Lodge Members and Friends to Escort Delegation to Union Depot.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO LEAVE

Portland Band of Antlered Herd Will Go to Convention Determined to Bring Meeting Here for 1912 Session.

This will be open night at the Elks' Club, when members and their friends will assemble to bid the departing broth ers, who leave tonight for Detroit, godspeed on their mission, which is hoped to secure for Portland the grand lodge re-union in 1912.

Some 150 members of the Portland and

Oregon lodges with their wives and families will leave on a handsomely appointed special train at 11:30 o'clock to-night, and before the time for departure of the train, the members unable to make the trip will tender the delegates a reception at the lodgerooms. After the re-ception the members will parade with the Detroit excursionists to the Union Depot, where the "war dance" exercises, participated in by the jovial antiered herd at the departure of the Los Angeles special last year, will be repeated.

Portland Delegation Determined. W. R. Apperson, exalted ruler of the Portland lodge, is one of the most en-thusiastic members scheduled to make the Detroit trip, and in speaking of Portland's plans relative to bringing the grand lodge reunion here in 1912, he said: "Portland Lodge No. 142 laid the found-ation of the campaign for the grand lodge reunion in 1912 in the most approved fashion at Los Angeles last year, and this year we are going to Detroit ready to clinch the matter as much as it can be done this year. We have made our bid for the grand ledge, and in Detroit we intend forcibly to impress upon the big Eastern delegations to assemble there that we want the grand ledge in 1912. "Of course the grand ledge will not vote upon its 1912 meeting place until next year's reunion, which will undoubtedly be held at Boston, but this year we expect to make it plainer than ever to the big reunion in 1912 in the most approved to make it plainer than ever to the big Eastern delegations that Portland is after the reunion that year, and this is the most successful manner in which to seek this honor at the hands of the order. On Portland's showing at Detroit this year depends the favor of the lodge, for appearances and enthusiasm create quite an impression on the members of the lodge. Traveling as far as we do, we can gain a great deal of credit for our enterprise by the number of members with which we are represented, and I must say that "142" will be ably represented at the Detroit reunion. I wish to extend a word of praise for the able man-ner in which the committee in charge of this excursion has conducted its cam-

E. W. Moore Is Disappointed.

Gus C. Moser, past exalted ruler of the Portland lodge, will carry the active vote of the Portland delegation, and is one of the most enthusiastic boosters the local chapter of the organization has. The committee, which has arranged the details of the excursion, is as follows: Mor-roe Goldstein, A. E. Sanderson, J. H. Deitz, Thomas I. Richards and E. W.

Mr. Moore, at the last minute, and much to his keen disappointment, found himself unable to make the trip to Detroit because of urgent business, but he emphatically announced that he would be at Boston to boost for Portland in HIBERNIANS OF EVERY STATE

Aiveolar Teeth—Where Bridgework is Impossible.

If only your front teeth are left, say three or four or more, we can replace all those that have been lost on both sides, clear back, with perfect Aiveolar teeth, whilst bridgework would be impossible even if you had eight or ten front teeth to tie to. If you have only the back teeth on each side, say morars, we can supply all the front teeth that are missing with beautiful, serviceable, life-like Aiveolar teeth. This could not possibly be done by the bridge route. And where bridgework is possible there is no comparison between the two. A very large percentage of our work is taking out bridgework put in by supposedly high-class dentists, and replacing it with the beautiful and artistic Aiveolar teeth. And, unlike bridgework in another respect, it is practically painless. No boring or cutting into the gums, nothing to be dreaded. Now, then, prices being equal, which would you choose?
