Western Senators Accept $20,000,000 for Irrigation.

ARMY TO BE ELIMINATED

Leaving Out Provision for Expenditures in Proportion to Contributions by States Hardship to Oregon

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash-

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, June 22.—After consultation among the Western Senators, the Senate this afternoon passed the House bill making available $20,000,000 to complete Government irrigation projects.

No effort was made to increase the amount authorized from $20,000,000, for this afternoon President Taft telephoned to Senator Borah advising against this course. The President expressed the view that IT $10,000,000 were added by the Senato it would be resisted by the House, a deadlock may result, and the whole bill thus might be defeated. He explained that the reclamation service cannot possibly use $20,000,000 or half of it, during the present season, and that the during the present season, and that the House bill would provide all the money necessary for immediate needs. If it should be found, as the work progresses, that the additional $10,000,000 is needed, he said, another bill could be introduced and pressed next session, in which event he would co-operate in getting it through.

Army Engineers Eliminated.

Senator Borah, following this conver-cation, talked with the Western Senators sation, talked with the Western Senators and all agreed to act upon the President's suggestion. The bill was then called and passed exactly as it passed the House, save that the clause providing that no part of the $20,000,000 should be expended on any project until that project was examined and approved by a board of five Army engineers was eliminated. This change was made by the a board of five Army engineers was eith-inated. This change was made by the finance committee in reporting the bill and if the House refuses to concur in this change, Senator Borah and several other Western Senators will make a de-termined fight to force acquiescence. Borah declares that this amendment is objectionable, no only because it will add expense to projects which are to be exexpense to projects which are to be ex-amined, but because it will occasion de-lays and may in some cases cause the indefinite postponement of work on proj-ects where the Army engineers disagree with the ideas of the reclamation en-gineers under whom the works are being constructed. It is believed that if this question is put up to the House the Sen-ate amendment will be accepted. Senator Borah and Senator Smoot have been in conference with the President to night over this feature of the bill.

Amendment Hurts Oregon.

That feature of the bill repealing sec tion 9 of the reciamation act has been agreed to by both the Senate and House, which means that hereafter the Secretary of the Interior may spend the recla-matton fund where he deems proper and Is no longer required to expend in each state at least 51 per cent of the money it contributes to the fund. This is unfortunate for Oregon for it probably means that no new projects will be undertaken in that state in the near future. Up to this time it had been the purpose in compliance with the existing law, either to adopt some new project or to extend the Unatilly project in content. extend the Umatilia project, in order that Oregon might get the benefit of the 51 per cent of money contributed in the past eight years. This is no longer re-quired by the law.

Cregon is behind its apportionment, especially since upper unit Klamath project has been abandoned and probably Neither of the Oregon Senators SCHOLARS ARE INVITED made any resistance whatever to this feature of the House bill.

Yangtsi Valley and Other Districts Reported on Verge of Serious Uprisings.

LETTER CARRIES THREAT

High Military Official's Name on Document Warning Against Support of Ruling Dynasty, but Forgery Is Suspected.

VICTORIA. B. C., June 22.—News of unrest in several districts of China was brought today by the Tamba Maru. Many ominous symptems of impending troubles are reported from the Yangtse Valley, and it was feared an uprising would occur in connection with the opening of the Nanking exhibition on June 5, with the result that troops were sent and several warships assembled for protection.

The exhibition was opened without trouble and was a great success. Exhibits from America, England, Germany and Japan were many and attracted great interest, especially the American machinery and agricultural implements exhibits.

Ministers Receive Letter.

Foreign ministers in Peking have received a letter from a high Chinese military official of the Yangtse Valley, dated from Shanghai, stating that a great rebellion against the Manchurlan dynasty is on the verge of beginning, and the writer warns foreigners that those who show any practical sympathy with the ruling dynasty will be treated as enemies and their lives and property will be destroyed, while those who maintain a neutral attitude will be protected.

will be protected.

Peking authorities denounced the Peking authorities denounced the letter as a forgery. The Japan Mail of Tokio, one of the best informed newspapers on Far Eastern affairs, says that, even though the document in question be forged, it cannot be denied that much anxiety is felt in well informed circles. The fallure of this year's harvest over a large section of China's 18 provinces seems now unavoidable and in such a calamity the anti-dynastic rebels and insurgents are likely to find the opportunity for which they have been waiting.

Situation Is Serious.

"We are reluctant to write in an alarmist strain," says the Mail, but it would be foolish to ignore the facts of the situation.

His eyes red with weeping, and sobbing in childlike sympathy, 12-year-old Willie Smoke gave evidence yesterday which may convict his parent. On Wednesday or Thursday before the explosion, Willie said he visited his father's cabin in a grove of trees near where he was living with Mr. and Mrs. Dooley. It was his habit, he said, to build the fires for his father in the evening. On this occasion he noticed a cardboard box under the bed and, being curious, pulled it out and looked at it.

NORTH YAKIMA, June 22.—(Special.)

He divides the varieties as follows: Peaches, 1200 cars: pears, 125 cars: prunes and plums, 125 cars: apples 2525 cars. Roughly estimating 1000 boxes of peaches or prunes to the car and 600 boxes of pears or apples, brings the total number of boxes to 2,929,000 for the valley.

At a recent meeting of ranchers of this section the following wage scale for the season was adopted: Two cents per box will be paid for packing peaches, 5 cents for apples and pears, and 6 cents for prunes. Labor employed in thinning and packing will be paid on a sliding scale, the minimum to be 51 per day and the maximum $2.25.
