FRAUDPLOT, CHARGE

Ohio Lawyer Assails Oregon Men in Irrigation Project.

COURT'S RIGHTS DISPUTED

Easterners' Attorney Bitter in Fight to Prevent Dismissal of Deschutes Litigation-Company Held Insolvent.

Charging a conspiracy on the part of Oregon interests concerned in financing the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Company and openly branding them as "thieves," Attorney L. G. Addison, of Columbus, Ohio, fairly charged down the aisles of the United States courtroom yesterday afternoon, while opposing the motion of Attorney Jesse Steams for a dismissal of the litigation because of a linck of jurisdiction.

The Ohio lawyer was of the opinion that his elients had appeared as the innocent lambs to be shorn in the Crook County Irrigation scheme, and that they had successfully filled their parts in the had successfully financial drama

Receivership Is Attacked.

Attorney Steams asked that the official perquisites of Receiver Redfield be immediately discontinued, on the ground that the United States Court had usurped jurisdiction in his appointment.

Mr. Steams believed that there was no diversity of residence on the part of owners of the bond issue which furnished the money with which the reclamation ditches were constructed. He contended that R. J. Bulkley and Roscoe Howard, of Oregon, were equally interested with the Ohio bondholders, and the fact that the Easterners were represented in the state by the trustee of the mortgage, the Merchants Savings & Trust Company, made the case one which the Federal Court should not take notice of.

Attorney Addison consumed most of the afternoon in telling of the manner in which the Easterners had been defrauded conspiracy to issue bonds for secondary loans and afterward passed cancelled bonds to the credit of the bond redemp-

Judge Bean took the argument under Judge Bean took the argument hader advisement last night, and the decision is not expected for several days. Should the court continue to assume jurisdiction of the controversy, the next step in the litigation will be an effort to foreclose the mortgage, the Easterners asserting that the officers of the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Company have made no effort to comply with the agreement under which they invested in the bonds, and that the company is in-solvent because of an indebtedness of $800,000.

MAIL SACK USED AS TRUNK

Experimenter Is Promptly Haled Before Postal Inspectors.

Attempting to use a United States mail sack for a trunk yesterday caused H. O. Stabler, an officer of the Forest Service stationed at Spirit Lake, Wash., to pay a hurried visit to the headquar-ters of Postoffice Inspector Riches and ters of Postoffice Inspector Riches and the District Attorney for Oregon.

Stabler explained that he was sending a pair of blankets to Miss Mary Hellman, who is with a camping party near Castle Rock, Wash, and finding no handler receptacle at the Forest Service headquarters than the mail sack, had placed the articles therein and checked it as baggage.

At the Grand Central Station the railway postal clerks discovered the use being made of the sack and reported the case to headquarters. Stabler received a severe reprimand and was allowed to carry the blankets away.

26-YEAR-OLD SUIT OFF

SLOW MOVEMENT HELD BAR TO FURTHER ACTION.

> Court Rules That Litigation Over Dam Hanging Fire Through Generation Shall Cease.

A suit that had slumbered amid the archives of the United States Court for 26 years, during which time the plaintiffs and defendants had passed the trouble to successors, came to an end yesterday, Judge Wolverton ruling that failure on the part of the plaintiffs to press the wift to the plaintiffs to press the wift to the part. tiffs to press the suit to trial was a bar to further action. The court dis-missed the ancient relic.

missed the ancient relic.

The case began when Wanna Stuart, of Marion County, attempted to secure an injunction against Josephine Holiand preventing the construction and maintenance of a dam on Little Pudding Creek, where the defendants operated a gristmill in 1884. It was alleged that the eight-foot dam, creeted for power purposes, caused water to back up and flood swamp lands owned by Wanna Stuart.

Nothing was done with the case un-

Wanna Stuart.

Nothing was done with the case until 1907, when the litigants were John F. and William P. Miller, who had purchased the Stuart Interests, and Valler Wattler, successor to the dam and water-power interests of Josephine Holland.

Advocates of the formation of Nes-mith County, to be segregated from the areas of Lane and Douglas coun-ties, yesterday ran afoul of the United States Postal regulations. Lew O. Cates, chairman of the committee ad-Cates, chairman of the committee advocating the new Oregon unit, has been arranging with publishers of weekly newspapers in each county of the state to supply supplements to be devoted to arguments in favor of the measure. O'NEILL'S FRIENDS FOILED

Town Before Celebration.

Hugh J. O'Neill, traveling freight and passenger agent for the O. R. & N., was quietly married at the Helntz Apartments yesterday morning to Miss Edna Collins, who has been teaching in the Highland school. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. O'Nelll left on a honeymoon trip into Northern Idaho. The wedding was a surprise to Mr. O'Neill's many friends. Before rallroad row had heard the news, the newly married couple were on their way out of the city, and the "boys," who otherwise would have prompted a lively celebration, found they had When Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill return from the wedding trip they will make their home at the Heintz Apartments, Fourteenth and Columbia streets Mrs. O'Neill is daughter of an Oklahoma

JUDGE KAVANAUGH IS ILL

New Jurist Has Typhoid Symptoms, but It May Be Only Breakdown.

J. P. Kavanaugh, recently appointed by Governor Benson to fill Judge Bronaugh's unexpired term as judge in Department No. 1 of the Circuit Court, is ill at his home, $13 Irving street. He was reported a little better yesterday, after having been confined to his bed for two days, but his physician, Dr. James Bell, fears he has typhold fever. He says Judge Kavanaugh shows all the symptoms, although it is possibly merely a nervous breakdown, due to overwork. In the latter event he thinks a short rest will enable the jurist to resume his duties.

A test is to be made this morning to determine whether the illness is due to typhold fever.
