

O. A. C. READY FOR WEEK OF ACTIVITY

Men of Prominence on Coast Will Speak at Quarter Centennial of College.

SEATS PLACED FOR 7000

Exercises That Will Begin Sunday Will Be Most Elaborate Held at Educational Institution in Pacific Northwest.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, June 9.—(Special.)—When the curtain goes up Friday night on the senior class play at the local opera-house it will mark the beginning of the great college celebration ever held in the Northwest. From that time until the night of Tuesday, June 14, Corvallis will be the scene of events that will touch every note in the gamut of collegiate life, from the academic formalities of the commencement programme to the absurd burlesques of the student parade. The occasion for this festive event is the quarter-centennial of the college.

For this occasion there will assemble in this city some of the most prominent people in the educational, social and industrial spheres of this country. Many of the great educational institutions of the country will send delegates and many men closely associated with the greatest industrial and commercial interests of the Pacific Coast will be present.

Corvallis is prepared to entertain the great numbers of visitors who have already begun to invade the city. The City Council has taken up the matter of decorating the city and the Commercial Club, private citizens and the churches have united in plans for the lodging and boarding of the guests.

The magnificent new Armory, where most of the exercises will be held, has been most attractively decorated. Bunting and flags of many nations hang from the steel girders and a great triumph with Grecian pillars has been constructed at one end. Seats for 7000 persons have been provided.

The campus will be very attractively decorated. For the past two weeks the electric engineering students, under the direction of Professor Gardner, have been stringing miles of wire, placing thousands of electric lights and working out unique designs for lighting the grounds. When the work is completed the campus will be ablaze with lights. The landscape gardeners are also planting beautiful flowers about the campus.

A feature of exceptional interest will be the student parade Monday afternoon and the excellent Monday afternoon, afternoon parade, or circus, will be in the nature of a series of burlesques on college life. The work of the various departments will be depicted in humorous ways and many of the student stunts will be repeated, in order that visitors may see and understand the real spirit of these things. The evening exercises will take the form of drills and dances in costume. The entire student body, the men dressed in orange-colored capes and the women in white dresses and special costumes for the folk dances, will take part in these exercises.

W. F. Herrin Will Speak.

Many prominent men of the state who have been associated with the college in the past, either as students, professors or members of the governing boards, will appear on the programmes. The jubilee oration will be delivered by W. F. Herrin, of San Francisco, vice-president of the Southern Pacific roads, who was graduated from this institution in 1873. J. K. Weatherford, also a graduate of the college and at present president of the board of regents, will appear on the same programme.

The historical exercises, which will take place on Monday, will have as a roster of speakers T. T. Geer, ex-Governor and former member of the board of regents; Captain J. T. Apperson, president of the board of regents from 1885 to 1886; Rev. J. R. N. Bell, who has been closely associated with the school for many years; B. F. Irvine, member of the board; Judge T. H. Crawford; Judge J. P. Yates, '85, and Professor John Fulton, '92.

Tuesday afternoon the $3000 bandstand just completed will be formally presented to the college as a gift from the classes of 1908, 1909, 1910 and 1912. Fred E. Ewart will make the presentation speech for the classes, and President Weatherford will accept it on behalf of the state. The cadet band will also give a concert in its new home.

The climax of the exercises will be on Tuesday. On this day both the commencement and jubilee programmes will be held. The jubilee programmes will begin at 11 o'clock. This will give time for the visitors who will arrive on special trains that morning to find accommodations and get to the Armory. In the afternoon the commencement programme will be held. President Hamilton, of the Montana State College, will deliver the commencement oration, and Dr. A. C. True, director of the United States Office of Experiment Station, will give a special address.

The school of music and the cadet band have prepared special numbers for all of the programmes. The alumni association has elaborate plans for the entertainment of the old graduates. Class reunions, picnics, receptions and balls are scheduled. Special dinners and receptions are also arranged for the official delegates and other visitors.

Following are the programmes for the various exercises:

CAPITAL FOR VANCOUVER

Lot 50x100 Feet Is Sold for $10,000, Illustrating Values.

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 9.—(Special.)—Ten thousand dollars for a lot 50x100 feet was paid today to C. A. Blurock by Eugene Hoch, of Portland, and Carl Oetzen, of Vancouver. Stewart & Thompson negotiated the sale. The lot is at the northeast corner of Washington and Seventh streets.

The buyers say they will build a two-story brick building, to cost about $20,000, at once. Much real estate in Vancouver is changing hands and outside capital is becoming interested.

Many Portland business men have money invested in Vancouver, attracted by its possibility of becoming a large city in the next few years. More improvements are being made now than ever before in the history of the city.

LAW COVERS 'JOKE' SEATTLE HOLD-UP

Aftermath of Society's Diversion May Not Be Pleasant.

NOT MEANT FOR PAPERS

Leaders in "Robbery" of Coaching Party Very Sorry That Police Were Put to So Much Inconvenience Through Episode.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 9.—(Special.)—George W. Vandervser, Prosecuting Attorney, notified Chief of Police Wappenstein this afternoon that the status of the state thoroughly cover the "holdup" of the Harry Whitney Treat coach, filled with society women, yesterday, and that his office proceed against the culprits if Wappenstein saw fit to file information.

"I greatly regret the whole unfortunate occurrence, I am sorry it got into the newspapers and very much regret the inconvenience and embarrassment caused the police," said Mr. Treat today.

"Before we started from the Hotel Washington, Joshua Green, whose wife was giving the coaching party, told me that I needn't be surprised if something queer happened along the road—that there might be some fun."

"It was Mrs. Green's party, as I have said, and she occupied the box seat.

"When the masked men appeared, I whipped up and tried to drive by the holdup party. A large man, who was with me, told me, no less a personage than Mr. Green himself, grabbed the leader on the far side and hung on."

"The horse dragged him probably 50 yards and the man's weight on the rein drew the leaders into the ditch. To save an accident, I stopped the coach."

"This affair was not intended to get into the newspapers—that's the worst feature of the case," said Joshua Green this morning.

"You see, these little personal matters ought not to be printed. I regret that the police were called—that was an oversight. We did not figure on that. As for the women on the coach, they are all my wife's friends and mine, and I believe if they were asked to write today they would say they wouldn't have missed the experience for anything."

Much Criticism Heard.
"Yes, we had guns, all right, and they were big and ugly-looking, but they were old-fashioned and not in service. There was no such thing as a cartridge in the crowd."

"Of course there is no joke in having a bunch of detectives ride several miles at top speed on the report of a hold-up that was no hold-up, after all. That part of it is bad."

The fifth of the bold "bandits" whose name was not learned yesterday, is Henry Dickinson, whose wife was in the coaching party.

Comments of various kinds were heard all over the city last night and tonight regarding the affair on the Golf and Country Club road. There was criticism in plenty, and particularly because the police were notified of a highway robbery in which jewels worth $7000 or $8000 had been taken at the point of a battery of guns which turned out to be a hoax. It is reported, too, that the nerves of some of the women on the coach were so badly shattered that one or two of them fainted after the excitement was over.

OLD ENGINEER FOUND DEAD

Body of George Wilson, Missing Since Decoration Day, Located.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., June 9.—(Special.)—The body of George Wilson, the aged engineer who has been missing since May 30, and for whom Sheriff's posse from North Yakima and Ellensburg started a hunt this morning, was found by George Brown, a colored man, about a mile from the latter's cabin near the Yakima County line.

Wilson started out on Decoration day with a party to do some engineering work in the mountains, but the hard work weakened him and he turned back to the camp and had not been heard from since. He was formerly prominent in the state geodetic survey.

SENATE IS INSISTENT

ALL UNLAWFUL ACTS IN COMBINATION ALIKE WRONG.

House Provision Exempting Labor Unions From Anti-Trust Law Prosecutions Killed.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Action of the Senate committee on appropriations in striking out of the civic sundry appropriation bill the House provision directing that no part of the money for enforcing the anti-trust law shall be utilized in the prosecution of combinations looking ings of wage-earners were not always peaceable and he added that he had seen many acts of violence grow out of such meetings.

He intimated that the purpose of the House provision was to influence voters.

Gore contended that the House provision was not intended to protect violence and said that the effort to prosecute laboring men for movements in their interest was a relic of the dark ages.

AUTOIST MAKES FAST RUN

Seattle Man Gets Home From Portland in 11 Hours, 41 Minutes.

To prove that he could drive an automobile from Seattle to Portland in 11 hours and 50 minutes, R. C. Rice, of Seattle, and Harry Disher, his mechanic, drove a Ford car back to Seat-the yesterday in 11 hours and 41 minutes, bettering the record made Monday by nine minutes. Rice and Disher left the Oregon Hotel at 8:10 yesterday morning and arrived at the Seattle Hotel at 7:51, according to a telegram received by M. C. Dickinson last night.

A great many automobile men questioned the time Rice and Disher made Monday, because it was so far below the record, and to prove that it could be done they agreed to make the run again, and succeeded in lowering the former time.
