PORTLAND ELKS OFF FOR DETROIT

Grand Farewell Given No. 142 as Lodge, in "Special," Goes East.

1912 CONVENTION IS GOAL

Loaded Down With Engraved Posters Advancing City's Attractions, Local Elks Assured of Winning Meeting Two Years Hence.

The lodge rooms and club rooms of Portland Lodge No. 142, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, last night, were crowded to the doors with members, relatives and friends, who assembled to hid farewell and godspeed to the delegation leaving for the ses-sion of the grand lodge of the order at Detroit next week.

It was one of the most enthusiastic occasions ever occurring in the Portland temple, and all of the members, whether bound for Detroit or not, en-thused over the prospect of bringing the grand lodge reunion to Portland in 1912, which object is the slogan of the Portland delegates en route.

special train bearing the delegates from "142" left the Union Depot at 11:30 o'clock, the members of the order giving their famous "war" dance on the train platform before the "Port-and Special" pulled out.

"Portland in 1912" is the slogan being spread broadcast by the Portland delegation, for No. 142 is determined to bring the grand lodge of the order to Portland two years hence. This prize will not be awarded until the grand lodge meeting in 1911, which undoubtedly will be held at Roston, but this year's showing at Detroit will help considerably to place Portland's claims before the lodge in general, for the De-troit reunion will be one of the big-gest gatherings in the history of the organization, which now numbers over 1,000,000 members.

As Boston was recognized as the 1911 city in Los Angeles, so Portland will be the 1912 scene of the reunion at De-Splendidly engraved posters advancing Portland's attractions have been sent to Detroit for distribution, and compared with the display material sent out from the Detroit headquarters, the Portland cards are considerably superior in every respect. Besides the banners and display advertising the Portland Elks will dis-tribute 5000 watch fobs symbolical of ar Oregon scene and appropriate t Portland lodge, as well as a similar ber of emblems of the Portland Lodge in badge form will be distributed.

Badge Collecting Is Fad.

One of the features of an Elk's con vention is badge collecting, for delegates from the various lodges trade, beg, bor row, or buy badges of the other orders enthusiastically, and oftentimes a man is met on the street with his coat front completely covered with badges repre-senting the different lodges the head-quarters of which he has visited and Klamath Falls Objects to Giving Up Bank Swindler.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., July 6.—(Special.)—Deputy United States Marshall Griffith arrived this evening from Portland with a warrant from the Federal Court for Thaddeus E. The local authorities will refuse to give York up without a

It was due to the local bank paying the expenses of the Pinkertons that York was captured in Seattle recently and landed him in jail here. His lateness in leaving Tillamook, it was learned, may be accounted for by the thriftiness of his chauffeur. When the members of the party reached Tillamook their machines were placed in a garage and the journey to Bay Ocean was made by boat. During the two days spent there the thrifty chauffeur hired spent there the thrifty chauffeur hired the machine out, it is said, and when Mr. Hyland returned he was unable to start with the rest of the party Tuesday morn-ing. Triennial Convention Here July 25 to Discuss Merits of Denver and Rose City.

Beginning on July 25 the tri-ennial onvention of the Pacific jurisdiction of the Woodmen of the World will be held in Portland. Delegates numbering about 200 will assemble here for a two weeks' session from Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming and Colorado. The head office will be moved to Portland on July 15 and from that date until July 25 the various committees will meet and prepare their reports to the convention.

At this meeting, which will be the first held since 1907, there is but one matter of stirring interest in the way of legislation which is being discussed. This is a proposal to move the head office of the Pacific jurisdiction to Portland. For some time the members of the local order have been working secretly to attain this end and they have now lined up a strength which makes success seem probable.

At present the head office is located in Denver. When the Pacific jurisdiction was established Colorado had by far the greatest strength of any of the states and the members in the far Western states were in a decided minority. Now the membership is strong all over the nine states in the strong all over the fine states in the jurisdiction, and Oregon, Washington and California command the greatest membership in the order. Portland has been chosen on account of being centrally located.

This same movement was undertaken at the last regular meeting three years ago in Seattle. Then, W. C. Hawley, Congressman from Oregon and head manager of the Pacific jurisdiction, opefforts the plan was defeated by a margin of eight votes. Mr. Hawley opposed the change because, being a member of Congress, he could not be in Portland every month as required of the head manager under the laws of the order. In Denver he would be required to be present but once in three months. It is now said by members of the lodge that Mr. Hawley's opposition will be removed as he is withdrawing from the office which he holds with the order.

The change of location would mean much to Portland. In the first place It would entail the purchase of a down-town site and the erection of a great head office building such as is now maintained in Denver. It would mean the creation of an additional payroll of $150,000 a year and finally would be a great factor in increasing the postal business in Portland, as the 105,000 members in the jurisdiction require the sending out of an immense amount of mail each month.

W. C. North, who is representing the head office in Portland, yesterday engaged the entire second floor of the Hotel Oregon for the visiting delegates.

The mentions will all be head the The meetings will all be held at the Eleventh-street lodge building but the headquarters will be at the Hotel Oregon. It is estimated that in addition to the 200 and more delegates there will attend the convention about 1000 other lodge. other lodge members from outside points. Many of these will bring with them their wives and families.

George M. Hyland, a paving contractor or at least the man who gets the contracts, was the last straggler of the Portland Automobile Club run to Tillamook Bay to return. Mr. Hyland and his party arrived yesterday at 1 o'clock. "It wasn't my fault," he said. "We were so londed down with fish we caught that progress consequently was slow."

It was agreed this was a good "fish story."

MORE TAXES, HOPE

PLAN TRIED IN MINNESOTA

State Treasurer Asks Attorney-General if It Is Lawful to Collect Inheritance Fee From Non-Resident Decedents.

SALEM, Or., July 6 .- (Special.) -- State Treasurer George A. Steel has addressed an inquiry to Attorney-General A. M. Crawford asking for an opinion on subject of collecting inheritance taxes from non-resident decedents who owned stock in Oregon corporations.

The State Treasurer bases his hope that such collections might be made on a Minnesota case and if he finds that such is applicable to Oregon, he believes it will yield hundreds of thousands of dollars to the state from such estates as that of E. H. Harriman and other owners of large corporate interests.

Steel Sends Letter.

The letter to the Attorney-General from the State Treasurer follows:
"In response to an inquiry addressed to the State Treasurer of Minnesota, relative to the collection of an inheritance tax on shares of stock owned by a non-resident decedent, I have been aded by him that the state collected an vised by him that the state cohected an inheritance tax, amounting to $345,525, from the estate of John S. Kennedy, deceased, who, at the date of his death was a resident of the State of New York, on account of the ownership of 1000 shares of stock of the Great Northern Railroad Company, a Minnesota corpora-tion, the tax being collected under the rule that the domicile of the stock of any Minnesota corporation is in Minnesota, the same rule applying to such stock that would apply to real estate in the State of Minnesota, even though the decedent owner might not have been a resident of that state.

Minnesota Law Defined.

"Section 1 of the inheritance tax law of Minnesota (Laws of Minnesota, 1905, chapter 288), defining the property subject to inheritance tax, reads as follows:

"'Section 1. A tax shall be and is hereby imposed upon all inheritances, devises, bequests, legacies and gifts of every kind and description, of any and all persons and corporations, the value of which exceeds $10,000, and upon such

"Section 1 of the inheritance tax law of this state, also defining the property subject to inheritance tax, reads in part

All property within the jurisdiction of the state and any interest therein, whether belonging to the inhab-itants of this state or not, and whether tangible or intangible, which shall pass by will or by statutes of inheritance of this or any other state . . . shall be and is subject to a tax at the rate here-inafter specified in section 2 of this act."

State Is Benefited.

"The Minnesota officials charged with the administration of the inheritance tax law, relying either on some particular statute, or on the preponderance of judicial decisions, apparently have estab-lished to the great benefit of the state, the rule that shares of stock in a Minne-sota corporation are taxable in that state. whether owned by a resident of the state or by a non-resident

Please advise me if, in your opinion in cases where this department obtains knowledge of the ownership of stocks or bonds of Oregon corporations by the es-tates of non-residents, there is sufficlent authority of law or of judicial deheritance tax on the value of such stocks
