BRIEF VISIT MADE BY CHIEF WILKIE

After Accompanying Prince to Sound, Head of Secret Service Comes to Portland.

BAD COIN MEN ARE FEW

Federal Official Declares Counterfeiting Is at Minimum, Due to Co-operation of Banks and Government Detectives.

Slipping quietly through the gates of the Grand Central Station, John E. Wilkie, Chief of the Secret Service of the United States, yesterday visited Portland. He stole away again last night with no more noise than was occasioned by his entry.

The man whose career has been the subject of many magazine stories of recent years, and who is supposed to be the original Yorke Norray, former agent for the Department of State who prevented a war between Japan and the United States, has just completed a tour of the United States as the escort of Prince Hiroysu Fushima, cousin of the Mikado of Japan, whom he placed aboard the steamer Wisconsin at Seattle without a single serious mishap having marred the trip...

Plans of Prince Changed. "There is no significance to my visit to Portland," said Chief Wilkie, as he leaned against the safe in the office of Steve Connell in charge of secret service affairs in the Pacific Northwest. "Prince Fushima originally intended to sail from San Francisco, but the breaking out of some infectious disease aboard the boat sent her to quarantine. After learning those facts, we changed our plans so as to catch the steamer sailing from the Sound to Japan, and had a leeway of only 13 hours to catch the train."

It was placed just behind the baggage car in making up the train, while I was assigned to a compartment in the observation car that was at the rear of the train. In looking after the comfort of the guests of the Nation, we were traveling the sides of the intervening cars most of the time. The Prince has made a tour of the world, and has been absent from his country more than ten months. "The trip from Chicago was marked by the occurrence of enough natural incidents almost to cause the Prince to believe that a conspiracy of some kind was brewing against him, especially as we had only a short time to make connections. The dynamo that furnished electric lights blew out, causing a half-hour stop for repairs. Then one of the cars developed a hot box, and we were laid up again. At the crossing of the Wisconsin River the bridge was found on fire, and all hands were called upon to organize a fire brigade. The Prince joined in this incident, and was at no time uneasy.

Many Good Coins Returned. "I was enabled to look after the Japanese party for the reason that I wanted to come to the Coast and because there is nothing doing in the counterfeiting line at present. If I were a doctor looking for patients, I should say that business was mighty poor. We are keeping the makers of bad money where they can do little harm. At this time, I should say that there is less counterfeit money in the country than for many years. Many of the coins sent to us by banks and mercantile concerns as bogus are really good. They have been cracked, and in that way lose their metallic ring. I presume that we receive an average of three such coins a day, and return them to our correspondents."

"The circulation of counterfeit money has been largely reduced through the co-operation of National banks and the clearing houses. In most of the cities we have an arrangement with them whereby any bogus bill or coin shall be mutilated or stamped as counterfeit, and then returned to the depositor."

"The law that makes any employe of the National bank responsible for returning a counterfeit bill or coin to a customer unless it has been marked as a counterfeit. The officer returning such money without marking it becomes a conspirator to pass counterfeit money, and is equally guilty with the bank patron who later unloads the bill or coin on another. We have a case now pending in Denver against the teller of a National bank who returned an unmarked bill to a customer who later got rid of it. Both men are under arrest."

Chief Wilkie left for California last night, and will be back at his Washington post within one week.

Don't Be Bald Almost Any One May Secure a Splendid Growth of Hair.

You can easily find out for yourself if your hair needs nourishment. If it is thinning, getting dry, harsh and brittle, or splitting at the ends, you simply have to pull a hair from the top of your head and closely examine its root. If the bulb is plump and rosy it is all right; if it is white and shrunken your hair is diseased and needs nourishment.

We have a remedy for hair troubles that cannot be surpassed. It has a record of growing hair and curing baldness in 93 out of 100 cases where used according to directions for a reasonable length of time. It will even grow hair on bald heads if the scalp is not glazed and shiny. That may seem like a strong statement—it is, and we mean it to be, and no one should doubt it until they have put our claims to an actual test.

We are so sure that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will completely eradicate dandruff, prevent baldness, stimulate the scalp and hair roots, stop falling hair and grow new hair, that we personally give our positive guarantee to refund every penny paid us for Rexall "93" Hair Tonic in every instance where it does not do as stated. It fails to give entire satisfaction to the user.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is as pleasant to use as clear spring water. It is perfumed with a pleasant odor, and does not grease or gum the hair. We have it in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. We urge you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our recommendation and with our guarantee back of it. You certainly take no risk. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Portland only at our store.—The Rexall Store, The Drug Co., Cor. 7th and Washington Sts.

By-o, Baby Bunting! Papa's gone a-hunting To buy some MILKFLAKE BABY FOOD To make his baby fat and good.

Few people realize that a cross baby is almost invariably an ill-fed baby. The problem of finding a food that will agree has in the past been one of dread, for every unsuccessful experiment leaves the baby in a worse condition—a little closer to death. It is no longer an experiment to rely on

MILKFLAKE

BABY FOOD, which not only makes cross babies happy, healthy and a joy to everyone, but actually after the loud cry of discomfort has changed to the feeble wail of mortal suffering. Here is the story of a baby that cried and cried:

RAINIER HOME, A Temporary Home for Mothers and Children, SEATTLE, Wash., May 14, 1910. DENNY-OLMSTEAD MFG. CO. Seattle, Wash. Gentlemen—I thought you would be pleased to know what a blessing MILKFLAKE BABY FOOD has been to our home, and I take pleasure in recommending it to the public. Last Winter a baby three months old was sent to the home and cried day and night for three weeks, and we were obliged to procure the very best milk and special nurse to care for him. Every kind of Baby Food disagreed with him until at last we tried MILKFLAKE, which was recommended to us by a friend. It was the first day's use of it that the child stopped crying, and it has never been troubled since. We highly recommend its use to all. Yours truly, (Signed) Mrs. N. Anderson, Mother. Mrs. O. C.
