Secretary of Illinois Association Tells Grand Jury Bills They Killed.

MUCH LAND GIVEN AWAY

Glenn Shows Checks and Names Bills in Interest of Labor and Pure Food Which Went Down in Legislature Before Attack.

SPRINGFTELD, III., May 20 .- For more than four hours yesterday John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, was before the Sangamon County grand jury, which is investigating alleged legislative cor-

The Manufacturers' Association has been mentioned in connection with ef-forts to defeat factory legislation. It is said that during the hearing the Illinois Steel Company and the Iroquois Steel Company were named in connection with the grant by the state of valuable land in South Chicago. Both of these companies are members of the Manufacturers' Association.

Land Given Steel Companies.

Under the terms of the grant, so it is alleged, the Illinois Steel Company and the Iroquois Iron Company were to be given land in South Chicago said to be worth $3,000,000 for $200,000.

The appearance of Mr. Glenn before the grand jury is indirectly the result of charges made by I-ofessor Graham Taylor, of Chicago, that the Illinois Manufacturers' Association had used undue influence to kill bills which the association proposed. association opposed.

Mr. Glenn brought with him checks. outhers and so forth, as ordered by State's Attorney Burke. He said the association had a membership of 1200, that the annual assessment was $40 and that a special assessment had never been made.

Liability Bills Killed.

Among the bills which the Illinois Man ufacturers' Association opposed was the employers' liability bill, for the drafting of which a committee later was appointed under a bill passed. Other bills which failed to pass and which the association opposed were the bill repealing the conspiracy law, the fellow-servant liability bill and some of the pure food bills.

The inquiry before the grand jury also is said to have thrown some light upon other phases of the alleged "jackpot feature of the investigation.

FOUTS SLAPS CROWLEY

ATTORNEY ACCUSES LATTER OF ACTING AS SPY.

Both Men Endeavor to Keen Incident From Public, and Have Little to Say.

Accusing Charles Crowley, a tocco salesman, of being a spy to dog his footsteps in an effort to learn something connecting him with the al-leged attempted bribery of Juror Barton in the trial of W. Cooper Morris. Seneca Fouts, one of Morris' attorneys turned on Crowley in the ground-floo lobby of the Lumbermens building Tuesday night and slapped him in the face. Fouts was kept from further assault on Crowley by Monroe Goldstein, a former newspaper man, who was with him,

"What are you following me for?"
Fouts is said to have asked Crowley.
"What's the matter with you? I am not following you," Crowley replied.

He no sooner had gotten the words out of his mouth than Fouts swung his open hand around with great force, striking the tobacco salesman squarely on the jaw. Crowley was almost knocked down, but put up his hands in defense, when Goldstein stepped in between them and after a short parley led Fours away. ed Fouts away.

Efforts to keep the affair secret were successful until yesterday, though Crowley refused to discuss the matter Crowley is well known in Portland, having been a Deputy Constable at one time. He is said to have excused Fouts' action by saying he thought the attorney was drinking. Since the trouble occurred Fouts is said to have admitted to friends his mistake in accusing Crowley of "spy ing" on him. Crowley appeared to be as anxious to keep the affair from becoming public as anyone else. He refused to discuss the details and said "everything is all right" so far as he knew. "I have no quarrel with Fouts," he declared.

afternoon, huge scales, an exact dupli-cate of the scales used on the docks of the American Sugar Refining Company in Brooklyn.

While the 12 jurors bent forward tensely a weight of 257 pounds was placed thereon. Then a steel wire was thrust in a hole drilled in the stanchion and the result was noted. The scales though accurate, registered only 382 pounds, nine pounds short.

This was the Government's first practical demonstration before the jury of how the American Sugar Refining Company is alleged to have cheated the Treasury Department out of thousands of dollars in duties. By proving this, the prosecution hopes to convict Charles R. Heike, secretary of the company and five former employes and send them to the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta as guilty of conspiracy to defraud.

PETRIFIED LORD CLAIMED

BOGUS PEER'S BODY IN EM-BALMING FLUID 7 YEARS.

Remains of Man Who, Under Titled Names, Won Favors, Money and Women, to Be Cremated.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 30.-After remaining unclaimed for seven years in the embalming solution, arrayed in full evening dress, with silk hat and cane, the mummified body of Sidney Lascelles, alias "Lord Douglas," alias "Lord Berestad" alias "Charles G. "Tord Berestad" alias "Charles G. "Lord Beresford," alias "Charles G. Asquith," was last night sent to Washington, consigned to Dr. McPherson Crichten, presumably to be buried in the crematory there.

The body was claimed by Mrs. J. ".
Summerfield, of Passalt, N. J., sisterin-law of Lascelles' first wife, now liv-ing at Baltimore.

The petrified lord has twice been identified as Sidney Lascelles, noted forger, swindler and bigamist, whose operations opened in Australia, shifted to England and closed in a cheap lodging house in this city. He was lionized in London under the name of Beresford, posing as a cadet of the powerful English house of that name. In America the highest circles did omage to the bogus lord. Wherever he went, Lascelles formed matrimonial alliances with the daughters of the rich, only to leave them in the course of a week, poorer in purse.

Lascelles was convicted at Rome, Ga. of promoting fraudulent schemes and sentenced to six years' hard labor and served his term. He came to Asheville from Norfolk, Va., eight years ago, suffering with tuberculosis, and died

COUNTY DIVISION OPPOSED

Pendleton, Athena and Others Will Compromise if Necessary.

ATHENA, Or., May 20 .- (Special:)-The Commercial Association of Athena The Commercial Association of Athena is uniting with the commercial associations of Pendleton and Weston in an effort to stop the proposed division of Umatilla County, and if they are unable to get a compromise and prevent the division, they propose to establish a county on lines that are satisfactory to all the parties concerned, as nearly as possible.

A joint meeting of the association is being held to establish new lines in case that division is forced upon them. The new line will leave both Weston and Athens and the land and country im-mediately tributary to those towns in Umatilia County. The new bill proposes to make Freewater the temporary county seat of the new county, and Hudson is to be the name of the new county. This idea is said to have met with the approval of practically all of Pendleton, Adams, Weston and Athena.

Managers' Association Will Affiliate With Owners' New Organization.

KLAW & ERLANGER IGNORED

Amusement Purveyors, Fighting for Open Door, Receive Assurance of Support and Attractions of Men Who Manage Companies.

NEW YORK, May 20.—With the avowed intention of eliminating graft from the theatrical business, closing up the outside booking office and of opening wide the theatrical door in recognition of the independence of both theater manager and theatrical producer, the directors ducing Managers' Association in mes building. The National Theater Owners' Asso ciation is the association recently formed by John Cort, of Seattle; Calvin Heilig, of Portland; Julius Cahn, of New England; Mose Reis, of Pennsylvania; J. J. Coleman, of the South; C. A. Marshall, of Duluth; C. P. Walker, of Winnipeg, and many other managers, owning or controlling about 1000 theaters.

By a unanimous vote it was carried that the Producing Managers join with the National Theater Owners to ac-complish the object of entire elimination of the middleman with his attendant evils, and that it be the policy of the producers to deal directly with the theater managers.

Both associations pledged themselves to maintain the theater owner as a free agent in the theatrical world. It was agreed that committees be appointed with full power to settle disputes arisbetween the associations and to r complaints. Committees from hear each association were provided, to dis-cuss plans for operating upon the lines indicated. The utmost good feeling and fellowship marked the meeting.

HEILIG CONFIRMS REPORTS

Producers Find They Have to Meet Owners Halfway, He Says.

Calvin Hellig, president of the North-west Theatrical Association, said last night that for over a week, the directors of the National Theater-owners' Association had been endeavoring to obtain a nearing before the producers, but until last night were denied.

A week ago the producing managers were, many of them, accounted adherents of Klaw & Erlanger. According to Mr. Heilig they have now found that K. & E. can only book their attractions in a limited territory and in the meeting yesterday revoked the support previously promised to the old booking agency. The National Association of Theatrical Producing Managers comprises many of the leading producers of the country. However, both the Shuberts, on the one side, and Belasco on the other, are not included in the ranks. Klaw & Erlanger were, up to last night, the dominant factors in the organization. That the association has thrown them down would appear to be clearly indicated. Among the ociation are Henry B. Harris, Charles Frohman, Daniel Frohman, H. W. Savage, W. A. Brady, Liebler & Co., Daniel V. Arthur, Joseph Brooks and others. From this list it can be seen the Shubert adherents and the K. & E. followers are prominent. Mr. Heilig thus interprets the situation: K. & E. have tried, he says, to get the producers together to directly antagonize the open-door movement. At first they were successful. They continued successful until the managers began to de-mand their bookings. Here was where K. & E. fell down and while they were down, the independent theater-owners took occasion to jump on them with spiked boots.

The latter's association obtained a hearing with the producers and as a result of the conference both associations pledged themselves to support the opendoor policy. The producers have declared for the open door. K. & E. have been beaten by the Shuberts and their friends in the game of reorganization and the control of the producers' association is finally settled. That is Mr. Heilig's view. It is in accordance with the announce-ment ten days ago of the formation of the National Theater-owners' Ascociation but it jibes badly with the announcem that a number of leading managers had promised that K. & E. should lead them. If Mr. Hellig's view of the situation is correct, the war is over and Portland may be certain of all the leading attractions with the exception of those actually owned or managed by Klaw & Erlanger. Mr. Heilig has backed his opinion by continuing work on the Heilig Theater. But although K. & E. would appear to be temporarily eliminated by the dispatch and Mr. Hellig's remarks, it may be depended on that they will come back, even if temporairly hitting the mat. The theatrical war started by the withdrawal of Cort from the Klaw & Erlanger With an open-door policy in the West, the Heilig Theater will be able to book all attractions. There is, however, still Russell & Drew, who assert they have a prior agreement with the Shuberts whereby they are to play the Shubert attractions at the Portland Theater in Portland and at the Alhambra in Scattle. It would appear that now the war was to be a local one.

Evangelist Does Not Spare Churches That Permit Members to Enjoy Games.

"Crime of the Cards" was the subject of the address of Evangelist Hart last night in the Hawthorne Park Tabernacle to an audience of 4000 persons. it being considered one of his strongest addresses of the union meetings. He said that the parlor card table in polite society is the starting-place of many a gambler, and that the "fashionable card party is the kindergarten of the gamblers in this country." Evangelist Hart did not spare the church member who played cards, and declared that a church which tolerates cards never can have a spiritual life.

Albanians Are Now United and Resent Instructions to Use Arabic Characters in the Government Schools-Arabs Hostile.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 20. - (Special.)-Whichever way they look. Turkish statesmen see dangers looming. The excitement in Albania over the writing of Arabic characters in Government chools increases and all the educated Albanians are on the side of the Latin characters.

In Asia Minor the Arab tribes are preparing a holy war and, in spite of King Ferdinand's visit to Constantino-

King Ferdinand's visit to Constantinople, there is always combustible material enough on the Bulgarian frontier to start a biaze at any moment.

Nor are these troubles entirely due to administrative weakness. Fifty races, divided into 2000 castes, speaking 150 languages and professing nine religions have to be harmonized. Except in India, where the British have a maze of caste and religious differences to deal of caste and religious differences to deal with, no nation in the worm is con-fronted with such a problem.

Albanians Drop Feuds.

Though the Albanians only number 2,000,000, they present the biggest handful of worries in all Macedonia. Abdul Hamid used to keep their internecine feuds alive, as a means of preventing them from gettin, into out-side mischeif. Since the young Turk regime began, they have not had such lively times, for they dropped many of their differences at the revolution. But if they continue to have many orders thrust upon them from Constantinople—as in this alphabet dispute—they will again take to guerilla warfare in the hills, in which they have no equal. King Ferdinand, to say nothing of Prince Jean Ghika and minor pretenders, have their eye on all these possibilities and hope one day to draw the Albanian allegiance from Turkey. Turkey.

In the Yemen region of Arabia, chaos is being taken in hand by the Turkish governor. He is laboring in a verita-ble hornet's nest. Izzet Bey, notorious as Abdul Hamid's Chamberlain, is now in Egypt and his influence, it is feared, is being turned to no good purpose. Day and night he is under espionage, by order of the Turkish government. To visit Izzet and then set out for Arabia is to court a speedy death. For though Izzet swore allegiance to Sul-tan Mahmoud, he is believed to be plotting for the independence of Arabia, with himself as Sultan. Anyway, no chances are taken with his messengers. They disappear at the hands of the Turkish spies and no questions are asked.

Tribes Robbed by Turks.

At the head of the discontented the Yemen is Sheikh Yahia, whose influence is increasing rapidly. His great argument is that the Turks are robbing the nomadic tribesmen both by taxation and by opening up the country with railways. So the Hedjaz railway is under heavy guard and his main supporters and the men of Hodeida, Assir and Beni Muvan—who are highly successful gun runners—are now being chased by the governor's troops. To add to the occupation of these regular forces they have started an effort to check the persistent brigands of Tass, whose depredations keep that region in terror. Also there are im-portant tribes of Reda who have steadily refused to pay taxes and swear they won't begin what they consider a bad habit.

Altogether it is a hard task for alluggish, fat man like Sultan Mah-moud to sit a bucking broncho of a state like modern Turkey. Abdul Hamid's method of setting all the sections quarreling with each other was an evil one, but it had its advantages from his own viewpoint.
