

ASSEMBLY PLANS IDEA OF NEW YORK

Governor Hughes, Busy With Own Work, Cannot Come Now to Oregon.

COBB BILL IS PLEASING

Plan Indorsed by Roosevelt Enacts Provisions Favored by Oregon Republicans—Only Two Counties Still in Doubt.

A cordial letter from Governor Hughes, of New York, in response to the invitation to speak at the Republican State Assembly in Portland July 21, has been received by Judge M. C. George, chairman of the State Central Committee. Governor Hughes replied, according to a telephone message received at the committee's headquarters from Judge George yesterday, that he appreciated very highly the invitation extended, but would be unable to attend because of the pressure of legislative business along the same line as that contemplated in the Oregon movement. Judge George is at The Dalles, where he will remain for a few days.

The New York state legislative body now has before it the Cobb direct nominations bill indorsed Wednesday by Theodore Roosevelt in a telegram to Lloyd C. Griscom, chairman of the Republican County Committee of New York County. Assembly formally provided.

Assembly advocates in Portland are greatly pleased over the Roosevelt endorsement of the Cobb bill, for it is the understanding among them that the bill, with the amendments proposed by Chairman Griscom, seeks to provide by legal enactment for the holding of advisory assemblies similar to those to be held in Oregon this summer, to be followed by a direct party vote.

While disappointment is expressed at headquarters over Governor Hughes' inability to attend, the cordiality expressed in the communication has pleased the committee officers. Assurances have been received by the committee from all but two counties in the state that the assembly plan, at least insofar as it applies to the selection of delegates to the state gathering, has been or will be carried out in such counties.

Cook County committee members in report, but word has been received that a county assembly will be held next Saturday and delegates elected to the state meeting.

Only Two Counties Uncertain.

The two counties now in the uncertain list are Curry and Jackson. Concerning the former county, it is said that the committee live so far from a convenient assembling place that it has been difficult to get the voters to consider the question. In Jackson County, it is indicated by reports received, the leading Republicans approve of the assembly plan, but the interest is being shown in politics. It is believed, however, that both counties will yet join the others of the state.

In the majority of the precincts of Multnomah County arrangements have been made for rooms or halls in which the mass meetings to elect delegates to the Multnomah County assembly may be held, and it is expected that the list will be fully completed at the meeting of the county central committee in the Commercial Club assembly room.

In the printed call for the county convention the list of mass meeting places in the Fifth and Jackson. Concerning the latter, it is indicated that paragraph 2, 3 and 4 would convene at "The New-castle," and paragraph 5 at "The Spring streets." The meeting places have not been definitely selected for any of the four precincts named, but will be determined upon tonight.

HARVARD HONORS MILLS

Portland Man Elected to Board of Overseers—Roosevelt on To.

A. L. Mills, president of the First National Bank and Oregon Life Insurance Company, has been elected a member of the board of overseers of Harvard University, according to a telegraphic dispatch received by him yesterday. The term of office is six years.

The honor is the greatest in the power of the university alumni to confer. It is reserved for graduates. Six candidates were elected the others being ex-President Roosevelt, Charles W. Elliot, ex-president of Harvard; F. Lee Higginbotham, a Boston financier; Dr. George A. Gordon, pastor of Old South Church, Boston, and Governor A. E. Wilson, of Kentucky. Secretary of the Navy von L. Meyer was noted out by Dr. Gordon. Mr. Mills is a graduate of '81.

BIRTHPLACE NOT KNOWN

Carpenter, 57 Years Old, Born "on Plains," En Route for Oregon.

Chief of Police Cox and George H. Marsh, Clerk of the Federal Court, were among the voters who registered with Deputy County Clerk Allen at the Courthouse yesterday. Both are Republicans. Chief Cox gave his age as 58, and Clerk Marsh 43. Mr. Marsh is a native of Ohio.

F. M. Olds couldn't give the name of the state in which he was born. The registration card reads: "Born on the way from Michigan to the plains." Olds is a carpenter, 57 years old, and lives at 342 East Second street. The total registration is now 8444. Three hundred and forty-nine registered yesterday. On the same day in 1908 registrations numbered 287.

NEW WAGONS CARRY MAIL

Contractor at $12,484 a Year Furnishes Bright Equipment.

Brand new screen postoffice wagons will go into service this morning all over the city and in place of the shabby ones which have caused much comment, larger wagons decorated in the postoffice colors of blue, red, white and gold will take their place upon the streets. The occasion is the letting of a new contract for postal mail service. As evidencing the tremendous increase in the postal business, while the last contract was let for $600 per annum for four years, the contract which goes into effect this morning calls for an annual payment of $12,484.

John Lundgren, 101 North Sixth street, has obtained the contract. He has to supply seven wagons, seven sets of harness, seven horses and seven drivers. Each of the drivers must take the post-office oath. The wagons were inspected yesterday by Acting Postmaster Williamson and duly approved.

F. H. Shulderman was the last contractor. He is said to have lost heavily on the enterprise, owing to the rapid and, in some quarters, unexpected, growth of the postal business of the city. Although his original contract called for only $100, when Station E was opened he obtained the mail messenger contract for that station and was able to give the service required without additional wagons. In the last year the payment made to him averaged $10,000. Despite this heavy increase, he has lost on his new contract. Shulderman bid on the new contract, but missed by a few dollars.

Lundgren made his first trips shortly after midnight. His wagons are improved somewhat over the previous type, being large. The biggest vehicles have side doors, enabling more rapid unloading at depot and Postoffice.

Lundgren has to file a bond of $15,000 that he will keep the provisions of the

HUNDREDS ATTEND FUNERAL OF WOMAN PROMINENT IN ROSEBURG.

ROSEBURG, Or., June 30.—(Special.)—The funeral of the late Mrs. Emily Autenrieth was held from the family home on South Jackson street yesterday. Hundreds who came to pay their last respects were unable to gain admission. The funeral cortege was one of the largest ever seen in this city.

Mrs. Emily Autenrieth.

ROSEBURG, Or., June 30.—(Special.)—The funeral of the late Mrs. Emily Autenrieth was held from the family home on South Jackson street yesterday. Hundreds who came to pay their last respects were unable to gain admission. The funeral cortege was one of the largest ever seen in this city.

Rev. Charles Baker, rector of the Episcopal Church, officiated. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Roseburg Commercial Club attended in a body. Interment followed services at the Oddfellows' cemetery.

Mrs. Autenrieth was well known in Portland, and also in California.

MOSIER JOB IS PROVED

YOUTHFUL YEGGEMEN IMPLICATED IN FURTHER CRIMES.

Pictures in Oregonian Lead to Evidence on Robbery of Grocery Store—Prisoners Confess.

That Harry Reed and William Reis, youthful yeggmen who confessed the robbery of the postoffice at White Salmon, were also the perpetrators of an attack on a grocery store at Mosier which was followed by a pistol battle on the river, was conclusively established by the receipt at detective headquarters yesterday of a letter from Nichol & Co., grocers at Mosier.

The letter states that many persons in Mosier recognized Reis and Reed from their pictures in the Oregonian and that they were in the neighborhood of the streets late on the night of the burglary. Later the same night burglars blew open the cash-box of the store in Nichol & Co.'s store and scattered checks about the floor, but got no loot except six Ingersoll watches, the letter says. In the kit shipped to this city from White Salmon were found the six watches. The safe at Mosier was blown open with nitro-glycerine and its crevices were stopped with soap, of which there was a quantity in the burglar kit captured here.

Reed and Reis confessed to Detectives Coleman and Snow that they did the job at Mosier and also the one at the office of the Albina Fuel Company in this city, but when taken before Postal Inspector Riches they withdrew part of their confession and admitted only the robbery of the postoffice at White Salmon.

Reed's name is said to be fictitious. He has a father on a ranch back of White Salmon and has been going about the country for several years with yeggmen, learning the tricks of the trade. The detectives have learned the name of the man who shipped the kit of tools from White Salmon to the yeggmen here, but the man is said to have been innocent of wrongful intent. George Waters, the old man of the gang, who is sick in one of the hospitals, has been identified as "Cherry" Daley, an old-time powder man who has served time in Joliet penitentiary and other prisons. He is said to be behind the times and not acquainted with the use of nitro-glycerine, but was an able instructor of the boys in many details of criminal work.

WOMAN, 66, HAS MEASLES

Complaint Is Very Unusual Among Persons of Advanced Years.

Mrs. S. J. Henderson, 66 years old, living at Twentieth and Everett streets, has the measles.

How and when she was exposed to the contagion she does not know, but she has as perfectly developed a case of measles as ever broke up a village school. Mrs. Henderson lives with her housekeeper, and there are no children about the house; neither has there been an epidemic of measles in the immediate neighborhood.

Last week Mrs. Henderson became ill and called Dr. Jessie M. McGraw. The measles were present when the doctor arrived, but Mrs. Henderson has not suffered a great deal and is now rapidly recovering.

Dr. C. H. Wheeler, city health officer, in speaking of the case, said: "This is a great climate. Now it produces a case of measles in a woman 66 years old. It is very rarely that a person of advanced years catches the measles, although there is no age limit or exemption. I never heard of anyone of that age having the measles. I believe Mrs. Henderson holds the record."

A popular estimate of negroes in the United States is 10,000,000. That is far from correct. There are now fewer than 13,000,000 today in this country.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF NORMAL SCHOOL

Annexation Plan Filed With Secretary of State.

CANDIDATES SEND NAMES

Re-establishment of Normal School at Weston Asked—Arguments in Favor of Various Measures Also Are Submitted.

SALEM, Or., June 30.—(Special.)—More initiative petitions were received by the Secretary of State's office today. Included in them were petitions for the annexation of a portion of Washington County to Multnomah County, and the re-establishment of the Southern Oregon State Normal School at Weston.

Judge W. L. Bradshaw, Democrat, filed his declaration to become candidate for Circuit Judgeship in the Seventh Judicial District. Samuel W. Stark also filed his declaration to become a candidate for the same office on the Republican ticket. State Engineer John Henry Lewis filed his declaration of intention to become a candidate for reelection.

In addition to these, the office was besieged with arguments for various legislative propositions that have been received, including affirmative arguments on the questions of establishing an Eastern Oregon branch of the State Insane Asylum, the opening of the Eastern Oregon Normal School at Baker, the creation of Otis County from portions of Malheur, Grant and Harney counties, and the creation of Baker County from a part of Umatilla County. The Drewsey Commercial Club is actively championing the cause of Otis County, and the Commercial Club of Baker City, Union and Pendleton furnished the affirmative argument for the branch asylum.

People of Oregon are to be educated on hygienic matters as to ways of protecting themselves from communicable diseases, the instruction to come from the State Board of Health, which outlined a campaign for that purpose at its quarterly meeting held at Medford, last week. The board's attention is directed to the need of a health car on the demonstration trains sent out to teach farmers how to farm scientifically. There will also be lectures and exhibitions of models by experts to be employed by the board to attend the farmers' institutes.

Among the important topics to be dealt with in this campaign will be the extermination of house-flies, and how best to prevent tuberculosis and typhoid fever.

It is planned to have prepared small models of sanitary bungalows for use of people with weak lungs to demonstrate to them how they may guard against lung diseases. The board will also try several makes of paper cups, to be used only once like napkins, and then destroyed. These, it is planned, will be introduced into schools to guard against the spread of disease through drinking water.

It was the opinion of members of the board that the use of tin buckets and pans for transporting and carrying milk is believed, acting on the tin, may form lead poison, which will be transmitted to people eating the milk.

Ordinary cloth napkins were discredited by members of the board, who advocate the use of the paper article in public places, and at homes where napkins may become contaminated.

Dangers arising from slack methods in the slaughter of animals will also be taught to the public by the Board of Health. The attention of the board has been called to slaughter-houses where wells have been dug so close to places where waste meat and blood are deposited that the water must become impregnated with its filth. This water, it is said, is used by employes for washing the meat and their hands before the meat is handled. Such slaughter-houses will be forced to improve conditions at once.

Schools throughout the state will receive special attention from the State Board of Health. A systematic inspection of them for the purpose of having defects in sanitation removed is to be made.

Those who attended the meeting of the board at Medford were: Dr. W. B. Morse, of Salem; Dr. Andrew C. Smith, of Portland; Dr. C. J. Smith, of Pendleton; Dr. E. B. Pickel, of Medford; Dr. E. A. Pierce, of Portland; Dr. Calvin S. White, State Health Officer and secretary of the board; Portland, Dr. W. H. Lytle, of Pendleton, State Veterinarian.

GATTLE SALE ATTRACTS

ONE ANIMAL OF FAMOUS JERSEY HERD BRINGS $435.

Oregon Stockraisers Get Choice Heads at Auction—Total Receipts Are $2871.50.

Stockmen from many districts assembled at the Country Club grounds east of the city yesterday afternoon, in response to an announcement that the celebrated S. Ban herd of registered Jerseys was to be sold to the highest bidder at public auction. The spirited bidding on the choicest animals of the herd made it clear that Oregon stockmen are after the best and are willing to pay a good price for good stock. One cow brought $435.

Thirty fine cows, heifers and bulls were disposed of in three hours. Two head went to a Washington stockman, F. N. Quinn, who came from Washougal to attend the auction. Oregon cattle fanciers got the remainder of the herd. The total sum realized was $2871.50. The largest price paid for one animal was $435. The smallest price on a registered animal was $25. One fine heifer, the pedigree of which had been lost, was sold for $15.

The entire herd was registered in the American Jersey Cattle Club and there was at least one widely-known animal, Brown B. Grand Duchess. Interest centered largely in the sale of this animal. The first bid was $100, which the auctioneer declined to accept. Someone shouted a bid of $300 immediately and the price flew up in a short time to the $400 mark, then proceeded more gradually to $435 at which figure the cow was sold to Dr. Nettie Barbour, of Mayer, Or. The cow was sired by Marigold St. Heller 5257 and dammed by Brown Bessie's Vera, and was dropped July 28, 1897.

Other successful bidders were: F. N. Quinn, Brown Bessie's Alpha, $215, and Brown Bessie's Vera, $175; J. Allsina, Cleone, Or., Barzee of Sunny Bank, $150, and Brown Bessie's Alpha 24, $177; H. L. Welster, Clatskanie, Or., Jessie's Gem, $150, and Barzie of St. Lambert, $100; Thomas Spillman, Boring, Or., Lady Diploma's Lass, $130; Brown B. Alpha's Gem, $100; Princess Brown Daisy, $80, and Brown Bessie's Vera 2d, $105. A. C. Woodcock, Portland, Lady's Vera, $60, Brown Bessie's Vera 3d, $61, and Loreda's Pet, $65. F. E.
