BALLINGER PROBE MAY CLOSE TODAY

Departure of Root Likely to Bring Taking of Testimony to End.

LAWLER DOUBTS GLAVIS

Newell's Desire to Make Ballinger "the Goat" Is Told by E. T. Perkins, Engineer in Service. "Too Big Man," Reply.

WASHINGTON, May 19 .- The Ballinger-Pinchot investigation is likely to end to morrow-so far, at least, as the taking of "The defense" practically had rested "The defense" practically had rested when the day's hearing ended, and Attorney Brandels, for the "prosecution," tonight said his side would consume little time in the examination of witnesses in rebuttal. Attorney Vertrees, counsel for the Ballinger "defense," will call one or two more witnesses tomorrow, but expects their contributions to be brief. It is probable that the departure of Senator Root, one of the leading Republican Root, one of the leading Republican members of the committee, who left to-flay for The Hague arbitration tribunal, had a great deal to do with the decision to bring the hearings to a close.

Testimony Nears End.

Brandels concluded his cross-examina-Hon of Oscar Lawler, assistant Attorney-General for the Department of the In-terior and author of the now famous lentative draft for the President of a letter dismissing Special Agent L. R. Glavis. Commissioner Fred Dennett, of the general land office, also finished his testimony. E. T. Perkins, a Chicago officer of the reclamation service, was the last witness of the day

What was regarded by the 'prosecu-tion' as an important admission was obtained from Lawler. Brandels was endeavoring to show that Lawler retained an old grudge against Glavis that unfitted him for the preparation of a j dicial finding to assist the President passing upon the Glavis charges.

Lawler Accuses Glavis.

He was questioning Lawler along that line when the latter unexpectedly volun-teered the allegation that Glavis had "demonstrated" himself to be untruthful. This, he said, was three years ago, when Glavis had made complaint to the land office that Lawler was not competent to conduct the Government's prosecution of certain land fraud cases in Southern Lawler was then United States after ney for the Southern District of Califor nia, and Glavis was chief of the field division at Oakland. Lawler said that the charges were investigated by the Department of Justice and were found baseless. He went to trial with the cases and obtained convictions.

Collateral Inquiry Refused.

An attempt by Brandeis to secure the production of all papers and documents relating to this question, on file at the land office, was blocked by the committee as involving a collateral investigation. Brandeis said that he desired to show whether Secretary Pulling show whether Secretary Ballinger knew that Lawler entertained such a grievance against Glavis.

In the cross-examination of Dennett the fact was brought out that the interior Department had employed two of its special agents on "detective work" in an effort to connect forest service officials with the preparation of the Glavis af-fidavit, and to trace the motives of other critics of the department, Newell's Motive Shown.

A conversation E. T. Perkins said he had had in Chicago on October 29 last with F. H. Newell, director of the reclamation service, whom it has been alleged Secretary Ballinger intended to supplant with R. H. Thomson of Seattle, was the most interesting feature of Per-kins' testimony. Perkins detailed it as

"You should not try to vindicate Ballinger in the 'black tent' matter," Newell said. "I want to make Ballinger the 'roost."

"You can't do it," Perkins replied.
"He's too big a man."
"Never mind." Newell replied, "I am going to do it, anyhow."

Newell's Friends Organized

Perkins told of attending, at the request of Gifford Pinchot, a conference at the home of ex-Secretary Garfield in Ohio on July 18. He said that Pinchot, Garfield and Thomas R. Shipp were pres-ent at the conference, the purpose of which was to insure the retention of Newell in office. Perkins said he had promised to work for Newell and had done so to the extent of inducing several rallroad officials to write to Ballinger in

Newell's behalf,
Attorney Vertrees introduced letters and telegrams written by Shipp and Gar-field regarding a trip "our friend" (who Perkins said was Pinchot) was to make to Washington to see Newell.

The evident purpose of the "defense" was to show through the testimony of Perkins and these documents that the conspiracy which the "defense" charges exists against Ballinger had its beginning at the home of Garfield, and that Pinchot came to Washington to try to Induce Newell and other subordinates of Ballinger to participate in it.

ger to participate in it. Black Tent Plan Explained.

Perkins contradicted much of the testi-mony of Newell and Davis as to the "black tent" lectures. He said he him-self had initiated the idea of giving stereopticon lectures throughout the Middle West to encourage people to settle on reclaimed lands.

He said all the Western trunk line rall-roads, excepting the Great Northern, had contributed to the fund for carrying on these lectures, and President Hill, of the Great Northern, had not complained his road was discriminated against in these lectures. As a matter of fact, Perkins said, most of the projects advertised in the lectures were accessible exclusively by the Great Northern. Perkins said both Secretary Garfield and Receiver Newell knew he was being paid for lectures around Chicago and that he delivered them in his own time.

Perkins said he had a contract to delivered them in his own time.

liver six lectures a month at $56 each for a period of eight months. He said he had delivered lectures and had been paid for seven more when the matter was brought to Secretary Ballinger's attention by Davis.

Ballinger Dose Not Approve.

When he next saw Ballinger the latter told him he did not approve of his re-ceiving money for lectures from a rail-road with which the tGovernment did business and he did not wish him to de-liver any more. Perkins said he delivered the seven remaining lectures paid for and then cancelled the contract. He said Ballinger never gave his approval to his
