Roosevelt Says He Has No More to Say and Wants to Be Left Alone.

NEW THEATER INSPECTED

After Address of Welcome Wanderer Walks Down Main Street Just to See How It Looks, and Then Goes to Sagamore Hill.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 19 .- The odore Roosevelt is back once among his neighbors. He arrived in Oyster Bay from New York Saturday on a special train over Long Island Railroad, engaged by the Roosevelt Neighbors Association, of Nassau County. Four hundred members made the trip with him.

The whole town was at the station and the cheering throng almost swept the ex-President from his feet as he stepped to the ground. Bowing and shaking hands with his old friends, he walked through the mud to the hall park, where a grandstand had been erected. About 3000 persons gathered around the stand.

Five hundred high school pupils were the first to do the honors. They sang "Home Again." Then William J. Hughes, United States District Attorney, delivered the address of wel-come to Colonel Roosevelt. newspaper man, after the

One newspaper man, after the speech, sought an interview.
"There is nothing more that I can say," replied the Colonel. "One thing I want now is absolute privacy. I want to close up like a native oyster. I will go to New York Monday to attend my boy's wedding and I will go to the city on Wednesday to see to my editorial duties. I hope you reporters of the press will not come up to Sagamore Hill, because I have nothing to say."

After it was all over Colonel Roosevelt walked down the main street for a distance just to see how it looked. He inspected the new opera house, then went to his own home on Sagamore Hill

With Colonel Roosevelt in his private car on the train were Mrs. Roosevelt, Representative and Mrs. Longworth, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and his flancee, Miss Alexander; Miss Ethel Roosevelt, Kermit, Quentin, Archie and Emeline Roosevelt, Senator Lodge from Massachusetts and tor Lodge, from Massachusetts, and Representative Cox, from Mr. Roose-velt's home district. Senator Lodge spent the night at Sagamore Hill.

Whitman County Democrats Urge Each Other to Run.

COLFAX, Wash, June 19 .- (Special.)-COLFAX, Wash, June 19.—(Special.)—
Democrats of Whitman County held their first political meeting here this afternoon, with J. G. Hardisty, of Rosalia, chairman. He explained that the meeting was called to revive the Democratic party in Whitman County. R. C. Mc-Croskey, of Garfield, predicted success in the coming election, and Eugene Brown urged that a full ticket be put in the field. Paul Patterson urged activity in office-seeking, as did Charles R, Hill. J. D. McMannis urged every Democratin Whitman County to register, and Ed her dog clasped in her arms. She was in Whitman County to register, and Ed Byrne, of Garfield, suggested contests and Democratic primaries to keep Demo crats out of Republican primaries. Several other Democrats addressed the meeting, all sanguine of victory in the Fall.

The following resolutions were adopted: "Resolved. That we hereby unanimous ly declare that our intentions are not to discourage the candidacy at the pri-maries of any aspirant for office or in any way determine upon or select a ticket, but to encourage good men to offer them-selves in the race, also to discuss mat-ters of general interest to the party."

CARS SMASH AUTO TO BITS

Occupants Narrowly Escape Serious Injuries-One Hurt.

Wedged between two streetcars, going in opposite directions on Washington street, near Tenth, a big touring car containing three people was smashed to bits at a late hour Saturday night. One of the occupants, C. Williams, was bruised on his left leg. The others of the Palouse country, who died in were not injured. Arthur Serr, a pas-

Mitchell, driver and owner of the machine, to pass a Twenty-third-street car, bound in the same direction, on the left-hand side, was the cause of the accident.

Williams attempted, by a sudden burst of speed, to clear the ever-narrowing breach between the two streetcars. He partially succeeded, the cars on each side striking the tonneau of the auto at the same time. Had the automobile been a bare second later, there is little doubt the occupants would have been killed. The machine, valued at $3000, is a total wreck.

BALLINGER PROBE WAITS Investigating Committee Probably

Will Not Report Till Fall. WASHINGTON, June 19.—The chances of a verdict from the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee during the present session of Congress are remote. The committee held a meeting today behind closed doors, but it was announced an adjournment had been taken until

It was learned that there was no ex-pression of opinion as to the merits of the case. Several of the members had not read the briefs submitted by the attorneys and therefore were not prepared to begin the preparation of a report. Mr. Nelson said after the meeting to-day that he did not think it would be possible for the committee to conclude its labors before the adjournment of Congress.

The committee has authority to meet during the recess of Congress and it is possible that the report will be completed and given to the public during the Summer or Fall.

Protest on Kestor and Guild Likely to Be Sustained.

WASHINGTON, June 19.-It now eems probable that the objection of Representative Ellis to the appoint-ment of Kestor as Register and Guild ment of Kestor as Register and Guild as Receiver of the Vale Land Office will be sustained, at least as to one place, probably that of Kestor. Final action in the case by the President awalts the receipt of additional documentary testimony concerning the actual residence of Guild and Kestor, but it is understood that at least one of the new land officials must be an actual resident of the district.

It is also decided that United States Marshal Reid will not be displaced at the present through a new appointment, the present through a new appointm and probably he will be permitted to serve until the pending land-fraud cases are cleared up.

Wind and Rain Take City Without Warning -- Many Boats Capsize--Fire Follows Lightning

TRIO WOULD WIN. NATIONAL OPEN GOLF TOURNEY.

NEW YORK, June 19.—On the heels of the reception to Theodora Roosevelt Saturday came the deluge. Two hours after the parade that escorted him up Fifth avenue had disbanded, the whole Metro-avenue had disbanded, the whole Metropolitan district was swept by the most violent storm in months. In 20 minutes, 50 of an inch of rain fell, while the wind at times attained a velocity of 58 miles an hour.

Three deaths were reported carly last night, four other persons are believed to have been drowned in the capszing of a fishing smack off Long Island, while scores of others had narrow escapes.

Circus Panie Threatens. Baseball games were abandoned and for a while panic threatened under the tents of a circus showing in the upper part of the city.

The storm broke almost without warning, preceded by a gust of wind that uprooted trees and sent street signs flying. Then came the downpour, almost a cloud-burst in violence. In a moment streets were flooded and the crowd, still linger-ing down town, was soaked and bedrag-gled. For an hour and a half the storm continued, causing great damage. Racegoers at Sheepshead Bay were nearly thrown into a panic when they saw a boil of lightning demolish the saw a bolt of lightning demolish the jockeys' board and plow a furrow 100 feet long through the earth. Passengers on excursion boats were mong the worst sufferers. From all along the waterfronts came reports of scores of rowboats and sailing craft being capsized with probable loss of life. Small craft in the harbor and far out on the Long Island coast also suffered. Three Men Killed.

In Brooklyn Frank Ross was instantly killed by an uprooted tree.

Another tree in Flushing, L. I., was struck by lightning and Julius Jocka, who had sought refuge under its branches, was killed.

Lightning also was responsible for the death of Pietro Santa Maurito, an engineer of a Long Island brewery.
The boit toppled over the huge smokestack and the engineer was buried under tens of debris. Fire that followed caused a loss of $20,000. A synagogue on the East Side in which a dozen persons were worshipping was struck and the huge bell and star surmounting the dome were dis-mantled. No one was injured.

BOURNE MEN UNAVAILABLE BEACH GETS FINE HOTEL

ON GEARHART PARK IS LO-CATED GREAT HOSTELRY.

Formal Opening Held With Invited Friends of Management as Guests. Picturesque Is Location.

GEARHART, Or., June 19.—(Special.)
—"Hotel Gearhart by the Sea" was informally opened Saturday, a few friends of the management being invited to participate in the initiatory event that places a real, first-class Pacific Coast resort before the country.

Gearhart Park is a spot nature seems to have selected to display her handl-work in shaping a beautiful landscape behind a broad sweep of the ocean, which man now proposes to convert to his use and enjoyment. Although dis-covered and appropriated many years ago, it lay as a sequestered heritage until a group of men recently viewed it and concluded that the public should share the treasure.

A syndicate, headed by O. W. Taylor.

A syndicate, headed by O. W. Taylor, president of the Ruth Trust Company, was formed and the 700 acres of natural park were taken over last March. The first need was a large hotel with equipment and service to meet the sharp competition along the coast. What might have been the dream of an architect is now a subst atlal struct-ure, separated from the curf by a ter-raced lawn. Broad verandas almost surround the building, which contains 100 rooms, all steam-heated and lighted e'ectricity. Salt water and fresh for the best-kept yard water baths are provided for the hotel, and a large plunge, 20 by 75 feet, will be filled with heated salt water and ready for the first swim July 1. The parch dining-room, with a reating capacity of 250, more nearly resembles a conservatory, from which passing ships and the broad beach may be seen. Having in mind the pleasure of eating, as well as seeing, the synficate purchased an adjacent farm, and a select herd of Jersey cows which will supply the patrons with cream and butter. The hotel also has its own poultry yards and garden, and Bernard Sargousse, for 18 years chef at the Arlington Club, as full charge of the eatables. The hotel is under the direct management of L. E. Martinez, who was formerly steward at the Commercial Club.

As if nature had intended to leave As if nature had intended to leave out nothing, a broad, fresh-water stream, between even banks fringed with swaying grass, slowly makes its way to the ocean through the middle of the tract. Between the river and railroad tracks are 200 acres of virgin forest, ferns and twining vines. The syndicate has reserved this for a park and will preserve all its natural beauand will preserve all its natural beau-ties, cutting only where it is neces-sary to make room for paths and rusbenches.

Those who perfer more seclusion than the hotel affords are permitted than the hotel affords are permitted to share the unappropriated part of the beach, and more than a score of freshly-painted cottages already surmount the sand dunes or are half hidden among the trees.

The Hill interests, which have been active in building up Oregon, and particularly H. M. Adams, whose hobby is Oregon beaches, were largely instrumental in bringing Gearhart, as well as other seaside resorts, to the front. To further help matters special rates have been made from all parts of Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho till October 1.

HOOSIER PAYS PENALTY

Elmer E. McCray "Served Right" for Knowing Portland Shriners. Given Two Hours of Icebox Weather at Temple.

Does it pay to be a married man? If so, why should a man, newly wed, be arrested, handcuffed, lassoed and dragged away from his bride of a few days the moment he sets foot in strange territory?

Ask Elmer E. McCray. If there be anyone in Portland better qualified to ask—and answer, mayhap—the above questions, Mr. McCray would like to meet him face to face.

Confronted by the business end of a big revolver as he stepped from the Portland Hotel 'bus Saturday night, Mr. McCray, millionaire factory owner from Kendalville, Ind., and recent acquisition to the ranks of the benedicts, had his blissful honeymoon cut short for a few Does it pay to be a married man? 'Hold up your hands-you're under arrest," was the stern greeting Mr. McCray received from Special Deputy Sheriff W. W. Metzger last night as he left the big 'bus.

"Freezing refrigerators, what for!"

shouted McCray.

Further expostulations were cut off, however, for William H. Galvani deftly hurled a lasso around the neck of the novitiate and drew it to such tightness that any attempt at conversation or parley on the part of McCray would have been foolish, to say the least.

Ten sturdy henchmen of Potentate Galvani assisted in the work of dragging the victim from the Portland Hotel to the Masonic Temple, while the terrified bride was taken care of by Mr. and Mrs. Robinson at the hotel. nson at the hotel.

At the Masonic Temple two solid hours were expended by the motley rabble there congregated in initiating Mc-Cray into the 33d degree of exemplified bridegrooms, or "It Serves You Right for Becoming a Bridegroom in June." When the initiation was concluded, Mc-Cray only had breath left to murmur feebly two words. feebly two words.

And this is how it all came about. Elmer McCray is a wealthy man, and at his home in Kendallville, he has a large refrigerator company. He became acquainted with a number of the Portland Shriners when they attended the convention held in the East a short time ago, and, when he found that he must order 2,000,000 feet of Oregon spruce for his factories, he decided that he would combine business with pleasure and take a trip into the West.

To hark back a little, however, it must be told that Mr. McCray was married on June 1 of this year, and—according to local Masons—the timber story is just a bluff. As a matter of fact, it is said, Mr. McCray made the trip as a honeymoon junket, and nothing more.
