SCULLIN HERE FOR PEACE

Meeting Called for Tonight to Fix Upon Method of Settling Differences of Teamsters and Employers-More Join In.

Opposing the teamsters in their strike for an increase of 25 cents a day, bringing their daily wage to $3. the Draymen's Association, the Portland Chamber of Commerce and the Commercial Club yesterday passed resolutions favoring an open-shop policy. The strikers say they are determined in their stand and that this action will delay a settlement of the difficulty. The Oregon branch of the United Metal Trades Association late last night also passed a resolution favoring the open-shop, and opposing the teamsters in op, and opposing the teamsters in eir strike.

A plan to cause a settlement at once of the teamsters' strike was started yesterday by P. H. Scuille, of San Francisco, general secretary of the National Industrial Peace Association.
The plan will materialize into action at a meeting called for tonight at the Y. M. C. A. To this prominent business and professional men of the city have been invited, and definite action looking to an amende actionator. ing to an amicable settlement of the differences between the striking teamsters and their employers will be taken.

Scullin Circulates Petition.

Mr. Scullin yesterday began the cir-culation of a petition, the signers of which pledge themselves to offer their services as mediators in the controversy to the end that industrial peace may be restored in Portland.

Those signing the petition yesterday were Rev. J. H. Black, Rev. Benjamin Young, D.D., president of the Ministerial Association; Otto Kleeman, secretary of the local Architectural Club, and H. W. Stone, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Is not yet known what steps will be taken towards effecting a settlement. This will be determined upon at the

This will be determined upon at the meeting tonight.

A local branch of the Industrial Peace Association was organized here three years ago, but has since been inactive, owing to the death of its president, Judge A. I. Frazer. This occurred soon after its organization. At that time one strike, that of the Modiders' Union, was settled through interference of the association.

Mr. Scullin was here hast May to se-

Interference of the association.

Mr. Scullin was here last May to secure observation by the ministers of the city of Industrial Peace Sunday in January of each year. A resolution favoring this was adopted by the Ministerial Association. While here Mr. Scullin was taken ill and returned to his home. He came back to Portland one week ago to revive the local branch of the Industrial Peace Association and being here when the strike ciation and being here when the strike was declared, decided to demonstrate the efficacy of the organization. He founded the National association ten years ago and since that time has given all of his time to furthering its Many Strikes Settled Thus.

"I have seen dozens of strikes set-tled this way," he said last night "The great industrial battles between cap-ital and labor are not of interest only to the contending parties. There is a third party, and the harm done is to this party almost as much as to the principals. That is why we feel we have license to offer our services in settling these matters."

The striking teamsters made considerable headway yesterday and during the day dozens of recruits were persuaded to join their ranks. The city was thoroughly picketed and when a non-union driver was seen taking out a wagon he was at once surrounded by the strikers. was at once surrounded by the strikers, who usually persuaded him to turn his wagon in. There were few demonstrations, however, and no violence aside from a few individual fights. The strikers are apparently trying to win strike without violence of any kind.

Howling Mob Chases Dillon. What came near developing into a riot was started yesterday shortly after noon when Tom Dillon, who had signed with the union only a few days ago, attempted to drive a truck belonging to the East Side Transfer Company from the North-ern Pacific freight sheds. The pickets in this vicinity started in pursuit of Dil-ion and soop a howling mob of several hundred men were at their heels. hundred men were at their heels.

As the wagon crossed the Morrisonstreet bridge, hundreds of loafers joined the strikers and the crowd was swelled to at least 700. Sergeant Goits, in command of eight patrolmen, was ordered to the scene of trouble and overtook the crowd at East Second and Belmont streets. When ordered the crowd dispersed without trouble. The teamsters are bitter against Dillon for "betraying" them after they say he agreed to walk out.

Chief of Police Cox has given out that no violence or rioting will be per-mitted. He held a consultation with the leaders of the strike yesterday and was assured that every effort will be made to restrain the men from any outbreaks. However, it is believed that more or less rioting is bound to occur when the strike assumes more serious proportions.

Loafers Make Most Trouble.

The police say that the strikers themselves have caused very little trouble and most of the demonstrations have been made by hoodlums and street loafers who have no interest in the strike and do not even sympathize with the strikers but represent a class that is always anxious to start a demonstration. It is this element with which the police expect to have the most trouble.

appearance of hundreds of ms and sympathizers with the striking teamsters in the streets of the North End caused the police no little anxiety for several hours last right. Through the vigilance of a spe-cial squad under Sergeant Goltz, the cial squad under Sergeant Goltz, the hoodlums were restrained from committing any violence. Attracted by several street speakers, who often give teh police trouble by their harangues in that section of the city, the mobs thickened, and demonstrations of violence became imminent several times. The police, however, kept the crowds moving.

C. J. Curtis a prominent politician of Astoria and a member of the State Senale, reported to the police yesterday that his son, W. C. Curtis, was missing, and asked that a search be made for him. He described his son as being 39 years old, weighing 160 pounds, and wearing a dark brown suit and a derby hat.

Police Watch North End.

At the first intimation that trouble peated by strike sympathizers and their followers in the downtown streets today, Fearing the hatred of the striking team-sters toward non-union drivers might rearing the harred of the straining team-sters toward non-union drivers might cause a clash between the two factions today, Chief Cox last night spent much time in laying plans to keep peace. Following is a statement made last night by the officers of the Draymen's Association:

Each Party Claims Advantage.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 2—According to the foundry employers, who signed an open-shop pledge yesterday, less than 400 of their 2000 employes obeyed the strike order of the Machinists' Unions yesterday. The men claim that more than 600 are out. The Union and Llewelyn Iron Works reported to the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association that the strike had not interfered with their business in any way. The Union Tool Company was the only firm that reported itself short handed.

Partial Strike Unexplained.

SEATTLE Wash. June 2-Thirty union nachinists in three shops struck today without notice to their employers. The union men in the larger shops are still it work. The Machinists Union refused to explain the partial strike.

COMMISSION IS TOPIC

PACIFIC LIBRARIANS DISCUSS PROPOSED STATE LAW.

Sentiment Is Evenly Divided on Question of Personnel of Projected Board.

Seventy-five librarians, attending the second annual convention of the Pacific Northwest Library Association, discussed for two hours last night questions affecting a proposed law creating a State Library Commission. One of the controverted points was whether or not the law should contain a provision making the Governor and State Superintendent of Public Instruction ex-officio members of the commission. Another was over a provision required the Commission. requiring the Governor to appoint a member of the State Federation of Women's Clubs on the commission, and further requiring that two members be experienced librarians. Sentiment on all questions was about equally divided.

State Superintendent of Public In-struction J. H. Ackerman favored mak-ling the state superintendent an ex-officio member and leaving the ap-pointment of the rest to the Governor. william E. Henry, of Washington, took issue with him, saying politics would enter into the commission. The discussion was abandoned without any of the matters being settled.

the matters being settled.

Yesterday morning's session was taken up with professional questions; an address on "Book Buying" by Miss Helen Gracle, of Seattle, and one on "Charging Systems" by Miss Charlotte E. Wallace, of Seattle. In the afternoon the delegates were taken for a motor car ride over the city streets and county roads.

The sessions of the convention will close this morning at 11 o'clock with the election of officers for the ensuing year. Preceding this two section meetings will be held. The selection of next year's meeting place is left to the executive committee. Victoria, B. C., is a candidate for the honor.

The effect of these breaches is shown to result in what is practically a land monopoly, particularly from Eugene to the southern boundary of the state. It is shown that the interests of the community have been sacrificed to serve the interests of the syndicate. It is held that this is the very evil Congress wished to avert in putting in a provision in the grant that the land should be sold at a low figure in small parcels.

In discussing the remedies and jurisdiction of the case it is shown that the right of forfeiture for breach of a condition subsequent can be exceeded. VANCOUVER BARRACKS, Wash.

Experts Ascend McKenzle River for 3.500,000 Feet of Logs.

SPRINGFIELD, Or., June 2 - (Special)-For the purpose of making a dangerous drive of three and a half million feet of logs, a crew of 15 expert drivers has been sent 30 miles up the McKenzie River to make the run down with the Booth-Kelley Lumber Company's drive. This represents the whole Winter's work of several river camps. The timber is very large, some of the sticks being five feet through at the small ends, and as the river already is very low the work will take several weeks.

Another crew about June 10 will start the Willamette-River drive from Hylands, 25 miles to the Springfield mill. The mill is now cutting logs brought in by train from Wendling and because of inability to get enough logs that way the mill is not running under its full canacity.

After arriving in Portland the boy escaped, but returned here last night. He was taken to the County Jall by Sheriff Pomeroy this morning, violently insane, to await an examination on the return of his parents.

It is estimated that of the original 3,500,000 acres contained in the grant there remain about 3,000,000 acres of unsold lands. The agricultural lands bordering the tracks have been practically sold off.

Victory Would Mean Much. The winning of the suit by the Gov

The winning of the suit by the Government would mean the throwing open to settlement a vast acreage for homestead and timber entry.

The brief, which was filed by Mr. Townsend, was prepared by and is signed by B. D. Townsend, but is also signed by George W. Wickersham, Attorney General; John H. McCourt, United States Attorney for the district of Oregon, and by Walter H. Evans and Russell Wyatt, assistant United States attorneys. It is a complete statement of the case, taking up first of all and outlining the general nature of the suit, stating the history of the grant and the suit, then following with a lengthy argument, after which the a lengthy argument, after which the breaches of conditions restricting the sale of granted lands are taken up. The remedies and jurisdiction is the next point discussed and the thesis ends with a discussion of the effect of the patents, the entry of the statute of limitations into the case and the question of laches and estoppel.

The argument first takes the grant of July 25, 1866, states its provisions, relating to the yearing of the grant relating to the vesting of the grant, the legal effect of the general terms of the act. The point is made that the designation of the company and fling of assent to the terms of the grant were terms precedent, and points out the difference between the conditions precedent and subsequent. It is on this that the Government makes its strongest point, showing that a writ-ten acceptance of the provisions of the grant was made by the Oregon & Cali-fornic Fallroad Company when it route fornia Raliroad Company when it took over the lands.

The contention of the defendants is outlined, in which the defendants attempt to show the meaning of Congress to have been to assist in the building of the road and that after the road was built no fur-ther interest in the land was intended.

Land Mortgaging Unlawful.

It is shown in the case that the sales were made in violation of the terms of the grant and that these unlawful sales dated from the very beginning. The mortgaging of the lands is also shown to have been unlawful. The appropriation of the unsold portion of the grant by the Southern Pacific Company is also attacked, although the title still remains in the name of the Oregon & California Railroad Company.

The effect of these breaches is shown to the shown to show that Hinton could not be blamed Road's Contention Made Known.

"Our contention is that the pro-visions are invalid in that the patent was issued giving the company the property in fee simple and that after the issuance of a patent the United States has no further rights. Every acre of the land involved, except 130,was issued giving the company the property in fee simple and that after the issuance of a patent the United States has no further rights. Every acre of the land involved, except 130,000 acres, has been patented more than six years prior to the start of the suit and according to the act of March 2, 1895, a patent that old cannot be set aside nor disturbed. A third point is that the grant of July 25, 1866, embedded in the grant of July 25, 1866, embedding most of this land, is not affected by the act of April 10, 1869, which contains the limitation as to the sale. This is because the title was wested in the prior bill and Congress had no right to impose any conditions.

vested in the prior bill and Congress had no right to impose any conditions.
"Our fourth and best point is that Congress evidently intended these sales should be made to settlers to aid in the construction of the road and contemplated the land would all be sold so the company would get the money for the road while building it. If the land could not be sold because there were no purchasers, then when the road was completed the promises were no longer effective. It was not a perpetual offer that we held out for these lands at $2.50 an acre, but only during the period of actual construction.

"A point made by the United States is that the mere promise on the part of the original railway company that it would try to sell the land as per the grant must hold. There was included no forfeiture clause in this, however.

"There is one thing I would like to bring out here. The literation is the land out the prior out here. The literation is a per the prior out here. The literation is a per prior out here. The literation is a per prior out here.

"There is one thing I would like to bring out here. This litigation is be ing made capital of by locators, brok ers, etc., who are reaping a harvest lo cating and making sales to the guilible people who believe that they can se-cure these lands by merely making a tender now. There is an organized bu-reau in Portland which is advertising that for a certain sum, $100, or whatever they can get more than that, they will locate a quarter section of rich timber lands on which a tender of $400 must be made, and then the person making the tender will eventually be the owner of a $10,000 timber claim. The effect is readily discernible."

EMPLOYER PLEADS GUILTY

Law Regulating Working Hours of Women Is Vindicated.

A victory for the law forbidding the a victory for the law formaning the employment of women for more than 10 hours in any one day was won yesterday by State Labor Inspector O. P. Hoff, through the entering of a plea of guilty by the Silverfield Company to a charge of violating the law. A fine of $50 was imposed.

Complaint was made against S. Silverfield, president of the company, last December, and it was agreed, the inspector asserts, that the case would be tried on its merits, but when it came to trial the defendant attacked the indictment. Therempon the inspector filed another charge against the company, there having been infractions, he charged, in the cases of five women on seven separate days, each five women on seven separate days, each constituting a separate offense. It was agreed yesterday that the complaint against the individual should be with-against the individual should be withdrawn and a plea of guilty was entered to the other complaint.

Few infractions of the 10-hour law have been reported since its validity was sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States, says Mr. Hoff. It is the practice of the office to give one warning before beginning proceedings, and this usually is effective.

CURED HER PERFECTLY

"My little girl had eczema and was cured by Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. It first started with sores and blisters and was all over her body. She was just red all over and would scratch until it would bleed. It itched so that she could not sleep. I used different medicines but without effect. I washed her with Cuticura Soap and then applied Cuticura Ointment, which resulted in a perfect cure. I used one cake of Cuticura Soap and half a box of Ointment. Also, as a toilet soap, there is nothing better for pimples. My face was covered with pimples and now it is absolutely free from them since I used Cuticura Soap.
