reign of disorder HOLDS IDAHO TOWN

Vigilantes Threaten Lynching Unless Lawless Element Is Conquered.

INCENDIARY FIRES ARE SET

Pythlan Hall Is Burned in Revenge for Blackballing of Member of Gang; Jail Is Destroyed and Deputy's Life Threatened.

BOISE, Idaho, June 21-(Special.)-Incendlarism, "black-hand" letters, rowdyism and open threats of violence by a gang of "bad men" may result in lynch ing in the little mining town of Atlanta, 50 miles north of this city, unless law and order are restored this week, for th more peaceful citizens have expressed a determination to protect their homes and families and declare they will take drastic action to re-establish law and order. Isolated from the more populous centers, Atlanta is one of the most striving mining towns in the southern part

Mining men arriving from the camp Mining men arriving from the camp reported today that conditions are serious. Three fires of incendiary origin have been started within the past two weeks. The jail was first burned, after which an attempt was made to burn down the home of the Deputy Sheriff. A few days ago the Knights of Pythias

A few days ago the Knights of Pythias hall was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $3500 on the lodge.

Because W. R. Butler, formerly of Boise, but later Deputy Sheriff of Elmore County, and sent to Atlanta to restore order, refused to do the bidding of the "nightriders," his life has been threatened openly. He received many "black-hand" letters, one of which was to the effect that he had been first "black-hand" letters, one of which was to the effect that he had been first warned to leave the community when the jall was burned; that the second warning came when his own house was set on fire and that the third and last warning might prove his last. Butler refused to be called from his post of duty and declared that he would rid the camp of the gang if it cost him his life. When his home was set on fire only his timely awakening saved his family and him-self. He then moved his wife and children back to the mines and returned to the camp, where he arrested one of the members of the "night-riders," Charles Porter, had him bound over to the Dis-trict Court under bonds of 1900 and re-moved him to Mountain Home. This action infuriated other lawless members. Some time later are applied.

members. Some time later an applica-tion of one of the "night-riders" for membership to the Knights of Pythias Lodge was rejected and his friends sat-urated the hall of the Knights with oil, burning it to the ground. Later they attempted to burn up the entire camp by scattering oil over the houses and setting them on fire.

It is considered more than likely that some of the alleged breakers of the local option law will feel the result of the session, as five of the seven men in on the jury are temperance advocates. The first case being considered by the grand jury is thought to be that of Mrs. Maggie Deal-Jones, who was held under $1500 bonds recently in Justice Court on the charge of being implicated in the burning of the Shook house two months ago. Just what evidence is in the hands of the officers is not given out, but District Attorney Kuykendall has had a detective working on the case ever since Mrs. Deâl was errested.

ATHENA, Or., June 22 .- (Special.)setting them on fire.

The law and order element set out to arrest one of the ringleaders and lynch him, as a warning to others. The only thing that prevented them from doing so was the fact they could not definitely decide which one was guilty.

Women are openly insulted upon the streets and the situation is, so serious that special officers have been sent to the camp and every effort will be made to suppress lawlessness.

GRAND JURY IN SESSION

The farmers in the vicinity of Athena, and especially those living along the Northern Pacific Railway, are finding it necessary to wage a special war on the "Jim Hill" mustard and other weeds.
