to the surface. De Rock performed this service successfully, and he maintains that the owner of the car, Mrs. Geren, is indebted to him for the work. As yet, however, he apparently has been unable to reach a satisfactory settlement with Mrs. Geren, and, as a consequence, he is keeping possession of the auto.

With Ed Hollenbeck after the machine for garage charges and Diver De Rock holding onto it for submarine services for which he has not been recompensed, Mrs. Geren is beginning to feel that it is more of a burden than it is worth. As far as that is concerned, however, it is said that the automobile is still in such condition that it can be put info commission after repairs to the amount of over $500 have been made. "We expect that between 5000 and 6000 ballots will be cast," said Henry Reed, secretary of the Fleischner Campaign Association. "If there are that many, Mr. Fleischner will be elected, hands down. If the vote is not representative, he may have a close race."

"We are counting on winning," was the simple statement of H. J. Parkinson, editor of the Labor Press and a Daly worker.

Statements to the voters were issued geant Crate, and the sergeant also went out on an investigation and took Clausen to the police station with him. Clausen said that a horse trainer told him the method he adopted was the only way to cure his horse of balking. White Bluffs Has Early Peaches.

Statements to the voters were issued by the campaign associations of each of the two leading candidates last night. That for Mr. Fleischner was signed by Colonel David M. Dunne, president of the association, and Henry Pand sacretary. It follows: Reed, secretary. It follows:

tor, Mr. Fleischner stands for the decent and orderly management of the schools upon business principles. His re-election will defeat the attempt, now being made for the first time in the history of Portland, to create an entering wedge in the school system for professional paid agitators, recklessness, turmell and appeal to class prejudice. If Mr. Fleischner is to be elected, the voters must come out and vote for him. Stay-at-home voters will not do any good. Go to the poils early and stay there until you cast your vote for Mr. Fleischner. Do not lose your place at the polls because of any obstructive tactics the opposition may attempt. There will be police at the polls to preserve order.

AMENDMENT OF CONSTITUTION ADVOCATED BY ASSOCIATION.

Countles Would Be Permitted to In cur Debt to Build Highways of Permanent Character.

The Oregon Good Roads Association has launched a movement to give counties of the state an opportunity to assume a bonded indebtedness for the construction of good roads, and an initiative petition is now being circulated throughout the state to bring the question before the vot-

Judge Webster, who has "stumped" the greater part of the state in the interest of good roads, is an earnest advocate of an amendment to the present law which will give the counties the right to issue bonds.

"If this amendment is passed, it does "If this amendment is passed, it does not mean that every county positively must bond itself," said Judge Webster last night. "It simply means that the counties have the right of bonding themcounties have the right of boliums themselves if they so desire, and I believe that the majority of counties would be glad of the opportunity. Are the counties afraid to trust themselves with this priviafraid to trust themselves with this privi-lege now? If not, why should they hold back from the proposed amendment? "There is no reason why future genera-tions should not share the burden of building good roads, for they also will reap the benefits. With money secured by issuing bonds, the counties could build roads of a permanent character, which

The following is the constitutional pro-vision as it will read when amended ac-cording to the initiative petition present-ed by the Oregon Good Roads Associa-tion:

Section 10, Article XI. No county shall create any debts or liabilities which shall, singly or in the aggregate, exceed the sum of $5000, except to suppress insufrection or repel invasion, or to build permanent roads within the county, but debts for permanent roads shall be incurred only on approval of a majority of those voting on the question. In this regard, the following copy of a resolution passed by the Oregon State Grange at its session at Oregon City on May 17 last, is pertinent:

Whereas, The most important question of interest to farmers under consideration today is the building of permanent public highways in order to lessen the cost of transportation of farm produce to the nearest market; therefore, be it

Mabel Monto crashed from the trestle on the Vancouver road into Oregon Slough, but the surging waters have so far falled to give up their prey. Search for the bodies has practically ceased, as it is believed that they will come to the surface before very long.

That there was no ground for the sensational rumors that Frisco Day and Mabel Monto eloped, sending the big automobile to destruction to throw pursuers off the track, has been established beyond the shadow of a doubt. According to all testimony that has come to light, both Day and the woman were inlight, both Day and the woman were in-toxicated on the fatal Friday night, and their wild ride led them to death.

Many Claimants for Car.

Just who has first claim on the wrecket automobile, which was raised from its bed 65 feet below the surface of Oregon Blough on the Sunday following the accident, seems to be the mooted question at the present time. There are three riaimants of the machine, one of them being the actual owner.

The brutal method employed by Hill Clausen, aged 30, a plasterer living at 1961 Concord street, to "break" his horse from balking, landed him in the police station vesterday on a charge of cruelty to animals. Clausen tied the horse to a tree and lashed it with a whip until both sides of the animal were covered with great, swollen welts.

Neighbors who saw Clausen "breaking" his horse telephoned to the police station for an officer to compel him to came out during the investigation of the accident, Mrs. Geren had left the car with the Hollenbeck Motor Car Company, from whose garage it was to be placed in the cent service until it had earned enough money to clear a debt amounting to about 180 against it. Frisco Day was the driver, and had charge of the machine on night in question.

Auto Is Attached.

Following the raising of the car, Manager Hollenbeck had the death auto attached by Constable Wagner to satisfy the charges against it. The machine was taken in charge by the Constable, but, it appearing that there was no danger of the car being hidden, or spirited away, it was allowed to remain on the scow WHITE BLUFFS, Wash., June 19.— (Special.) — White Bluffs asserts the honor of breaking all Northwest records for early peach production. the following:

Our alm in this campaign has been to bring to the attention of the taxpayers the need of placing on the school board men or women who will adopt needed changes in the system of conducting school affairs. For one thing, we believe there should be inaugurated a system of accounting that would make it impossible for employes of the board to present unjust bills and through sharp and dishonest practices bring discredit upon the directors themselves.

In the past, there has been an absolute lack of an accounting system such as is demanded by the stocessful business man of today. manded by the successful business man of today.

We have appealed to the voters of the district to elect Mr. Daly upon the grounds and with the helief that new blood and new ideas on the school board will be of material benefit to the district, particularly from an educational standpoint.

The members of the present school board represent very largely the business element of the community. We do not believe it possible for them to have any other than a theoretical idea of the needs of the wage-earning teacher and mechanic. The latter have their problems and they can best be met by those from their own ranks.

If the voters at this time believe it wise to have all elements represented on the school board, we believe it will redound to the benefit of this school district.
