crop of huckleberries in 35 years, is the opinion of "Uncle Ed" Maloney, a trapper living 15 miles east of Dayton. He said: "The bushes are in full bloom and literally loaded. The first berries will be ripe in July, a month earlier than ever before. These delicious berries ordinarily sell at from $1.50 to $3 a gallon." to $3 a gallon."
