BANKERS ALLEGE FEUD

KESTER AND KETTENBACH ASK CHANGE OF VENUE.

Press Bureau Maintained by Prosecution to Prejudice Public, Is Declared in Affidavits.

MOSCOW, Idaho, May 25 .- (Special.) -Change of venue to Boise was asked today by the defense in the Lewiston bank cases, in which Kettenbach and Kester are charged with having made false reports to the Controller of the Currency.

As a basis for their contention that a fair trial could not be obtained in the northern part of Idaho, the defense introduced many affidavits. Special agents of the Government are charged withing having maintained a press bureau to influence public opinion. Peyton Gordon, assistant to the United States Attorney-General, is accused of having used profanc epithets toward Rev. Charles McCauhe, pastor of the Methodist Church at Lewiston, when the preacher was in attendance upon the preacher was in attendance upon the grand jury. The history of the fac-tional trouble at Lewiston is reviewed. Affidavits read today declared that there was a bitter personal political and business feud between the Ket-tenbachs, of the Lewiston National Bank, Kester and John B. West, on one side, and Gaylord Thompson, president of the Commercial Trust Company, and Miles S. Johnson, ex-Assistant United States District Attorney, and their friends on the other. Recent newspaper publications were quoted as having been designed to prejudice publications been designed to prejudice pub-newspaper publications were quoted as having been designed to prejudice public opinion.

Mr., Gordon, in resisting the motion for a change of venue, denounced the affidavit of Rev. Mr. McCaphe as false and declared that he had done nothing inconsistent with his professional honor and his position in the case.

"If these affidavits," he said, "are not stricken from the records, they will stand as a monument to the unprofessional conduct of the attorneys
