

WEDDING WILL BE EVENT OF SEASON

Maidstone-Drexel Nuptials to Be Celebrated in Splendor in London Tomorrow.

VALUE OF GIFTS $500,000

According to Wish of King George, Nation's Mourning Will Not In- terfere With Magnificence Planned for This Marriage.

LONDON, June 6.—(Special.)—At a time when the death of King Edward threw London into a gloom that threatened to stop all society functions, King George himself came to the result that Miss Margaretta Drexel, whose wedding to the Viscount Maidstone will take place Wednesday, and said that he wanted the royal mourning to make no more difference than could be helped in the arrangements for the wedding.

So the preparations went forward as had been planned, with the result that this wedding will be quite the event of the season here, on a plane of magnificence touched by no other union, national or international, for many years.

Guests to Number 2000.

Two thousand guests will assemble in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, and no one will be admitted without one of those coveted cards. Here the Bishop of London, assisted by Canon Hensley Hanson, will perform the ceremony, and the bride's father, Anthony J. Drexel, Sr., will give her to a son of one of the oldest and best families in England, the Viscount Maidstone. The future Viscountess has good prospects of one day being the Countess of Winchelsea and Nottingham.

The bride's skirt will have a panel of lace at one side, while a scarf of the same will be draped from one shoulder to the body and her veil will, to all intents and purposes, be double—one of lace at the back and one of tulle over the face. Then, as a final effect, from the shoulders will be hung a long court train. Although many beautiful jewels of fabulous value are included in the wedding gifts, Miss Drexel will wear but a simple pearl necklace worth not over $50.

Bridesmaids to Be in White.

Ten bridesmaids will accompany the bride in the church, each wearing the bride's name flower in the head dress of dainty tulle work that will confine her tulle veil. It is to be a white wedding altogether, and the dresses of the ten bridesmaids will be of soft white crepe. The bouquets will be of daisies. The gifts of the groom are jeweled pendants on slender chains.

Viscount Maidstone's best man will be the Hon. Charles Thomas Mills, the son and heir of the Second Baron Hillington and the youngest member but one of the House of Commons. Miss Mildred Carter, a close friend of the bride since childhood and herself to be married to Lord Acheson on Thursday, is to be chief among the bridesmaids.

Because of the royal wish respecting society functions, the guests at the wedding will not be garbed in mourning black, but in grays, mauves and black and white, so that even though the nation is in mourning, no note of undue solemnity will intrude.

The court florist, Goodyear, has had carte blanche in the decorations, and the decorations, both in St. Margaret's and at the Drexel home, and the beautiful church, it is said, will never have looked more beautiful than Wednesday.

After the church ceremony a great reception will be given at the Drexel home in Grosvenor square. Here, as at the church, a great show of flowers will be made, and the house, with its white walls and historic tapestries and furniture, lends itself to decoration. In the back room will be displayed the presents in glass cases, the total value of which, it is estimated, will be not less than $500,000. They will be guarded by detectives from Scotland Yard.

Miss Margaretta has received a magnificent rope of pearls from her mother and a diamond tiara and one of the fashionable medallions of diamonds attached to a jeweled chain, as well as a motor car, from her father.

Beautiful Gifts Received.

Lord and Lady Winchelsea have sent their daughter-in-law a diamond and pearl tiara of beautiful design.

Mr. and Mrs. George Drexel's gift is a sapphire ring.

Mrs. Joseph Drexel gives a valuable book with colored Bouchere plates.

Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer gives her niece a set of embossed silver trays.

From Mrs. Paul Mills to her cousin there is a diamond and ruby ring.

Another cousin, the Duchess of Viseu, wife of Don Miguel de Braganza, sends an antique fan.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Biddle give their cousin an immense silver vase and a similar ornament is from Livingston Biddle.

Mrs. John Walmough, a great-aunt of the bride, gives a valuable lace fan.

The honeymoon will be spent on a motor trip on the Continent in the gift of the bride. The Italian lakes are the objective point. After their return to London they will live for a time with Mrs. Drexel.

territory, the people have not been given opportunity to use a ton of it, with the consequence that they are compelled to bring their fuel either from Australia or China or around the Horn from our own Eastern States. Thus they are compelled to pay from $15 to $20 per ton, when they ought to get it for $2.

This the Senator denounced as "conservation run riot."

Between the withdrawal of forest reserves and on account of the coal deposits, he declared, Alaska had been placed in a straitjacket and its development greatly restricted.

Nelson was interrupted several times by Mr. Newlands, who called attention to the fact that one of Nelson's constituents, Mr. Weyerhaeuser, the "lumber king," was the owner of 1,000,000 acres of timber lands that the Nevada Senator said he had been able to acquire under "our misfit land laws."

"Weyerhaeuser Out-Herods Herod," Nelson replied that Mr. Weyerhaeuser had become one of the most ardent conservationists.

"He out-Herods Herod," he added.

Newlands also fell into a controversy with Hughes of Colorado over a statement by the former to the effect that one concern in Colorado had been enabled to procure immense deposits of coal contrary to the general public interest.

Hughes denounced the statement as an aspersion upon the state and declared it to be "radical and unwarranted."

CLEVELAND'S "GOLDEN RULE" CHIEF OF POLICE, WHO IS ON TRIAL, AND HIS CHIEF CO-WORKER.

Fred Kohler, Chief of Police.

By a vote of 40 to 24 the Senate today made the Administration land withdrawal bill the order of business. Before the vote was taken a motion to substitute the statehood bill was held not to be in order.

KING MISSED AT SHOW

INTERNATIONAL HORSE EXHIBITION BEGINS IN LONDON.

Society and Horsemen Miss Patronage of Late Ruler—Americans Are Well Represented.

LONDON, June 6.—The International Horse Show opened at Olympia this afternoon. It will continue ten days. Lacking the royal patronage to which has been denied in the past, the exhibition has been anticipated with peculiar interest by society and horsemen as one of the few events of a season that has been robbed of the usual gaiety because of the mourning for the late King.

The opening was without ceremony but a large crowd was on hand to see the wonderfully decorated hall which is a rare spectacle in itself, and the horses housed in stalls lined with varicolored cloths and embellished with the prizes won at former shows.

The entries from abroad are fewer than formerly. The Italian officers, who have taken such a prominent part in the jumping contests heretofore, withheld their entries this year, insisting that to be truly international, the exhibitions should be held successively in the different capitals.

The Americans, too, have not sent as many horses as they did last year but they are well represented. Walter Winans again heads the list in number and variety of entries, his exhibits appearing in almost every class from Shetland ponies to hunters.

W. H. Moore, who last year captured many of the big prizes, is a good second, having entered 40 horses, chiefly in the harness classes, including two coaching teams.

Other American competitors are: C. W. Watson, with 20 horses; Xavier Ryan, who has again entered Jubilee, the best holding the Olympia jumping record; Paul Cravath, who will also compete in the jumping events; Miss L. Long, of Kansas City, who has entered a trotter, and Edwin H. Weatherbee, who has a team of five American bred hunters.

Alfred Vanderbilt and Paul Sorg will take part in the coaching events.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The House Representatives today passed a joint resolution authorizing the Governors of Louisiana and Oregon to adjust the boundary dispute between the two states where the boundary line follows the channel of the Columbia River. The resolution has already passed the Senate, and now goes to the President for his signature. There was no opposition to it in the House.

KOHLER HAS DOUBLE

Charges Against "Golden Rule" Chief Are Falling.

ACCUSED OFFICIAL IS SICK

Case Loses Strength Through Fact That Several of Prosecution's Witnesses Have Personal Grievances—Double Explains.

CLEVELAND, O., June 6.—(Special.)—The prosecution in the trial of Chief of Police Fred Kohler rested this afternoon. Nine of the 24 original charges were dropped for lack of evidence, leaving gross immorality and habitual drunkenness the only counts with which the defense has to deal.

The charges that have failed are malfeasance in office and inefficiency. The defense expects to call 100 witnesses.

Mr. Kohler is scheduled to be a witness in his own behalf, but he is sick and may be unable to testify. The chief is under the care of a physician and is trying to get into shape to stand the severe cross-examination he knows is before him. His testimony will be taken on each of the 25 charges.

In his own behalf, but he is sick and may be unable to testify. The chief is under the care of a physician and is trying to get into shape to stand the severe cross-examination he knows is before him. His testimony will be taken on each of the 25 charges.

It was reported today that a double of the chief was seen in the restricted district and had been passing himself off for Kohler. The chief's attorneys will investigate this. The prosecution has several more witnesses to be examined tomorrow, one of whom, it is said, will give important testimony.

Much interest is being taken in the case from the fact that Kohler had been touted by Lincoln Steffens and ex-President Roosevelt as the "best police chief in the United States." There have been intimations that this adulation partially turned Kohler's head. The defense has been making strenuous efforts to tear down the stories that Kohler forced certain women of the underworld to accept men he designated as entitled to the freedom of the house, and that he shifted the women about to suit the convenience of his friends.

It is thought that the theory that Chief Kohler had a villainous "double" who did these vile deeds in his name is calculated to destroy this line of evidence.

The case has lost much of its strength through the fact that many witnesses were shown to have a personal grievance against the chief, some of them having been dismissed from their positions through his influence.
